ANTI-DRYS FIGHT HOOVER PLANK WOULD NOT RUN, SAYS DAWES

Today

The Sidewalks of Chicago. A Cup of Coffee, Please. Ladies That Mean It. Revealing Fingernails.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, June 15.

FROM OTHER columns in this newspaper you will gather information concerning the Republican convention which started yesterday very gently. A national convention dull, with everything known in advance like this one, or full of strange possibilities as the Democratic convention may be, interests all of us. It shows the machinery of "self government."

These conventions represent political organizations and political ambitions. The people of the United States are as far from the proceedings as the people of Thibet.

DEPRESSION, unemployment, worry that drives to suicide, are the day's problems. You see the solution for many when, just east of the Susquehanna River, on the way to Chicago from New York, you see from the window of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Broadway Limited," a narrow little red house in the middle of a forest clearing.

IN 1929 you might have said:

"My, how terribly lonely."

Today, seeing the man and woman in their garden, with two or three children playing around the little wooden house, beans, corn, potatoes, peas and spinach sprouting from the generous earth you say:

"What peace, what security."

Perhaps our depression will make some of us better acquainted with the earth on which we live, less well acquainted with extravagance and its foolishness.

WONDERFULLY invigorating air in Chicago, and you feel like walking many miles along sidewalks on which, in former days, no Chicagoan ever went slowly. The rule does not hold good today. Three times in one block a slowly moving man says, as you pass, and as though it were all one word:

"Ten cents for a cup of coffee, please."

That has become the formula, as on public highways, a backward jerking of the thumb means a request for an automobile ride. If you contribute the 10 cents, or more, you rarely make a mistake, but you can see it is not expected. A shake of the head is the usual answer. The world becomes accustomed, even to misery.

CROSSING A bridge over the river, you look up at the enormous building in which Samuel Insull has housed the opera of Chicago. Contributing a fortune to it, and you know that after working 54 years Mr. Insull, at the age of 70, has nothing except a pension of $18,000 a year, given to him by three companies that he created. Three years ago Mr. Insull was worth more than a hundred millions of dollars. This shows what can happen in the United States.

Ninety-eight per cent of Americans will ask:

"How could he possibly want or use more than $18,000 a year?"

Two per cent will wonder:

"How can he possibly live on such a miserable income?"

Fortunately for Insull as for others, what you have done is done. Buildings, machinery and organizations created will go on with their work, whether you have millions in the bank or bitterness in your heart.

THE SIDEWALKS of Chicago are full of life, especially for those that lead toward the convention hall.

A very nice old lady, with quite an angry expression, hands you a tract denouncing those that would interfere with prohibition, saying:

"Take it, you will come to us in time."

"He may be with us even now. He looks like a nice, quiet man."

That is a terrible insult, but it is meant kindly.

ANOTHER LADY past fifty gives you a piece of paper, saying:

"Stop and read it now."

On one side sits "the man who knew how to make easy money"; smoking a big cigar. Jesus, approaching, asks:

"Will you please give me a few moments time to consider your soul's salvation?"

Mr. O. U. Foolishman replies:

"I positively can't do it. I am too busy."

Underneath is the text:

"For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

On the other side is a picture of a skeleton, death, come to get Mr. O. U. Foolishman. He begs:

Death replies:

"I positively can't do it. I AM TOO BUSY."

And then the texts:

"For whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," and "prepare to meet thy God."

Those ladies are in earnest, and only a fool would fail to respect them. Some among them have seen a son, husband or father die of drink.

YOU CAN tell dry ladies from wet ladies by observing the finger nails and hair. If the finger

HOUSE CUTS DEBATE ON BONUS

Congressman's Death Spurs Fight for Speedy Passage; 'Army's' Hospital Closed

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The House today passed the $2,400,000,000 cash bonus bill.

A short time before the original Patman bill had been amended to provide an equal issue of government bonds to be used for retiring the currency if the dollar becomes too cheap.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP.)—In an effort to speed action on legislation to pay war veterans $2,400,000,000 on their soldiers' bonus certificates, the House today agreed to terminate further debate and proceed at once to the consideration of proposed amendments.

Within a few minutes an effort to attach a beer-for-revenue amendment to the bonus bill was lost through a parliamentary ruling that the subject was not in order.

SPEED SOUGHT

Speeded procedure on the legislation urgently sought by World War veterans camped on the city, was proposed as a result of the sudden death of Representative Eslick, of Tennessee, yesterday, in the midst of a plea for passage of the bill.

All Tennesseans in Congress were leaving at 4 o'clock to escort the body home, and they wanted an opportunity to record themselves on the issue before going.

As the bonus discussion continued in the House, police were redoubling efforts to evacuate as many of th veterans as could be encouraged to leave the city. Fourteen from Georgia left in one truck and another group numbering more than 60 departed in five trucks for northern points, including Erie, Pa.

The menace to the veterans' health was made more acute by withdrawal by the Marine medical detail of its volunteer assistance, due to lack of funds. It had been treating some 500 veterans daily.

REED OPPOSED

Meanwhile, in the Senate an administration leader—Reed, of Pennsylvania—asserted:

"As long as I am in the Senate I am going to fight bonuses to men who incurred no disability.

"No nation in history was ever so generous to its war veterans."

A move was planned in the Senate to ask unanimous consent for a vote on the bonus immediately after action by the House.

Failing this, it would go to the Finance Committee, where an adverse report is forecast.

STATE GROUP IN NEW DRY CLASH

Mackrell Leads Uprising Against Stand; 2nd Vote After Convention Set

By MARK SHIELDS
Political Editor.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 15.—The causus this morning of the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican national convention broke up in another storm over the prohibition question with Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, of Pittsburgh, Morgan Kaufman, of Scranton, and other anti-prohibitionists insisting that the delegation go on record for a repeal plank in the national party platform.

State Chairman Edward Martin shut off discussion on this controversial question after the delegates had gone on record as favoring that the Republican state committee, after the convention, be convened to urge repeal and modification of the Volstead act.

RESOLUTION PREPARED

This sentiment was embodied in a resolution prepared at a conference of Martin, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, W. L. Mellon, former Gov. John S. Fisher, James M. Hazelett, Walter A. Bonitz, James Francis Burke, Charles A. Dorrance and Mrs. Marion Margery Scranton.

In the resolution the action of yesterday morning's caucus, which declared merely for resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment with modification of the Volstead act, was allowed to stand. The resolution reads:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the delegates from Pennsylvania to the Republican national convention of 1932, convened in the city of Chicago, in view of the action heretofore taken by this delegation, that we request the chairman of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania to reconvene the state committee after the adoption of the platform of the national convention, and that the members of this delegation desire that the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania go on record for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the immediate modification of the Volstead act."

Hazelett, Philadelphia city chairman, who yesterday voted his entire delegation for a mere resubmission plank, moved the

Dolly Aroused as Alice Seeks to 'Scalp' Curtis

MRS. ALICE ROOSEVELT LONGWORTH . . . PULLING FOR TEDDY

Social Feud Flares Anew as Rivals Use Varied Systems of Political Art, Each Hoping to Get Nomination for Brother.

By MARGUERITE YOUNG

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP.)—One thing was clear through all the fogginess of the Vice Presidential situation today.

Something will be heard from stalwart Dolly Gann should anything happen to her brother, Charles Curtis.

The story going the convention rounds is that Alice Roosevelt Longworth, widow of the Speaker and daughter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, suggested the skids for the Indian Vice President . . . and incidentally wouldn't object to seeing her oldest brother, Teddy, Jr., on the national ticket.

There was nothing on the surface to confirm this, but there were speculative glances turned toward Mrs. Longworth as she paused to talk with Secretary Hurley, Secretary and Mrs. Mills any many others of her many influential friends.

GLAD HAND FOR ALL

However potent may be "Princess Alice's" reported maneuvering in the down-with-Curtis movement, it doesn't take a thaumaturgist to tell how Dolly likes it. Nor to see that the very presence of the social-precedence opponent of the Vice Presidential hostess hasn't slowed the tempo of Mrs. Gann's campaigning!

PLATFORM COMMITTEE ADOPTS PLAN FOR RESUBMISSION

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 15.—(AP.)—Taking up the quickstep of a real convention show at last, the Republicans today marched and shouted in a 20-minute demonstration for Hoover, adopted without a murmur the administration-backed report of a credentials committee, and forged ahead with its affairs with a dispatch which showed the President and his friends firmly at the helm of party affairs.

A tribute to the Hoover record, in the course of a rip-roaring Republican speech by Congressman Snell, the permanent chairman, set off the 20 minutes of noise and disorder, as the delegates from every state circled the arena, led by Gov. Kolph, of California.

Most of the leaders were absent trying to arrange the renomination of Hoover and Curtis on a resubmission plank, while anti-prohibitionists on the resolutions committee determined to carry their fight for a repeal plank to the convention floor.

Declares He Will Refuse To Run If Nominated For Vice President

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Definitely eliminating himself from the Vice Presidential nomination, Gen. Charles G. Dawes declared flatly today he could not accept the nomination if it were offered.

Dawes issued his statement after a perusal of the morning newspapers reporting the boom in his favor at Chicago for second place on the Republican ticket.

He said he had not been offered the Vice Presidency and that he would not accept it in any event.

He asserted:

"To have been considered for this nomination is a high honor and I appreciate the proffers of support. I have given the question consideration and thought. I could not accept the nomination if made."

ILLINOIS FOR DAWES

CHICAGO, June 15.—(INS.)—Illinois' delegation to the Republican National Convention in caucus today expressed its unanimous sentiment for Gen. Charles Gates Dawes for Vice President.

The delegation resolved to leave the matter of indorsing Dawes and presenting his name to the convention to former Gov. Len Small, acting chairman. Small will report tomorrow.

It was expected Small would communicate with Dawes, but some of the delegates felt Illinois should go ahead with plans to

COMPROMISE REACHED

Hoover's Approval Waited As Committee of 16 Ends Work

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP.)—Plans to announce the administration prohibition resubmission plank at 3 p. m. (Pittsburgh time) today were upset when the Resolutions Committee failed to reach an agreement by that time.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

CHICAGO, June 15.—A compromise prohibition plank, urging resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment along with a new constitutional amendment, empowering Congress to enact legislation controlling liquor traffic between the states, was adopted early today by 16 tired members of the Republican platform committee.

While it met with at least tacit approval of the dry forces, the anti-prohibitionists vigorously opposed it and determined to carry their fight for a straight-out repeal plank to the floor of the convention.

VIOLENT DEBATE

Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, put his repeal proposal before the whole resolutions committee and precipitated violent debate in the executive session.

The draft of the resubmission plank was completed after more than eight hours of debate. It was modeled along the lines of the Pennsylvania plank and the so-called Morrow plan offered by the New Jersey delegation, but with outright repeal eliminated.

In effect, it was a resubmission plank, but proposed a plan for controlling the liquor traffic in event the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed.

APPROVAL NEEDED

Keynote Speech 'Flop,' G. O. P. Blue, Says Rogers

By WILL ROGERS

CHICAGO, June 15.—In the theatrical business when a thing don't go or is a flop, we say that "it laid an egg." Well, the Republican convention "laid an egg" here yesterday. The house wasn't near sold out. The loud-speaking system didn't work, and half of 'em couldn't hear the "keynote" speech. They got mad and got to leaving, but not as quick as those that was sitting near and could hear it.

Poor Senator Dickinson did the best he could with the material he had to work with. Like all political speeches, any humor in it was unconscious. At the finish he said:

"We have never been a party of critics and complainers."

Well, for two hours he had been telling us nothing only what the Democrats hadn't done to restore prosperity, or had done to prevent it.

Movie Fans Here Escape New Amusement Tax

Pittsburgh photoplay patrons will not be annoyed now by the federal tax on amusement admissions. A new scale of prices for the summer season today was announced by the three large downtown movie theaters.

The new top price will be 40 cents, beginning Friday. The tax law, effective next Tuesday, provides for a one cent tax on each 10 cents or fraction, beginning at 41 cents admission and over. The Stanley and Loew interests announced their new scale as follows: Penn, Stanley and Warner theaters: 25 cents from opening until 12:30; 30 cents from 12:30 until 5:30, and 40 cents until closing. Saturday matinees admission will be 35 cents from 12:30 until 5 o'clock. Children will pay 15 cents for matinees and 20 cents evenings.

Receipts from wrestling or boxing matches sponsored by religious, educational or charitable organizations are subject to tax. The act also denies exemptions on admissions paid to games or exhibitions from which the proceeds go wholly or partly to a college or university. Not even the military and naval academies are excepted.

SEES SHADOW OF WANT OVER CONVENTION

Prosperity Ballyhoo Crowd Seen Against Background Of Abject, Jobless People

By FLOYD GIBBONS
International News Service.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Hello, everybody. And here's your political hot cakes, served thin, tough and tasteless on a cold platter, with a garnish of nothing.

They wanted lunch.

They were hungry after listening to Lester Jesse Dickinson, Algona lawyer and Senator, sound the knot-hole or key-note speech by telling the world what the Hoover administration and the Republican party has done for the working man, the wage earner, the farmer—the bankers and the railroads.

So they went out to eat—at the Blackstone—the Stevens—the Morrison—the Drake—the Sherman—Chicago's fine, big hotels.

KEEN APPETITE

The "Grand Old Party" has a keen edge on its appetite—a mouth-watering hankering for another four years in the trough—but more immediately the delegates had a yen to get their feet under these heaped-up city tables, tuck the kitchen towel into the collar, pin back the ears and wade into food.

Their appetites were fine.

For two hours and a half they had listened to the pean of prosperity. They had heard how the "Grand Old Party" had saved the country from the bow-wows, time after time, during the last hectic three years. They had learned once more that their party was the good old party of good old honest Abe Lincoln. And that the programs and policies of the good old party were the laws of this great country.

Yes, sir, and they had heard the organ play, "Happy Days Are Here Again," as the speaking ended and the march started for the nose bags.

NEEDY NOT MENTIONED

Not a word had been spoken about 9,000,000 men and women who have no work and nothing to eat.

No reference had been made to 30,000,000 hungry, destitute dependants of the hungry nine millions.

There was not a breath of the 12,000 hungry veterans of 1918 and victims of 1932, who are sleeping out in the open on the river bottoms of the Potomac, while the government they fought for invites them to take a free ride 50 miles away from the capital and starve in some spot where the sight and smell of them and their abject and disgraceful misery will not offend the eyes and noses of Washintgon bureaucracy.

Not a mention of it. Forgotten. Not the forgotten man. The forgotten hungry 40,000,000 here in the richest country in the world.

So the delegates went out to lunch.

And the stadium pipe organ—they tell me it's the biggest in the world—started playing music for the exit.

DODGE JOBLESS

Yes, sir, boys and girls. The organ played that rollicking ditty with a lot of pep. And I looked into the faces of the delegates as they rushed for the exits, and some of them looked grim and a little bit sheepish as they elbowed through the jobless idlers hanging around West Madison street:

"Will you give me a dime for a cup of coffee, buddy?"

Noticed a few Congressman delegates looking grim, too. Just wondered if they were thinking about those 12,000 ex-soldiers who marched across the country to Washington to ask their government for the money they earned during the war or a chance to work.

Yes, sir. The shadow of that bonus army in Washington fell across this convention assembly, a thousand miles away. And it lingers here.

Maybe the shadow will deepen as things go along today and tomorrow.

But maybe the delegates will grit their teeth and stifle their thoughts so they will fit in with Lester Dickinson's keynote speech.

HOOVER PRAISED

I mean the speech in which the Iowa Senator dismissed the depression—and unemployment—as "all this shouting and turmoil,"—and went on to say:

"While our self-appointed saviors strutted in the limelight of publicity, the man in the White House continued patiently and persistently the great task of restoring our normal economic balance."

Orders from higher up tell the boys and girls in the ranks to call it "the change" or "the dislocation," instead of "the depression."

Well, Senator Dickinson did admit that there had been a "change." But he pointed out that if anything was wrong, it was mainly due to the war and the last Democratic administration.

But, by Jimminy, Senator Dickinson made it clear that the Grand Old Party is openly and unreservedly against crime. The party's against crime more than anything else—unless you count Democrats. That Iowa lawyer keynoted that crime in this country ought to be stopped.

Dry Battle on Floor Assured As Bingham Fights Straddle

Burke's Compromise, Backed by Hoover, Elates Drys

CHICAGO, June 15.—(INS.)—The administration's compromise plank on prohibition, over which the resolutions committee was still wrestling this afternoon, is "fairly satisfactory" to the drys, it was learned from Dr. Daniel A. Polin, editor of the Christian Herald and leader of the convention dry forces.

Poling made it clear he was not offering support to the plank, but he seemed elated over the fact "it is not repeal." He said:

"We seem to have our wet friends licked on that."

It was pointed out that the new plank virtually follows the language of the plan proposed by James Francis Burke, of Pittsburgh, general counsel of the Republican national committee and one of the President's spokesmen at the convention.

The Burke plan provides:

"We favor prompt resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment to the states by Congress, to state conventions called to deal with that problem in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution, as we believe this to be the most expeditious and exact method of ascertaining the will of the people on this subject.

""Such submission should not be limited solely to repeal, but should include a constructive constitutional substitute conferring upon Congress the power to regulate the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors within the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof.

"By this process, should the amendment be repealed, a single uniform law regulating the liquor traffic is assured in all such states as shall approve the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors within their borders."

City Ousts Defender Indicted for Murder

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(AP.)—Frank J. Egan was removed from the office of San Francisco Public Defender today.

Egan, under suspension and under indictment for the murder of his client, Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, was declared guilty of obstructing justice by failure to co-operate with police in the Hughes investigation. He was the beneficiary of the life insurance policies and the legatee of the will of the 59-year-old widow.

Boy, 10, Drowned In Latrobe Cistern

LATROBE, June 15.—Ten-year-old Anthony Ewanitz, Jr., was dead today. He drowned when he fell into a nine-foot cistern while catching tadpoles. His body was recovered several hours after he fell into the cistern when a frightened playmate finally told of the accident.

Faction Will Demand Immediate Move For Repeal

CHICAGO, June 15.—(INS.)—A prohibition battle on the floor of the Republican convention was assured today when Senator Bingham, platform representative of Connecticut, announced his delegation would carry its opposition to the administration's plank to the convention floor.

The repeal advocates, including several states in the East and Far West, united behind the Bingham plank.

The text of the Bingham plank follows:

"We recommend that the Congress of the United States immediately propose an amendment to the Federal Constitution repealing the Eighteenth Amendment thereto, to be submitted to conventions of the people of the several states called for that sole purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution of the United States.

"Should the Eighteenth Amendment be repealed, we pledge our best efforts toward the enactment of such measures in the several states as will actually promote temperance, effectively abolish the saloon, whether open or concealed, and bring the liquor itself under complete public supervision and control with the revenue drawn from legalized sources for the relief of the burdened taxpayers."

REPEAL PLANK SHAPED BY DEMOCRATS

Leading Drys and 'Antis' Of Party Favor Program For State Control of Rum

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP.)—Mindful of Republican prohibition worries in Chicago, Democratic leaders here are shaping a repeal plank they confidentially hope will win unqualified approval in the Windy City two weeks hence.

It still is rough-hewn. But in keeping with the desire to keep the entire 1932 platform under 1,000 words, this plank uses just a few more than 50 words to dispose of the liquor issue.

It declares for:

"Immediate submission to state conventions of a repeal amendment."

This amendment would be so drafted as to assure:

"State control of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

This principle—repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment by an amendment for state control—is the heart of the plank. About it are hung declarations for the promotion of temperance and the suppression of liquor traffic in states choosing to remain dry.

The saloon is frowned upon in this one-sentence, one-paragraph plank. But it leaves no doubt that return or banishment of the saloon will be up to the states.

No direct mention is made of beer, or modification of the Volstead act. Tacitly, this problem is left to the Congress that will handle the job of drafting the repeal amendment.

The plank's chief virtue, its authors claim, is the kindly reception it has been accorded by some party members of both dry and anti-dry leanings. Those who have viewed it with approval include a number of senators who have been active for the dry cause in the past and are slated for important places at the Chicago meeting.

MABEL OPPOSES DRY 'WEASLING'

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, long a leader of the dry cause, said in a radio speech last night she hoped that if the majority of the Republican convention were determined to have the Constitution changed, the platform would declare for repeal instead of "disgusing their real object" behind the "weasly word of resubmission."

Mrs. Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, said there was no such thing as resubmission of any part of the Constitution. She argued that change could be obtained only by submitting a new amendment repealing the old and thrusting the whole question of prohibition back upon the state, or substituting some changed form by which the federal government would deal with it.

She argued that by no constitutional method could the people be given any direct vote on the question.

Mrs. Willebrandt said she thought the complexion of the convention was "plainly wet" and it was inevitable that the resolutions committee would favor some change in the eighteenth amendment.

John D. Jr. Elusive As Garbo, Says Bugs

CHICAGO, June 15.—Consider the life of a convention chairman. On Tuesday he is temporary. On Wednesday he is permanent. On Thursday he is writing his autobiography and on Friday he is back in the roundhouse with the woodburning locomotives.

But that didn't stop Chairman Simeon Fess from smacking the gavel on the donated desk and announcing that the Chicago convention was formally opened and let no man put them asunder.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars you will know that the Republicans are saving the country again.

If you hear screams, catcalls, groans and roars later in June you will know the Democrats are doing the same thing. Only louder.

We just heard some bad news from Washington. The Anti-Saloon League has taken down Johnnie Rockefeller's picture. Stew bad.

Why didn't they let it hang where it was? And just paint his nose red.

We tried to locate Rockefeller in Chicago Monday. We figured an interview with him would be a big feather in our chicken soup.

But we couldn't locate Sonny Boy. He came and went as silently as Greta Garbo's discarded eyebrows. He was only penciled in. We wanted to give him a few lessons in barroom etiquet before Emily Post gave him some bum steers. We hope you boys haven't forgotten that you must lay a nickel on the line for beer before you head in for the free lunch.

The heirs to the old beeronial estate got a wallop when Nicholas Murray Butler was sidetracked so far the hoboes can use him for an all-year round home. The last we saw of Nick he was out in Lake Michigan using his beer plank for a surf board.

Make no mistake about this convention. The omnipotent Hoover may not be present in person, but he has everything under control like a boy with a milk bottle full of grasshoppers.

The first mention of Herbert's name got two minutes' applause. Then the band joined in to whoop it up.

The tune was "My Country, Dizzy Thee."

That made 'em sober up. Two minutes' applause ain't much for a President when you figure that old Eddie Leonard used to bow for an hour after singing "Roll Them Roly Boly Eyes."

Old-time Republicans claim the band made an unfortunate selection when it picked "My Country, Dizzy Thee," and that "The Sweet Buy and Buy," or even the lilting strains of the "The Prisoner's Song" would have stretched the spontaneous outburst to the yawning point.

The only highspot in the day's work was when Chairman Fess objected to being cooked by the Kleig lights and ordered them turned off. That was all right with the rest of the delegates, for it seems that the odor of a frying Republican is even objectionable to his felow partisans.

The first day of convention was calm and serene. We must hand the Republicans credit. They can be businesslike even when there ain't no business.

Yesterday everything and everybody was temporary. Today they will be made permanent. On Thursday Hoover will be nominated and everything will be temporary again.

GREETINGS GALORE

"Oh, wasn't that a grand conference in your state? Yes, I've lots of friends down in your state. How are you, dear? I'd be delighted to come and talk to your club—just let the National Committee know you want me."

Many of the women brought up the thorny subject, rallying with:

"Tell Mr. Curtis not to worry; we're fighting just like you are!" or "Don't give in; we're with you."

Mrs. Gann would reply:

"Good," or "Thank you, that's fine."

SHUNS TALK OF ALICE

But to all who broached the Longworth matter, Dolly responded with:

"Mrs. Longworth takes care of Mrs. Longworth's affairs."

Some of the women's leaders nevertheless were wondering what might be Dolly's reaction to the threatened replacement of the Kansan. And they didn't mind predicting it would be resounding.

To another women's dinner for Secretary Hurley last night went at least one outspoken spectator-objector to the revolt from Curtis.

Will Rogers, political humorist wouldn't go in, but he was telling everybody around:

"Charlie Curtis is the last Indian in high office—and I'm not going to let anybody tomahawk him."

DAWES REFUSES TO RUN

place him in nomination without consulting him.

Instead of closing the door, Dawes' disclaimer that he was a candidate for the post only served to increase the clamor for his nomination, and the agitation to shelve Vice President Curtis continued to gain momentum. Friends of Dawes claimed to have "more than 20" states lined up in an anti-Curtis bloc, which they vowed to throw to someone else if they can't draft Dawes.

"Who?" they were asked.
"Anybody," was the reply.

RALLY TO CURTIS

But the dry Kansan's friends, after a belated start, were rallying vigorously to his support. They were aided to some extent by the administration representatives on the scene—and there are a lot of them.

They argued unenthusiastically that President Hoover is committed to Curtis; that "Charley" stayed regular by passing up the chance to run for his old seat in the Senate, and to eliminate him now would merely advertise dissension in the ranks.

The White House spokesmen want to avoid even any appearance of irregularity in this convention. They want, and are battling for, peace and harmony.

FOUR AWAIT JUDGE'S DECISION ON KLINE JURY 'FIXING'

ONE CONVICTED, THREE PLEAD NO DEFENSE

Speedy Close of Actions in Butler Follows Collapse Of Sleuth's Wife in Court

By EDWARD C. SYKES
Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, Pa., June 15.—Three men and a woman—one of the men convicted by jury, the others standing on pleas of no defense—today awaited the court's action on their alleged attempts to "fix" members of the first jury panel, drawn here in March, for the malfeasance trial of Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh, and his former supplies director, Bertram L. Succop.

Court proceedings came to an abrupt halt yesterday when Mrs. May Scott, wife of a Pittsburgh police detective; her brother, Bert Dougherty, and W. H. Cook, a miner or Hilliard, near here, entered the 'nolo contendre"—no defense—pleas.

GROSS SEEKS NEW TRIAL

The case against these defendants will be disposed of Saturday, June 25. Entering of the pleas yesterday following o conference attended by Judge Thomas Watson, presiding judge; District Attorney Edgar H. Negley and Attorneys James F. Callahan, of Pittsburgh, and W. H. Martin, of Butler, defendants' councel.

A motion far a new trial was filed by Attorneys Callahan and Martin as soon as the jury trying Howard Frank Gross, stationary engineer at the East End Police Station, brought in a verdict of "guilty as indicted on the first count."

Reasons for making the motions will be based on errors it was averred made by the court and also in the charge to the jury.

TRIAL LISTED TUESDAY

In the embracery case against Norris, who lives at 4516 Davison street, and is an automobile mechanic employed by the City of Pittsbur,h the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty, but pay the costs."

The case against W. D. McBride, a real estate dealer, of near Prospect, and Charles Flick, of Bakerstown, indicted on embracery and conspiracy charges, has been listed for trial here for next Tuesday.

The accusations against them grew out of their conduct in connection with the second panel called in the Kline-Succop case.

This will leave the embracery charge against Robert Cunningham, Turtle Creek contractor, yet to be disposed of in the jury "fix" cases. Cunningham, some time ago, asked the Pennsylvania Supreme Court for a change of venue, but the court has not as yet acted on the contractor's request.

Speeding O.K.!

MRS. JOHN BARRYMORE

Miss Dolores Costello, whose second baby—a boy!—was born just after her hurrying actor-husband's chauffeur was arrested for speeding towards the hospital. "Extenuating circumstances," said a municipal judge, suspending a fine he had levied.

KILLER BURKE'S PAL SLAIN

DETROIT, June 15.—(INS.)—Milford Jones, notorious gangster and pal of Fred (Killer) Burke, was shot to death here today in the elaborate Stork Club, a cabaret.

His feet were tangled in the bar rail when detectives arrived. The shooting was reported to police by Jack Green, reputed owner of the night club.

Jones had no police record here. Fred Frahm, chief of detectives, said, but he is a wellknown St. Louis gangster and frequently had been linked with such gangsters as Burke and Gus Winkler.

California Veterans Laud Hearst Plea

BERKELEY, Cal., June 14.—(Universal.)—The Berkeley post of Veterans of Foreign Wars today announced unanimous passage of a resolution commending the Hearst publications for their editorial policies supporting the demands of the World War veterans for jobs or immediate payment of the adjusted service certificates.

The resolution also provides that the post go on record to "sincerely thank William Randolph Hearst for his timely and splendid effort in behalf of all World War veterans."

Police Officer Held, Wife's Death Probed

LATROBE, June 15.—Police Lieut. Thomas Griffen was being held by the state police today pending investigation into the shooting yesterday of his wife, Mrs. Jemimah Griffen, in their home. Mrs. Griffen died a few minutes after she had been shot with her husband's service revolver. First reports indicated suicide. Capt. Albert Carlson, of the state police, said his investigators were not yet certain just how Mrs. Griffen was shot.

Child Auto Victim Dies in Hospital

Alfreda Freeman, 4, Negro, of 1412 Clark street, died in Mercy Hospital last night from injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile in Fullerton street. Archie Ball, of 10 West Climax street, driver of the car, posted a $1,000 bond for a coroner's inquest.

Hurley Denounces Vet Bonus March

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP.)—Severe criticism of the bonus parades to the national capital was voiced by Secretary Hurley tonight in an address before members of the Republican Service League. The bonus marchers were accused of attempting to "intimidate" Congress.

Hurley assured the service men that President Hoover had presented a "complete" plan for economic recovery, but that Congress has delayed action.

New Kensington Bonus Veteran Dies

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., June 15.—R. T. Schwartzliner, 35, of New Kensington, who left here with a group of bonus marchers Monday, died in a hospital in Washington yesterday. His home was on Second avenue, where he lived with a relative.

He was a member of the 111th Infantry and saw 18 months' service in France during the World War, being gassed in action. He leaves two brothers and three sisters.

15 YEARS GIVEN GASTON MEANS IN LINDY HOAX

Former Justice Sleuth Sentenced for $104,000 Fraud on Mrs. McLean

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP.)—Gaston B. Means today was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment for swindling Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, of $104,000 in an alleged plan to return the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

Justice James M. Proctor, in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, sentenced the former Justice Department investigator to 10 years on the larceny of $100,000 ransom money, and five years for larceny of the $4,000 expense money. The latter sentence is to begin after the 10-year sentence has been fulfilled.

T. Morris Wampler, one of Means' defense counsel, noted an appeal.

Justice Proctor, in addressing Means, said:

"The verdict reveals that the defendant capitalized not only on the sweetest and tenderest emotions of the human heart, but also on the basest in his clever and adroit plan."

British Consul Attends Violet Sharpe Rites

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 15.—(AP.)—Attended by Gerald Shepherd, acting British consul general, who brought a wreath of red roses to be placed on the casket, funeral services were conducted today in an undertaking establishment for Violet Sharpe, English servant who committed suicide at the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow Friday.

Arthur Springer, one of Mrs. Morrow's secretaries who was present some of the time while detectives were questioning the maid about the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and who had told her detectives were waiting to talk to her again just before she swallowed poison, represented the Morrow family.

Mrs. Morrow and her son and a daughter, Dwight Morrow, Jr., and Constance, sailed for England early today.

Servants from the Morrow estate also attended the funeral. Among them was Septimus Banks, the butler, whose statements to police after Miss Sharpe's suicide helped to establish an alibi for Ernest Brinkert.

An automobile from the Morrow estate brought a number of floral pieces, which were placed about the casket. The body was placed in a grave about 200 yards from that of the late Senator Morrow.

Britain Wants Report On Girl's Suicide

LONDON, June 15.—(AP.)—Great Britain has no information on which it can make representations to the American government in connection with the suicide of Violet Sharpe, Parliament was informed today.

Capt. R. A. Eden, under-secretary for foreign affairs, said he had asked the British consul general at New York to furnish a report on the death of the servant girl who committed suicide in the Morrow home at Englewood, N. J., after having been questioned by police on the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

Capt. Eden was replying to a question by F. S. Cocks, a Labor member, who asked him whether he would do his best to expedite the inquiry "in view of the general feeling in both countries that this poor girl was bullied to death by the action of the police," and whether he would ask the consul-general to especially inquire about the application of "third degree methods to a British subject."

Steel Plant Resumes Capacity Operation

WHEELING, W. Va., June 15.—The Yorkville plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation at Yorkville, resumed in full today. The plant has 24 hot mills. It is the first time in a year and a half that the plant has operated in full.

PARLEY NEAR, REPARATIONS HOLIDAY SEEN

New Moratorium of One To Five Years Hinted; Debt Repudiation Not Suggested

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 15.—(AP.)—Statesmen of a dozen European countries began arriving here today in preparation for the opening of the international conference tomorrow which will make this Swiss city the center of much of the world's hopes for economic recovery.

The first problem to be discussed is relief for Germany from the burden of reparations payments, more than $300,000,000 of which will fall due July 15 unless a new arrangement is arrived at here.

The eve of the conference showed the problem shrouded in deep uncertainty. The most hopeful sign was the result of the conference last week-end in Paris between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Eduoard Herriot of France.

While MacDonald made it clear after the conference that there had been no bargaining or compromise, he said that British and French were thinking along the same lines.

A new moratorium, of from one to five years, was looked upon as the most likely solution of the reparations problem. No suggestion of repudiation of war debts in the event Germany is unable or unwilling to make further reparations payments was advanced from any responsible quarter.

Neville Island Fire Destroys Building

A dwelling of the Pittsburgh Suburban Water Company, Neville Island, was destroyed by fire last night after it had been ignited from a painter's blow torch, according to Fire Chief Max Homer. The building was occupied by J. Hazice. Loss was estimated at $1,000.

Weather Conditions.

Pressure is relatively low over the entire country. The only section where the pressure is above 30.00 inches is the Florida peninsula. Centers of disturbance are located over the St. Lawrence Valley, the Central Mississippi Valley and over the Rocky Mountains. The center over the Mississippi Valley is producing cloudy weather over most of the eastern half of the country, but it is not raining anywhere except at Cincinnati. Light to moderately heavy rains were general over the eastern half of the country during yesterday and last night. Temperature changes were slight.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 0.7 feet; Lock No. 7, 11.2; Pittsburgh, 10.1; Dam No. 4, 9.1; Dam No. 5, 7.6; Dam No. 10, 7.6, and Dam No. 12, 7.2. The dams are up.

MISSING FLIERS HELD SLAIN

WYNDHAM, Australia, June 15.—(AP.)—Native runners came in today with stories that the missing German aviator, Capt. Hans Bertram, and his companion, Clausman, had been "murdered by blacks."

Officials declined to accept their story until it was thoroughly checked, however, and went ahead with plans to send a launch to the spot where Bertram's plane was found yesterday near Drysdale Mission.

The two fliers vanished en route from Kupang Island, Australia, to Darwin, May 17. The first hint of their fate came Monday when Father Cubero, of the Drysdale Mission, received from natives a handkerchief and a cigaret case with the initials, "B. B."

The natives said they found footprints of two men, pointing southward, about 100 miles north of Wyndham. Then the plane was found, and in it a message which said the fliers had gone into the bush. An intensive search was launched.

THESE GOOD earnest prohibition women remember the saloons with the swinging doors, sawdust on the floor. OIL MAN SLAIN, WOMAN HELD

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—(AP.)—Merton L. Jenks, 51, oil and mining man, of Beverly Hills, was shot to death yesterday in the Lankershim Park Mountains, north of here.

Mrs. Helen E. Moffitt, his companion on an automobile trip, said Jenks was shot by a man who accosted them from nearby underbrush. Jenks gasped to detectives before he died:

"Two men did it."

Mrs. Moffitt said she and Jenks had a real estate deal pending and had gone to look at the property. She was held as a material witness and her husband was sought for questioning.

Jenks had lived in California 30 years, coming first to Ventura from his birthplace in Pepperill, Mass. His widow survives.

Belgian Legislators Periled by Shooting

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 15.—(AP.)—The Chamber of Deputies, droning through a debate this afternoon, was thrown into excitement by the sound of a shot from the visitors' gallery.

A sergeant-at-arms with several assistants hurried to the section and arrested a man with a pistol. Apparently he had fired at the Socialist benches, but nobody was hit.

WARSHIP STIRS DANZIG CRISIS

DANZIG FREE CITY, June 15.—(INS.)—The unexpected arrival of the Polish destroyer Wicher in Danzig harbor today threatened to precipitate a serious situation between Poland and Germany, whose relations have been severely strained in recent months.

Large crowds of Germans gathered at the pier, cat-calling and shouting at the Polish crew.

Local officials and the Danzig Senate immediately protested to the League of Nations under whose protection Danzig was placed by the Treaty of Versailles.

The Senate remained in session this afternoon to discuss further measures.

N. J. Standard Oil Adopts 5-Day Week

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP.)—The two-billion dollar Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has decided to place its entire American organization on a five-day week.

By doing so, officials said, it would keep its 43,000 workers employed, and, it hoped, place new employes. Salaried employes, including executives, will have their compensation reduced one-eleventh, the cut to affect the entire personnel except those receiving salaries of $100 a month or less.

DONOHOE SLAIN BY BLEDSOE, BELL SAYS

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 15.—Money paid by bootleggers for the protection of the District Attorney's office; tales carried to the court and the Sheriff's office, and how the office of Chief of Police was used to head a liquor ring in Masontown were highlights today in the testimony of Anthony W. (Tony) Bell, former county detective, who kept his promise to "tell all" in the trial of R. C. Bledsoe and Cosmo Stengoni for the murder of Constable John F. Donohoe.

Donohoe was "rubbed out" because he was a "double-crosser" and a "chisler," Bell testified, in the vernacular of the underworld.

COURTHOUSE LINK

Bell, answering questions of District Attorney Wade K. Newell in a low voice and nervously toying with his fingers, brought the motive for the killing into the Courthouse when he declared:

"Glenn Allum (an associate of Bell) told me Donohoe blamed me for carrying tales about him into court, and to the Sheriff's office. Allum said Donohoe told him he was going to kill me."

The plot to put Donohoe on the spot, Bell testified, came after Donohoe had tried to "muscle in" on a still operated by Stengoni at Masontown, Bell said. Relating how he had made connections with the bootleggers and moonshiners while chief of police at Masontown, Bell told how Stengoni came to him in July, 1929, and complained that Donohoe had been around for a "cut" in the operations. Bell said he went to Bledsoe about it and Bledsoe asked him:

"Why don't you bump him off?"

Bell said he replied:

"I'll go 50-50 with you on that proposition."

The plan was then conceived to arrange the killing, Bledsoe, Bell testified, was to bring an ally, and Stengoni was to be Bell's partner. Stengoni, according to Bell's story, was to meet Donohoe the night of July 30, on the pretense of taking him in on the still, and the arrangement, Bell said, was for Stengoni to lead Donohoe into a trap.

BELL SUPPLIES GUNS

The night of the killing, Bell testified, he met Bledsoe and Carmella Sturelli, and the three drove in the direction of Masontown. Bell furnished the guns for the killing, a .45-caliber automatic which Bledsoe carried, and a 32-caliber revolver which Sturelli used.

The killers, Bell said, met Donohoe and Stengoni near the Helen Hess home. Bledsoe beat Donohoe on the head with the butt of his automatic and then shot him. Sturelli also sent bullets into the car, Bell declared, as Stengoni and himself stood by.

It was agreed then to dispose of the body and the car together. They drove out to Old Frame road, Bell testified, where a strange car passing them on the road made them change their plans once more.

Bell testified that he and Bledsoe argued several times about making their getaway. Bledsoe, the witness testified, wanted to "knock off" Stengoni.

Bell said:

"I told him no, I would not stand for that."

On one occasion, Bell said, Bledsoe fired two more shots into Donohoe's body, explaining, "He isn't dead yet." On another occasion, Bell testified, he found Bledsoe wiping finger prints off the car with a rag and tried to set fire to the murder car to destroy any incriminating evidence.

Bell testified that neither he nor Stengoni fired any shots in the killing.

Dry Leader of Methodists Warns G. O. P. of 'Strike'

The threat of a strike of voters if a repeal plank is adopted was to be carried to the Republican national convention in Chicago today by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, head of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals, who addressed the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church last night in the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church.

The warning was sounded in a resolution adopted by the conference protesting proposed action by the convention. It read:

"If the dry cause be betrayed by the adoption of a wet plank in the Republican Party, millions of people will remain away from the polls or find a more direct way to protest."

The convention was also warned that if Vice President Curtis is dropped because of his dry views, it would be an offense to the Methodist Church, other churches and to dry organizations.

In an address preceding the adoption of the resolution, Dr. Wilson said he favored resubmission. He added:

"I am not a wet, but I would nob object if prohibition had to go through another test by a vote of the people every 10 years. We don't want prohibition against the will of the American people."

For the first time in the 109 years since the formation of the Pittsburgh Conference, laymen on Friday and Saturday will be officially recognized in the conference. Admission of the laymen is in conformity with the action of the General Conference at Atlantic City last month.

Bishop Adna W. Leonard said no definite program had been arranged.

No Key, No Note in Chicago, Says Arthur Brisbane

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

It is a fine building, high, wide, long and well lighted, with room for twenty-five thousand easily.

No News the First Day

There are about one thousand newspaper reporters in the hall, counting men from weeklies and trade papers, and it is only fair to tell you, at the beginning, that they had no real news for you yesterday. The first day was devoted to murmuring and going through motions, like the first moments at a wedding, or a funeral.

On the way to the hall, the taxicab procession is pushed off to one side and delayed by howling sirens, motorcycle policemen and a line of hired automobiles. Through the back window of each car you see wide necks, on each neck the thick transverse fold or wrinkle of the important politician.

News floating in the air, not to be verified until later, tells you that Vice President Curtis will be asked to make room for another Vice President. Perhaps he will find comfort in the fact that only one Vice President has succeeded himself in that office, in all our history.

Will Rogers, writing on the convention, thinks Curtis has been treated meanly. If they meant to get rid of him they should have told him in time to let him run for his seat in the Senate. Perhaps Mr. Rogers, one of the few enormously rich men for whom the depression has no meaning, does not know the feelings and plans of "best minds" the depression hits hardest.

Vague, But Real

They look for trouble, vague, but terribly real, and they would like, to defend them, a cross between Mussolini and Abraham Lincoln, with about 95 per cent of Mussolini.

Mr. "Bill" Stuart baptized William H., who knows about politics, says:

"They wonder what would be the consequences, if anything should happen to Mr. Hoover. Would Mr. Curtis be forceful enough? They want somebody that would know how to use an army, and they want Mr. Dawes, especially."

Mr. Dawes says he does not want the job, and says it as though he meant it, and his business needs him. But "Hell and Maria," as Napoleon might have said, if your country calls, what can you do?

Beautiful flags are flying in and outside the building, and there are banners with colored elephants, some standing on their hind legs, that seem to say "we have overcome difficulties worse than this."

Many bands are playing. And many seats in the big hall are vacant. They are for sale. To help with expenses, something new in Republican prosperity.

Mr. Fess, chairman of the national committee, does not like the blazing lights that imitate Hollywood interiors, and orders them "out to stay out." Laughter greets this, and soon the lights come on again.

Rude Communists

Some delegates, perhaps also Mr. Fess, have been annoyed by sights seen on the way to the hall. Communists, for instances, were holding little meetings here and there, and one group carried a banner with this rude remark:

"Hoover is starving the people, feeding the bankers."

Do you suppose Stalin wrote that caption? Probably, although some bankers, looking at quoted prices of their bank stocks, may say:

"The food has not agreed with us."

Mr. Fess calls the convention to order. Veterans, young ones, stalwart, well-fed, hand-picked perhaps, march in with many flags. Who says the veterans are against the Republican Party? Their steel hats are painted white and varnished, very neatly, and after the Star Spangled Banner, sung, or guessed at, standing, four soldiers oblige loudly, on the bugle.

Some Talks and a Prayer

Silas Strawn, smartest lawyer in Chicago, which means VERY smart, talks. Chicago owes it to Mr. Hurley that Chicago got the convention. Then Mayor Cermak, who looks strong enough to be mayor of Chicago, hopes one and all will have a good time in our fair city.

And then there is a prayer, which deals in admirable generalizations, by Bishop Freeman, who is building the great Episcopal Cathedral in Washington. On behalf of all of us, he confesses to Heaven that we have been conceited, relying too much on ourselves, not enough on Providence, and so we deserve what we get. He lays no stress on details, on prohibition, on the veterans sleeping on the straw in Washington.

If only we could know the unspoken thoughts of the Supreme Being listening to the prayer. Perhaps they would have more to do with those soldiers than with the Republican delegates or the success of their party.

Do not think that wise Republicans show favoritism toward Episcopalianism, because some of our very best people belong to that church. A free field and no favor is the rule. An Episcopalian Protestant asked for Divine assistance yesterday. Today is was to a Catholic priest, and next day, a Jewish rabbi. Thus, whichever may be most influential, the convention will get the full benefit.

"Hell-Raising Dick"

Mr. Fess, following the prayer, announced as temporary chairman, Senator Dickinson, affectionately known as "Hell-Raising Dick" in his home state of Iowa. He is a good talker, cheerful, full of vital energy, but not having anything definite to say, he did not say anything definite. It would be hard for the Mayor of Johnstown to make an enthusiastic speech after that flood. You can imagine how Republican orators feel, when told "go in and lift them out of their seats."

President Hoover's name in connection with the statement, "he was able to resist private clamors for a public dole, and jobs were found for thousands," started cheering that lasted a full minute, was interrupted by the band,est, middle-aged dry ladies that seeking to drown it, tactfully, as it grew faint, and then burst out again, when the band stopped. Many sitting there, evidently, want President Hoover re-elected.

No Red Umbrella Lady

There was no excitement, nothing stirring. You could feel that men on the floor have been thinking mainly about what the Democrats will or will not do. They hope that they will nominate Gov. Roosevelt, and not because they think him a weak man or a weak candidate. They believe that Roosevelt will not get the votes of Gov. Al Smith's friends, being convinced that Roosevelt's strength has made Smith's nomiantion impossible.

But nothing is impossible in a hurricane.

Those that remember ancient conventions, when William Jennings Bryan made the air resonant, and a lady ful lof fire led ten processions around the hall, waving a wide spread red umbrella, missed the old excitement.

Perhaps that will come later. It will, if some of the devoted, earnest, middle-aged dry ladies that haunt the convention get started. If you do not think they are in earnest, look at one of them. No wet movement will eliminate those ladies without knowing it has been in a fight.

Who wrote "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" had not seen a prohibition lady that used to kneel on the sawdust of saloon floors and pray for prohibition.

Take a new-born, blinking tiger cub from its mother, then threaten to take the Volstead Act from a prohibition lady and you will say:

No Key, No Note

Lawrence Richey, President Hoover's secretary, was on the main platform, keeping watch above his own, as Senator Dickinson read the keynote speech. The reading lasted 51 minutes, but there was no key and no note, no key to the troublesome situation, no note of determined confidence for the Republicans to take home with them.

You get no keynote about prohibition, or the veterans, or how fifteen or twenty millions are to be fed, next winter.

But who can make a convincing speech about prosperity and the blessings of things as they are, just after a hurricane has blown off all the roofs?

Today was another day, and there is the platform to be read. It may say something. Somebody may talk plainly concerning the difficulty of hauling a sled up the hill, as compared with sliding down on it.

The issues are these: DEPRESSION, PROHIBITION, EUROPEAN MEDDLING, UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE BONUS FOR SOLDIERS, IF JOBS ARE NOT PROVIDED.

If you offered that job to Hercules himself, he would ask to be excused.

The weather here is beautiful. Chicago is hospitable, and not puritanical. Mr. "Bugs" Baer, who pushes laconic expression to the ultimate, puts the local picture perfectly in only 17 words:

"The wets are lined up against the drys, and the boys are lined up against the bar."

HEARST STOCK PAYS DIVIDEND FOR QUARTER

Record Shows Integrity And Public Confidence in Consolidated Publications

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15—Hearst prosperity messengers—in the form of 1932 second quarterly dividend checks and the eighth consecutive dividend payment since the public offering of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Class "A" 7 per cent preferred shares—were in the mails today, bound for every part of the United States and 16 foreign countries and American possessions.

The record of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., in an epochal period of economic distress, has been a remarkable illustration of public confidence in the integrity of the organization and its product.

More than 6,000 of the 31,000 investors in Hearst Consolidated have shown their complete confidence in that corporation by continually adding to their original holdings during the last two years.

The 12 colossal Hearst properties, grouped under the standard of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., have maintained a brilliant earning, advertising and circulation volume. An uninterrupted flow of quarterly cash dividends have been distributed out of current earnings since the initial public offering of Hearst 7 per cent preferred shares in July, 1930.

The great army of Hearst investors has shown that confidence is the greatest need of the day to restore business normalcy. Hearst investors have demonstrated their confidence in America and her industries, confidence in the future destinies of America and confidence that America will fight her way to even greater achievements.

URGES U.S. RULE POWER FIRMS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(INS.)—Demand for legislation, which would put holding companies under federal jurisdiction, was made at the Federal Trade Commission's inquiry yesterday into the affairs of the Associated Gas and Electric Company, of New York.

S. Davis Wilson, of Philadelphia, declared that such legislation should be enacted. He asked the right to testify on behalf of stockholders of companies affiliated with the Associated Gas and Electric in Pennsylvanian and Florida.

Presiding Commissioner Edgar McCullough took the request under advisement. Wilson asserted that the holding company, by charging high fees for management and services to the smaller companies, had exploited them to the injury of local stock and that it tended to increase rates to the consumers.

Ohio Police Search For Canary Thief

DOVER, O., June 15.—A canary was stolen from its cage hanging from the front porch of the home of Philip Harris, the latter told police.

Return of Horse Thief Good News To Harness Men

ST. PAUL, June 15.—(AP.)—The horsethief is coming back and that's good news as well as bad, Minnesota harness men are told.

It's good because it means there are more horses to be stolen, indicates a comeback for Old Dobbin in farm work, Roy Shepard, Council Bluffs, Ia., asserted in an address.

Shepard said more instances of such thievery than usual had come to his attention this year.

Confessed Forger Gets Prison Term

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., June 15.—(AP.)—When he confessed to an indictment charging the forgery of a young woman bank clerk's name to a check for $6, Charles A. McNeal, 25, an alleged magazine solicitor of Louisville, Ky., was sentenced yesterday in Criminal Court here to serve four years at Moundsville.

McNeal informed the court he had formerly served a prison sentence in Louisiana on a like charge.

Workers Overpaid, Union Calls Strike

AMITYVILLE, N. Y., June 15.—(AP.)—A union here has called bricklayers employed on a new school out on a strike because they were getting $13.20 a day, while the union wage scale is only $12 a day.

Hurricane Destroys Groves in Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 15.—(AP.)—All the banana plantations in the Sula Valley between Chamelecon and San Pedro were destroyed Monday night by a terrific hurricane.

Telegraph lines were down and communication with the affected region was very difficult. Such news as did reach here came direct to the ministry of communications.

Reliance Employes To Picnic Tomorrow

The annual picnic of the Reliance Life Employes' Association will be held tomorrow in Olympia Park, McKeesport. A program of athletic events and dancing has been arranged by a committee headed by John Jay Burke, II, president of the association, and including Miss Betty Blancke, Miss Jean Ley, Mrs. Mildred Metzger, John V. Kelly, French V. Anderson and Raymond Metzger.

Akron May Include W. Va. in Itinerary

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 15.—(AP.)—Gov. Conley was notified by the Navy Department yesterday that his request that the Akron fly over Jackson's Mill on July 2 or July 3, may be granted. Secretary of Navy Adams wrote that if the dirigible makes a proposed trip to Uniontown, Pa., parts of West Virginia will be included in its itinerary. An airport will be dedicated at Jackson's Mill on July 2.

Erie Man's Will Splits Large Estate

ERIE, Pa., June 15.—(AP.)—Willis B. Sterling, former attorney and son of the founder of Sterling-Welch, of Cleveland, left an estate estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000. His will was filed for probate yesterday. Sterling died May 24.

One-half of the estate was left to the widow, Mary I. Sterling, of Erie. Frederick C. Sterling, a son, of Cleveland, was bequeathed one-fourth; Jeannette Sterling Murray, a daughter, of Chicago, one-eighth, and Arthur Hook, of Cleveland, one-eighth of the property. A trust fund also was set up for Jeannette Murray.

STORE LEADER SEES PERIL IN POOR GOODS

Danger of Price Appeal on Lower Grade Merchandise Cited at Convention Here

Danger of price-appeal on lower grade goods in quality stores was cited before the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention today in the William Penn Hotel by J. V. Thompson, store manager, Strouss-Hershberg Company, Youngstown.

The warning was sounded before a joint session of the store-managers' division, controllers' congress and the personnel group in a talk on the merchandise managers' responsibility. The convention will close tomorrow with a smaller store session during the morning. The Retail Delivery Association will visit local stores, while the traffic group will inspect Gimbel Brothers receiving department. The store managers and controllers will visit Kaufmann's in the afternoon. E. R. Clarkson will discuss central records installation.

Declaring higher price levels and higher rate of employment with its ally of greater spending power must wait the natural evolution of stabilizing forces, Thompson said:

"Let us have the courage to go ahead; to feature only that merchandise which is economical because it is first of all good merchandise; to tell our buying public that this merchandise is somewhat higher in price because it is better, of greated durability and more worth while."

Man Struck Down, Robbed Under Bridge

Albert Bundish, 50, of 448 Richland avenue, Youngstown, O., was in Pittsburgh Hospital today with a probable fracture of the skull inflicted by one of three assailants who robbed him of $17 under the Pittsburgh end of Brown's Bridge last night.

Struck on a head with a weapon, Bundish was left unconscious. A passerby who witnessed the attack summoned police.

Chamber Upholds Back to Farm Move

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday went on record in favor of the general idea of a "back to the soil" movement. A study of the idea is to be made by the chamber's market facilities committee, J. S. Crutchfield, chairman, and a report given to the board of directors.

There Are Marvelous Values These Days in Good Things

GENUINELY good things are so reasonably priced, today—as the examples on this page illustrate—that the public can well afford to turn its back on the counterfeits and substitutions which flood the market, at this time, as a result of the eagerness in many quarters to capitalize cheapness. These are days when good names, both in products and stores, mean more than ever to intelligent shoppers, seeking the honest worth of their money.

It is the policy of the Joseph Horne Co. to sell only First Quality Merchandise at all times, regardless of price.

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

From Los Angeles comes news of a marriage of note, Mrs. Oliver Sylvester Hershman, of Los Angeles and Pittsburgh, announces the marriage of her daughter, Elda Belle Vaught Hershman, to Herbert Barry Snyder, son of the Peter N. Snyders, of San Marino, Cal.

The marriage took place yesterday morning in the Hershman California home with the Rev. Dr. George Davidson, of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiating. Because of the recent death of the bride's father, Col. Hershman, only members of the two families and intimate friends attended the ceremony.

To Tour On Coast

The bride, who lived with her family in Bellefield avenue, Pittsburgh, for many years, is a graduate of the Westlake School for Girls, attended the Ogontz School and Holmby College, California. In mid-July, the Snyders will be at home with the parents of the bridegroom in San Marino.

Immediately after the wedding, Mrs. Hershman left for an extended visit in the East, to be followed by a European trip.

The Junior League held its annual luncheon yesterday in the Edgeworth Club, preceded by a business meeting.

League Luncheon

And I noticed that though cotton is popular, printed crepes are still more in favor, in every hue and shade imaginable, in dots and stripes, flowers and zig-zags.

In Blue And Red

Susan O'Neil was there, wearing black and white flowered voile, and Lydia Irish wore a brown and white knitted frock. Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., arriving late, I caught a glimpse of, wearing an attractive frock of rose printed crepe having the cape sleeves pleated. Mary Elizabeth Floyd chose yellow crepe for her frock, and Mrs. Edward Wallace Woods, Jr., was in blue crepe with a matching straw hat. Mary Franklin Robinson wore a red and white knitted ensemble with a panama, and Mrs. H. H. McClintick, Jr., chose black and yellow crepe with a black turban.

Mrs. T. M. Jones III I saw, too, in blue crepe, and Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland, in a maroon and white chalk printed suit. Mrs. Frederick Gwinner III wore brown and white printed crepe. Mrs. F. B. Kirkendall's knitted suit was in turquoise blue. Mrs. Raymond Nimick was there, too, and wore blue crepe with the bodice of pale blue and dark stripes. Mrs. A. Verner Wasson wore a deep blue crepe frock with a cape-jacket of blue and white striped crepe.

Rose and White

Mrs. Wallace Hurte Rowe, Jr., was charming in blue crepe with a matching hat and Mrs. William Standish chose blue, too, with a matching turban.

Mrs. W. J. Grose, of Club drive will be hostess to the Dilworth Hall Alumnae and their guests, at a garden party Saturday from 2 until 5 o'clock.

Tradition Not History Gives Honor Of Making First Flag to Betsy Ross, Speaker Says

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

No historical evidence, only tradition, gives Betsy Ross the honor of having made the first American flag, Capt. J. Clark Mansfield, of the Air Corps Reserve, said in his address before Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday.

Capt. Mansfield also discussed the etiquette of the flag, sketched something of its history and linked that up with the associations of George Washington in this part of the country.

The speaker touched, too, on salutes and mentioned the first time the Stars and Stripes received a salute from a foreign government—when Paul Jones arrived in France with news of Burgoyne's surrender.

The Daughters celebrated Flag Day in the Edgeworth Club this year, about 200 of them motoring down for the occasion. It also marked the close of Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney's administration and the introduction of her successor, Mrs. W. J. Crittenden. The Rev. H. A. Welday, of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal Church, offered the invocation. A program was given by an instrumental trio.

Meet at Club

Queen Aliquippa Chapter of the Daughters celebrated Flag Day at the country home of Mrs. Joseph M. Johnston, Lincoln way, McKeesport. Mrs. David Denman, of Latrobe, was the speaker, and the musical program was presented by Mrs. J. Denny O'Neil, Jr., and Miss Janet McMullin.

Ida M. Campbell Announces Her Attendants

Miss Ida May Campbell, of the Royal York Apartments, who will marry Willard Martin Sanzenbacher, of Toledo, O., on Saturday, June 25, has named her bridal party.

Mrs. Quintard Cornman, of Marietta, Pa., will be her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Marion Campbell, another sister, and Miss Irma Sanzenbacher, a sister of the bridegroom, will be bridesmaids.

Carl Boehm, of Toledo, O., will be best man, and Jeter Eason, of Memphis, Tenn., and John Ray Reitz, of Bellaire, O., will be ushers. Giving the bride in marriage will be her brother-in-law, Quintard Cornman.

The ceremony will take place at 11 o'clock in the Grace Reformed Church, with the Rev. Karl Stein as officiant.

A breakfast for the two families and bridal party will be held in the Ruskin Apartments after the ceremony. Following a motor trip to Canada, Mr. Sanzenbacher and his bride will live in Toledo.

Sunday Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Malitovsky, of Crombie street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Belle Malitovsky, to Morris Lustig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lustig, of Tilbury street, which took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Poale Zedeck Synagogue, with Rabbi B. A. Lichter officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. Mrs. A. M. Pincus was matron of honor. Miss Helen Malitovsky, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Malitovsky, Miss Leva Lipshitz, Miss Dorothy Margolis, Miss Pearl Gordon, Miss Jeanette Marcus, Miss Ida Marcus and Miss Minnie Paul.

Louis Malitovsky was the best man, and ushers included Edward Berg, Myer Gordon, Leo Greenberg, Joseph Margolis, Jack Malitovsky, Israel Fagin and Dr. Charles Feldstein. Mitzie Fagin and Belle Wainning were flower girls, and Sonny Erenbaum, ring bearer.

Covers were laid for 150 at the dinner in the Malitovsky home, where the reception was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Lustig left for a two-week honeymoon in Washington, New York and Atlantic City.

Mrs. Lena Erenrich, of Swissvale, announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Shirley Frances Erenrich, to Morris Klein, son of Jacob Klein, of Glassport.

Rose Myers Becomes Bride of Dr. Lichter

Miss Rose Myers, daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Myers, of the Wendover Apartments, Squirrel Hill, became the bride of Dr. I. A. Lichter, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lichter, of the North Side, last night at 8 o'clock in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley. Officiating was Rabbi B. Lichter, of B'Nai Israel Synagogue.

The setting for the ceremony was a canopy, banked with ferns and bamboo shoots and lighted by candelabra. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Samuel Myers, wore white satin, fashioned with long, tight-fitting sleeves, and a veil of tulle and lace cascading from a Dutch cap. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and ophelia roses.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Eugenia Lichter and Miss Beatrice Lichter, sisters of the bridegroom, wore similar gowns of net, with the former in pink and the latter in green. Both carried pink roses and blue delphinium.

L. E. Myers, brother of the bride, was best man, and Dr. Sidney Saul, Martin Seder, Samuel Lighter and Joseph Recht were ushers.

PARIS PUTS FULLER SKIRTS ON DISTINCTIVE EVENING MODELS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, June 15.—Paris is putting fuller skirts on its new evening dresses. The gown with the skirt, the hips of which are tightly bound, is being cast aside for the more ample type of dress. The new fullness, however, does not take the form of gathers or plaits at the waistline—fullness is insinuated by means of circular cuts, by gores and godets, and by the frank addition of ruffles just below the lines of the hips.

MAINBOCHER HAS designed a number of new evening dresses whose hems measure yards in circumference. Many of these are almost circular in cut, hanging smoothly—but not tightly—over the hips. Bruyere and Mirande both are making gowns whose skirts show a definite tendency toward a flare which begins at the waistline. Augustabernard puts an apexed gore at the center-back of her evening gowns to assure plenty of fullness.

* * *

THE LANVIN dress (at the left) has a skirt whose fullness marks a graceful, flowing line from waist to hem. The black marocain, of which it is fashioned, falls over the hips in bias line to form wide folds which become more ample as they approach the hem. The wide sleeves and full sash are of light green mousseline de soie.

A SKIRT which is full on one side and almost straight on the other, marks a new trend via the Chantal evening dress (at the right). In this case the fullness is especially noticeable, since the added portion is attached with the ruffled "heading on the outside."

Federation Requests Dry Planks of Both Parties

SEATTLE, Wash., June 15.—(AP.)—During the five days of the General Federation biennial which have passed the delegates have expressed opposition to any liberalization of the country's dry laws and have requested that dry planks be placed in the platforms of both national parties.

Scenic beauties of the Pacific Northwest were viewed today, the convention "play day."

At a brief evening session tonight the report of the credentials committee will be given.

The naming to the presidency of Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Mass., is assured, but there will be contests for the first and second vice presidencies at the election tomorrow.

Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Henry C. Taylor, of Bloomfield, Ia., seek the first vice president's office. Mrs. Clarence Fraim, of Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Edward M. Land, of Statesville, N. C., and Dr. Josephine L. Pierce, of Lima, O., are contesting for the second vice presidency.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lockhard, of Port Merion, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Amelia Pearl Lockhard, formerly a Pittsburgh school teacher, to William H. Wilker, of Los Angeles, which took place June 11 in Las Vegas, Nev. After motoring to the Grand Canyon, they will live in Los Angeles.

You can Put that Down... they're Milder!

First of all . . . they're milder because Chesterfield buys the finest, ripest, mildest tobacco leaf that grows.

They're milder, too, because Chesterfield cross-blends these tobaccos to bring out the best in each. The result is a flavor and mildness that can't be obtained in any other way.

Yes, Chesterfields are milder—no doubt about that. And they taste better, too. These are the two big points about this cigarette that more and more smokers are learning every day. They're milder, they taste better. That's Chesterfield's story.

TELL IT TO SALLY

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By SALLY MARTIN

You're Responsible for Way People Treat You

Folks just won't believe she's a Missis, to hear her tell it—

Especially gents on the make!

Because, in spite of the fact that she's 23 and has two kiddies, she looks oh, so young! Not a day over 18! And probably acts younger, if we know our onions.

Anyhow, just now the handsome clerk in the corner grocery has fallen for her, and just won't be discouraged. So—

"Oh, Sally! What'll I do?" she sobs. "I'm simply in a dream! I am so afraid!"

Know what she should do? You tell 'em!

"Dear Miss Martin—

"I am coming to you for some of your wonderful advice. I know you will tell me what to do.

I am a young mother, 23 years old. I have two children, one 4 and one 2. But I do not look my age. Everyone takes me for about 18, and they do not believe that I am a married woman.

"A short time ago I met a young man about 24, and he fell in love with me. I took a liking to him, too, but only as friends. Now this young man, who works in the store where I do my shopping, gets all excited and bothered every time I go to buy something. He looks as though he could jump at me and kiss me, and I am afraid that someone will notice this and get wise and start talking about me.

LOVES FAMILY

"I have told this fellow that I am married, but he won't believe me. And, too, he said that even though I am married, 'where there's a will there's a way.' I have told him I am not that kind of a girl; that I really love my husband and children, and don't want to do anything that would hurt my husband's feelings.

"But I must really admit that I do like this fellow. Sometimes I stop and think, 'What is the matter with me?'

"I am a housewife. I never go out to shows and parties and I can swear that I don't know what a good time is. So maybe I need a change. I don't know.

"Please help me. I am in a dream, and I am so scared. I need some of your good advice.

"What is wrong? Why don't folks believe I'm married?

"MRS. M. G. F."

HEADED FOR GRIEF

Why don't folks believe you're either grown up or married?

There's just one answer to that, young woman! You don't act the part. And you do act like a silly little Rattle-Pate, who secretly gets a great bang out of the whole thing.

You giggle and simper and give 'em the "come-hither" eye. If you didn't, they wouldn't act that way!

Be a decent, dignified, sensible young woman, and folks will treat you like one. Keep on the way you're going now and you'll get plenty of grief.

Cut out this man you're kidding yourself is "in love" with you. He isn't in love. You can take it from me. And he is out to amuse himself at your expense and the expense of disgrace for your children.

He's probably laughing himself sick, right now, at what a fool and an easy mark you are. Go somewhere else to buy your groceries. If he bothers you, tell him to beat it and show him you mean it.

The way people treat you and the kind of life you have are up to you, sister; and you'd better look yourself over and do some housecleaning.

Women's Success Always Secondary to That of Men, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Although women may hold important positions in the business world, and earn considerable salaries, their success always remains secondary to that of men.

The only career in which women have ever excelled men is on the stage and screen, and in this they are merely excelling as women.

For in plays and pictures in which they attain to great incomes because they have won the approval of a vast public they are only portraying the roles women live in real life.

They are only acting with the utmost charm and femininity as mothers, wives, sweethearts or mistresses.

And if by chance the plot demands that she be a business woman it is not her business success but a romance that gives it popular appeal.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Neglect of General Health Invites Tuberculosis

Most individuals dread the words "consumption" and "tuberculosis," fearing tuberculosis might afflict them, yet these same persons neglect and abuse their health without realizing that they are lowering their resistance to this disease.

Dr. Copeland

Tremendous strides have been made in our understanding of tuberculosis, and it is now possible to check its spread, as well as to treat effectively the individual case.

This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of Koch's discovery of the tubercle bacillus—the germ of consumption. Since that important discovery, the means of recognition and treatment of tuberculosis have undergone complete revision.

Yet, in spite of these great advances, this dreaded disease continues to be the leading cause of death in both men and women up to the age of 35. I believe this not because tuberculosis is more virulent, but because young people neglect their health.

The danger of tuberculosis is great, and emphasis must be placed upon the importance of maintaining strong and healthy bodies. Undernourishment, overwork, lack of rest and sleep, are dangers to be avoided.

Bear in mind that most tuberculosis occurs in childhood, and that everyone at some time or other has been infected with the germs of tuberculosis before the age of 21. A healthy body successfully combats the germs and prevents spread of the disease. Only when there are an excessive number of germs in the body, or when the resistance of the body is lowered, does tuberculosis spread to the lungs or other organs.

It is not surprising to me that most of us fear tuberculosis, but it is amazing that so many people who are familiar with the value of fresh air and sunshine, nourishing food, rest and abundant sleep continuously overlook these simple health measures.

A campaign against tuberculosis is now being waged. War is to be declared, in fact, not only against this disease, but all diseases that can be prevented and that still cripple the nation. This war can be waged successfully only with your cooperation.

If you have good health, guard it. If you have any physical complaint do not neglect it, but consult with your physician.

Periodic health examinations often reveal early and unsuspected signs of tuberculosis, and when recognized in its early stages it can be entirely cured. When neglected and allowed to reach an advanced stage, a cure cannot be expected.

Household Hints

Sometimes when mixing a cake, we are not quite careful enough and the flour is inclined to be in tiny lumps instead of perfectly smooth. Do not bake the batter in this condition or your cake will be poor. Put the batter through a fine sieve and then pour it into the tins for baking.

After using the meat chopper, run a slice of bread through it to clean it out. It will be much easier to wash and none of the ground food will be wasted.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

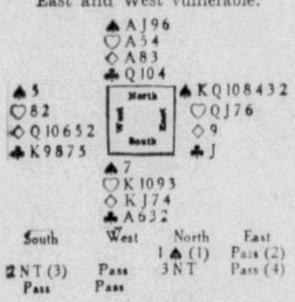
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Reading Adverse Distribution

Knowledge of the distribution of the suits is frequently of tremendous importance to the Declarer playing a difficult contract at Bridge. Not all hands lend themselves easily to an accurate count, but when it is available, this information quite often spells the difference between victory and defeat.

The hands below, played recently at the Cavendish Club, New York, in a rubber game, is interesting because South, who was the Declarer, was able, early in the game, to learn the exact distribution of the West hand, and thus was enabled to make his game correct.

North—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



South	West	North	East
		1 ♠ (1)	Pass (2)
2 NT (3)	Pass	3 NT	Pass (4)
Pass	Pass

(1) Despite the even distribution of North's hand, the shaded spade suit is a better opening than no trump. The Opening suit bid facilitates the exchange of information, while an Opening no trump bid, with another available bid, tends to make the exchange of information difficult.

(2) East is uncertain as to whether North's spade bid is a sound one or whether it is of the bluff or psychic variety. In any event, vulnerable, he decides to await developments.

(3) South's hand contains 2½ honor-tricks and no biddable suit. Although holding a singleton in partner's suit, South bids two no-trump with double stoppers and the 2½ honor tricks.

(4) East, vulnerable, is, of course, now precluded from showing the distributional values he holds. It is just as well, so far as he is concerned.

West, with two five-card suits, elected to open the club 7, the fourth best in that suit. South could read this as showing but one club higher than the 7 in the East hand. On the chance that it might be the 8 or 9, the 10 was played from the Dummy hand, but East covered with the Knave and South won with the Ace. His hopes of making 3 tricks in the club suit were thus frustrated.

South now started to develop the hand. He could count as certain two clubs, probably three hearts, one spade and two diamonds, any other diamond tricks being dependent upon the successful finesse and the distribution of the suit. A small heart was led to the Ace in Dummy, and the suit returned. East played small. South played the Ten, which held. Whether East at this point played an honor or not did not matter, as South, in any event, would make 3 tricks in hearts.

South now attacked the diamond suit, playing a small card from his own hand, intending to finesse the Knave on the return. When East did not follow, the entire makeup of West's hand was revealed. He had held a five-card diamond suit, and as he had chosen to lead clubs against a notrump, he must have held five clubs also. West had already shown two hearts. He should, therefore, have either one spade or none. Thus reading the distribution, South won the fifth trick with the diamond King and then led a small club to the Queen in Dummy. West ducked, Dummy won with the Queen, cashed the Ace of spades and led the last heart from Dummy, which he won with the King. West was then put in the lead with a club and was later compelled to concede the game-going trick in diamonds to South.

A correct reading of the adverse distribution gave South the chance to make an accurate end play. West could not have defeated this play by winning with the King of clubs, as South would then have had the end play in diamonds against West or in spades against East, in any case, assuring the completion of his contract.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a two-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

Today's Question

South is Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♡	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

What should East lead, holding:

♠ 8 5 3 ♡ K Q 9 3 ◇ Q 8 6 2 ♣ 9 4

Answer: 3 of Hearts. Holding four or more cards of partner's suit, the fourth best should be led to show partner the number held. The only exceptions occur against a trump declaration when the Ace or Queen Knave sequence is held. Then the Ace or Queen should be led.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Housewives who have their hands in water during the day's domestic activities find themselves afflicted with painful abrasions in the flesh just above the finger nails. These wounds are annoying and stubborn. To treat them, cut away the dead skin at either side with the curved scissors and cover the cut with adhesive plaster. Use mild soaps and every night massage the hands with lanoline or a massage cream.

Tan has a policy; it sticks to its colors. Some of the gayest of tan collectors are, in the autumn season, the most ambitious tan fighters. Too bad the femmes can't shed their skins like so many snakes, fare forth blithly in a new cuticle suit. Since nature gave us no such beauty endowment the would-be fair ones must fall back on bleaches. A simple one, in the form of a face pack, is made by taking two heaping tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, adding the juice of a lemon and using enough buttermilk to form a paste the consistency of whipped cream. Place on the complexion and neck, cover with a layer of gauze, lay on towels wrung out of hot water. In five minutes remove the pack, dry the skin, use cold cream generously.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Mourning Clothes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please inform me how long a widow should wear mourning for her husband? I detest black, still I feel as though I would not be showing respect to my husband if I wore colors. C.

In these days, when mourning clothes are apt to be very informal and casual, and not at all the "strict mourning" clothes of even a few years ago, there is no reason why you should wear all-black if you have such an aversion against it. By all means lighten its heavy-hearted appearance by the lingerie touches that are so interesting and fashionable and sensible this year. You can do lovely and appropriate things with this black-and-white idea this year. Also there are beautiful black and white prints that would be appropriate and that are becoming to almost everyone.

Then gradually you could change to dark colors, small prints with black or dark brown or dark green backgrounds, and with very conservative patternings in them.

And, now that summer months are coming, remember that all-white is as "deep mourning" as all-black, and take advantage of this fact, especially in the clothes that you wear in the house and in the country.

Show girls with perfect understanding evidently think that all femmes who wear stockings with seams askew are menacing the men with a plague of cross-eyes. Anyway, for that or some other reason, Marion Santre, tagged the best-dressed girl in "Hot-Cha," has started a campaign for straighter seams on the calves. She has enlisted other girls of the same show, too, to assist her in warning women, who cannot see behind them, that there's many a slip between the heel and the knee, and that neatness in the adjustment of hose is just as important as in any other item of dress. Now that you know it, girls, men shall expect to see an improvement in this line.

'Grand Hotel' May Turn Comedy

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syn., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 15.

A grand idea for a motion picture comedy is awaiting Harry Rapf's return to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to win the consent of other studio powers-that-be.

Mr. Rapf would film a burlesque of "Grand Hotel," with all of the company's comics in the cast. Jimmy Durante would be the baron, Charlotte Greenwood the dancer, Polly Moran the stenographer and Buster Keaton the unfortunate Kringelein. Buster, by the way, was once seriously considered for this role in the Goulding picture.

Jimmy Durante

Whatever disposition they make of it, the Rapf idea is original and would be a great laugh-provoker. Unfortunately the question of production can't be decided for at least five weeks—Producer Rapf is a sick man. He is recovering from a nervous breakdown induced by overwork.

GOSSIPS WHISPER

You'd never suspect how many Hollywood stars are going around armed to the teeth for fear of kidnapers. Even this situation, however, has its lighter moments. Last week Gary Cooper's chimpanzee filched a revolver and waved it irresponsibly in front of the Countess De Frasso, who is the tall screen star's frequent companion at Hollywood parties of late. The Countess quite naturally was all gooseflesh at the sight of the revolver, but managed finally to retrieve it without any harm being done . . . Ann Harding, they say, has not been at her hilltop home for the better part of a week. R-K-O doesn't know where she is, or, if it does, won't admit it. According to common report, the blonde star is registering vigorous objections to playing in the out-of-door epic with Richard Dix . . . I can't explain it, either, but several Hollywood actresses are affecting striped patterns on their fingernails . . . You should see the electric train Tallulah Bankhead bought for little Dickie Moore. He can hardly lift it . . . Eddie Sutherland is mourning the death of his grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Ring. A distinguished actress herself, the late Mrs. Ring gave an important family to the stage—Blanche Ring, Frances Ring (Mrs. Tom Meighan) and Julie Ring (Eddie's mother) . . . Roland Brown, one of Hollywood's rebels, looks very dashing these days in a white linen suit, red and white tie with handkerchief to match, and white shoes. But don't be fooled. He can still punch.

KAY, HUBBY SAIL

When you read this, Kay Francis and Kenneth MacKenna will be headed towards Europe, where they expect to spend a leisurely three months vacation. On their schedule are Vienna, the Reinhardt Drama Festival at Salzburg, Paris. (MacKenna went to school there for 15 years), and eventually the Island of Majorca. There they will meet Ken's brother, Joe Mielziner, and his bride, the former Annie Laurie Jacques. This is the same Joe Mielziner, you know, who designed the gorgeous costumes and scenery for Katherine Cornell's production of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Kay Francis

Hollywood's youngest producer of importance, Carl Laemmle, Jr., is putting the hum of industry back into Universal, which has been going at half-speed during the illness of his father and his own absence in the East. Among other things, it looks as if he will cast Gloria Stuart for the feminine lead in that columnist story, which, by latest report, will not be called "Okay, America." He also plans to give petite Sidney Fox the ingenue lead in "Once in a Lifetime." Still another matter to be decided will be the players for "Laughing Boy." Junior personally favors an all-Indian cast, but admits he is making pictures for the public, and doesn't know how they would receive the idea.

Sings

Name La Bennett's New Starring Picture

"What Price Hollywood" has been chosen as the release title for Constance Bennett's RKO Radio picture starring vehicle now in production under the working title of "The Truth About Hollywood," an original screen story by Adela Rogers St. John Hyland, which brings to the screen the story behind the scenes of Hollywood film life. Neil Hamilton plays the principal male role, Lowell Sherman plays the role of a director and Gregory Ratoff appears as a film producer.

Powell Party in New Patio Tonight

Dick Powell, Stanley master of ceremonies, who is making his last appearances in Pittsburgh this week, will be the guest of honor tonight in the New Patio, formerly Sanders Inn, where a farewell party has been arranged for him by Eddie Klein. Stage and radio celebrities in town this week, together with other friends of Powell, are planning to give him a rousing send-off. There will also be several additions to the regular floor show headed by Jerry Blanchard and including Mary Lee and Lischeron and Adams.

Seek Cashiers Who Look Like Stars

A Broadway theater is advertising for cashiers who are exact doubles for feminine motion picture stars. The idea is to install a cashier who resembles Marlene Deitrich or Constance Bennett in the ticket office during the week when the star is appearing on the screen.

Olga Baclanova to Support Gilbert

Olga Baclanova will be seen in support of John Gilbert in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Downstairs," now in production under the direction of Monta Bell. Virginia Bruce has the leading feminine role. Miss Baclanova has played recently in "The Great Lover" and "Freaks."

Rockefeller In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

In his first talking motion picture, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is seen and heard in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News advocating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The younger Rockefeller who had always previously refused to appear before the microphone, reads the salient points of his letter to President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University. Mr. Rockefeller stresses the fact that although he and his relatives have always been teetotalers, he has become convinced that the Eighteenth Amendment is a failure and that drinking has increased two-fold and possibly three-fold under it. He declares he earnestly hopes that both the Republican and Democratic parties will include repeal planks in their election platforms and take the question of prohibition out of partisan politics. The current Hearst Metrotone News is being shown in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters.

SHOW CONVENTION

Scenes of President Hoover's nomination four years ago are presented in connection with the opening of the Republican Convention in Chicago. The delegates are seen and heard cheering after the nomination of Hoover on the first ballot. There are also pictures of Mr. Hoover being officially notified at his home in Palo Alto, Cal.

Sensational pictures made at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, N. J., show the repulse of an imaginary enemy attempting to invade New York harbor. Huge guns of the 52nd Coast Artillery, all mounted on flat cars, hurl tons of steel at targets towed out at sea. Several direct hits are made. The screech of the shells as they fly through the air are plainly heard, and the roar of the mortars is especially impressive. There is a graphic description by The Globe Trotter.

CADETS GRADUATE

Colorful scenes from West Point show the graduation of 262 cadets. The picture ends with the newly commissioned officers singing their alma mater song.

Many track records are seen shattered at the National Collegiate Meet, Stagg Field, Chicago. Jack Keller, Ohio State, lowers the world mark for 220-yard hurdles covering the distance in 22 7-10 seconds. Ralph Metcalf, of Marquette, a young negro, is seen breaking the 220-yard dash record. George Saling, Iowa U., breaks the record for the 120-yard high hurdles dash.

In a blaze of pagaentry and brilliance, the sixty-eighth birthday of King George is celebrated by the ceremony of the trooping of the colors. The King and his sons, all on horseback and escorted by the Horse Guards, review the spectacle.

Carole Lombard Gets Dollar Weekly

For 52 weeks running, Carole Lombard has received an envelope containing a crisp $1 bill. Efforts to trace the sender have failed.

DISPLAY MARKS BICENTENNIAL

The George Washington bicentennial is being observed by McCreery's with a special exhibition of book plate engravings and other displays.

Anita Page, Wally Ford In Same Cast

Anita Page and Wallace Ford have been added by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to the cast of "Skyscraper Souls," now under way on the coast under the direction of Edgar Selwyn. "Skyscraper Souls" is a picturization of the novel, "Skyscraper," by Faith Baldwin, and the cast includes Warren William, Maureen O'Sullivan, Jean Hersholt, Helen Coburn and Norman Foster.

Feminine Lead Goes To Fay Wray

After testing more than 20 actresses for the role, RKO Radio pictures has cast Fay Wray in the feminine lead of "The Most Dangerous Game," the first Merian C. Cooper-Ernest B. Schoedsack productions of a series of adventure and mystery films.

SANITARY NAPKINS (U. S. Pat. No. 1,857,854)

AT LAST! A radically new design in Kotex sanitary protection.

IT is called PHANTOM KOTEX. Why? Because the ends are so flattened and tapered that it leaves no outlines even under the closest fitting gowns.

Kotex features retained

It is soft and comfortable, even after hours of use; wonderfully absorbent; treated to deodorize; can be worn, with equal protection, on either side; disposable, easily.

Insist upon getting genuine Kotex, when you buy it already wrapped. Each tapered end of the new pad is stamped "Kotex" now—so you can't get inferior substitutes. And this new improvement comes to you at no increase in price!

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

EVER SINCE the day I published the story about the man who twice faced a murder charge for killing the same woman, I have been deluged with legal cases of an unusual nature. Some of them are highly involved. Some of them are simple. And some of them are out-and-out gags. I am indebted to Harry Michaels, of Detroit, for the following yarn—and just which type it is, you can judge for yourself:

In a fair-sized town in the Middle West, a newly married couple named Mr. and Mrs. Williams inherited a home that was located very close to a railroad station. After the cooing birds had been comfortably settled for a few months, along came the railroad and attempted to purchase their property.

Said Mr. Williams to Mrs. Williams:

"Those railroad boys are a foxy bunch. But you and I can be just as foxy. They need our property very much because it fits into their scheme of things. We're going to name a very large price and we're going to hold out until they pay us. Does it sound reasonable?"

Said Mrs. Williams to Mr. Williams.

"It certainly does. We'll show them that we can be just as smart as they are. Name a figure that will almost stagger them. And if, in the end, they don't pay us—we haven't lost anything. But something tells me they'll pay. And like it, too."

It was one of the only cases on record where a husband and wife both agreed—and where they were both right. The attorneys for the railroad hemmed and hawed, whatever that might mean, and asserted that their client could afford to pay no such sum for the property. Whereupon Mr. Williams nodded very agreeably.

"That's okay with me," he said. "I'll live where I am. I didn't want to sell the property anyhow."

The railroad, however, persisted in its negotiations. They applied to the courts, but met with no success. And finally, in order to save time and worry, the railroad gave in. The Williams' property was purchased at a price that was almost triple its value.

Husband and wife moved to another home only a short distance from the one they had formerly occupied.

"What did I tell you?" grinned the husband. "We are now in clover. See what happens when you listen to me?"

"What's that?" growled his wife. "I'm the one who made you hold on. If it hadn't been for me you would have sold out immediately. Stop yapping."

So you can readily see what the additional few months had done for Mr. and Mrs. Williams. They were growing closer to the true spirit of husband and wife . . .

But all is not gold that glitters. Before the couple quite realized what had happened, the railroad had turned their former property into something of an engine house. All night long, those huge machines puffed away. Bells rang and whistles shrieked. The couple stood it as long as they could. And then said Mr. Williams to Mrs. Williams:

"Do you know what we're going to do? We're going to sue that railroad. Look at us. We are both nervous wrecks and we are worn out from lack of sleep. We have always been lucky in court and we can certainly lose nothing by trying. Let's sue."

Mrs. Williams agreed again. So, on the following day, the husband filed a $50,000 suit for damages against the railroad. He alleged that the constant turmoil had resulted in nervous breakdowns for him and his wife, and that they were thus rendered physically unfit for work.

In due time, the case came up for trial. It dragged along for a week, and finally came to a conclusion. The jury walked out and came back in 20 minutes with a verdict of $15,000 for Mr. and Mrs. Williams. It later turned out that a few of those jurymen had also been disturbed by those unwelcome noises in the night . . .

Some five years went by, and the railroad came to a sudden decision. That town was not the right spot for the engine house; the proper place was another location some 50 miles away. So, without so much as a how-have-you-been, they they pulled up stakes and left the vicinity.

As soon as Mr. Williams heard the news, he looked at his bank book. Then he looked at his wife.

"Wife of mine," he said, "I have an idea."

"Good," said his wife. "If it concerns the railroad, I'm with you."

So, just two weeks later, the husband once more filed suit against the railroad company for $50,000. He stated that he and his wife had grown so accustomed to the howling noises that they were unable to get their proper rest without the familiar sounds!

"I KNOW we shouldn't talk too much about it," wires Al Schwartz, "but I couldn't resist the temptation to send you the following piece of amazing information.

"Things have become so bad in one of the very exclusive Fifth Avenue clubs that, when I passed through the other day, I saw some of the enthusiasts playing pingpong with fly swatters!"

ACCORDING TO P. L., the boy and the girl had been married about five years. He was working very hard, for he wanted to get somewhere in life. When he first stayed away from home for a night or two each week, it was because he really had much work to do.

As the years went by, however, the work became nothing more than an excuse. He was away from home at least three nights a week now "at the office."

In the mornings when he was home, he looked at his wife and felt sorry for her. She was a good soul and loved him devotedly. She suspected nothing. He was a rat to be acting the way he was. Ah, well—

One evening when he was about to leave his place of business, he was overcome with remorse. Worry tapped at his heart in the remorse code. What was he doing? He had a nice home and a wonderful wife. Where could he find the same things again in life?

Suddenly he made up his mind. He had told his wife that he would be working that night. Now he would surprise her by going home. She would be so happy! He would take her in his arms and tell her that he loved her.

He reached his home. Around the door was a large crowd. An ambulance came clanging up. Curiously, the husband rushed to the door.

He saw the body of his wife. She had leaped to her death from the window of their apartment to the rear courtyard below. Weeping and wailing, they led him to his apartment that was now so empty and lonesome and cold.

On the table he found a note from his wife. It was a very short note. And it was addressed to him.

"Dearest," it said, "I cannot go on. I am not worthy of you." . . .

G. O. P. KEYNOTE SPEECH 'FLOP,' SAYS ROGERS

by. I hailed him and asked him why he was walking out. He said:

"He is breaking my heart."

Then he got to the budget and Ogden Mills comes rushing by. Ogden says:

"I hope he can balance it. I can't."

When he got to the disarmament part, by comes Assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy. He says:

"You can sure disarm oratorically anyhow."

Pat Hurley was really the first to walk out on him. Pat left on the opening paragraph which was:

"Three score and twelve years ago, our nation was saved by the Republican party."

Well, Pat's got too much humor for that. So we went out and got a hot dog and had our picture taken with Bill Skelly, another Oklahoman.

Postmaster General Brown was sitting where he couldn't get out so he went to sleep. Secretary Wilbur—who I afterwards went around and called on—he and his wife and I talked about our boys at Stanford. I asked him why he stuck. He said:

CHATS WITH 'ALICE'

Found "Alice" and had a big chat with her during the speech. (That's when everybody did their visiting—it was just like an intermission). Alice was looking fine only she had the whooping cough. Had caught it from her little daughter, Paulina Longworth. She was trying her best to give it to all the stand-pat Republicans she could. And I was cheering her on.

The show run for about an hour, then somebody happened to tell Simeon Fess that an invocation had not been delivered, and that if the .epublicans hoped to get any of the church vote they had better have a little prayer.

The Mayor of Chicago welcomed the delegates and tried to sell 'em a lot, and said everybody would have protection while here. It was after he finished that they thought of the prayer.

G. O. P. SPIRITUALS

Silas Strawn thanked somebody for bringing the convention here, but he didn't get a hand from any one from Chicago.

Ninety-six pall bearers all dressed in black, with black ties to match, from Columbus, O., sat right behind the speakers. They afterwards developed into a glee club and sang Republican spirituals. Some soldiers marched in with flags, stopped in front of the stand, but Senator Fess wouldn't let 'em stay there long. He was afraid they would ask for the bonus so he shooed 'em on out.

A woman with roses in her arms sang the Star Spangled Banner, which was a great improvement over any convention I ever saw.

Dickinson is a good orator, under different conditions, and on a subject that he could really feel. Funny thing he didn't mention Coolidge's name, but neither did he mention prohibition. He said there was twice as many men in jail as when Mr. Hoover went into office. We couldn't tell if he was referring to prohibition or politicians who had been caught.

HUNT SPEECH-WRITER

Today they are offering $1,000 for the author of the speech, dead or alive. Dickinson swears he didn't write it, that it was slipped under his door at night, and that he had to deliver it.

Louis B. Mayer, a power in our movies, and a power in California Republicanism, came along and I chatted with him during the speech. I accused him of stealing it out of Metro-Goldlyn-Mayer's scenario department that had been sent in as a comedy. Louis said he didn't, but that he would buy it and take it back.

Floyd Gibbons and I fought the Chinese war over again and wished we was back where something really happens. Congressman Tilson, of Connecticut, earned himself undying fame by asking 'em to please adjourn. What in the world they can possibly do now only a clairvoyant can tell. This convention should have been put on between sessions of the Democrats.

(Copyright, 1932, McNaught Synd., Inc.)

Women Urge G. O. P. To Uphold Dry Law

Allegheny County's W. C. T. U. today in a telegram had urged the Republican convention to "stand by the Constitution," including the Eighteenth Amendment, Mrs. R. A. Hutchison, secretary, announced. The telegram, agreed upon at the union's quarterly meeting in Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church, was addressed to Senator Simeon D. Fess.

17 Husbands Freed To Support Wives

Husbands who have been held in the workhouse, some since last October, scored a victory today when Judge Richard A. Kennedy turned 17 of them loose.

They were being held for failure to support their wives, and Judge Kennedy warned them that if they didn't meet this condition he'd return them to the workhouse.

Graduation Held By Y. M. C. A. School

The seventh annual commencement of the Central Preparatory School of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. was held last night. Henry Russell Miller, chairman of the educational committee, presented the diplomas. There was an exhibit of work done by members of the graduating class and alumni of the school.

Snell's Speech as G. O. P. Chairman

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP.)—A portion of the text of the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell, permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, to its delegates follows:

"Victory has come to the Republican party because victory has been earned.

"The nation has been safe when the Republican party has been in control of the government. It has never been safe when Republicans were not on guard.

"Everywhere, outside of the Republican party, is confusion and chaos. The only sound and united public sentiment of the United States is represented in this convention.

"The Democratic party is fatally weak because it does not command the support or confidence of the nation and because it is utterly lacking in team work.

Democrats Assailed

"The Democrats have a minority complex which they cannot change. As a fault-finding caviling minority opposition they are 100 per cent perfect. As a driving, constructive majority they are a 100 per cent failure.

"As proof of this I need not recall to your mind the false gods they have pursued for over a century; the panaceas they have proposed and a wise people have rejected. Events of the past five months furnish abundant evidence of their failure.

"Accepting their promises at face value, the country placed them in charge of the House of Representatives. They had assured the nation that if given this power, they would restore economic equilibrium. This much must be stated to their credit; as long as they followed the leadership of the one man in America who has furnished leadership in this great crisis—Herbert Hoover—they functioned in splendid fashion.

"But when they set out to carry forward their own program they exhibited colossal incapacity, hopeless division and disintegration with the result that there was a complete collapse of their party machinery.

Tragic Breakdown

"As tragic as is the breakdown of a great political party, had the party alone suffered the situation would not have been so bad. But it was the country; the whole people of these United States, who suffered.

"With this record behind it in this grave hour of national distress, the Democratic party is about to ask the country to accept a candidate whose identity is still unknown, standing upon a platform whose planks will probably contradict themselves. The nation is to be asked to accept confusion as a national policy and disorder as a rule of government.

"The Democratic party has as many wings as it has candidates, and certainly its candidates are legion. These wings do not flap together, they flap against each other.

"My countrymen, the solidarity of the Republican party in this crisis means the salvation of the United States.

"If this country is to be governed with judgment and prudence, the Republican party must do the job.

"Call the roll of presidents from Lincoln to Hoover. The illustrious names of Republican presidents are an epitome of the history of the United States.

"In Lincoln's day the people stood loyally by their president, who brought them out of the shadow of disunion. In Hoover's day the people stand loyally by their president, who is bringing the country out of the shadow of vast economic adversity.

"No man living or dead has had to grapple with such gigantic problems at home and abroad.

"No man living or dead has fought world wide economic adversity with so stout a heart and so deep an understanding.

"No man living or dead has had such tremendous calls from home and abroad upon his energies and his unusual resources.

"No man living or dead has given so unreservedly of his experience, intelligence and leadership as has Herbert Hoover.

Washington, as an engineer, solved stupendous and vexatious problems for the benefit of mankind.

'War of Defense'

"President Hoover's mind is the mind of an engineer. He first gets his facts and then he acts. No engineer has attained success by deciding his problems on a basis of expedience. Equivocation is directly contrary to the fundamentals of the profession.

"We are now engaged in a war of defense. We are fighting under the leadership of the most capable citizen in the United States. Already he has gained many battles, and the victorious end of the war is nearly in sight.

"You know the record. You know the battles he has already won."

Somerset Cashier Ends Life in Bank

SOMERSET, Pa., June 15.—(AP.)—Simon Friedline, 54, assistant cashier of the Farmers National Bank of Somerset, was found shot to death in the bank today.

The body lay in a rear room with a pistol beside it. He apparently killed himself.

OBITUARY

Mrs. William Mitchell McKee

Funeral services for Mrs. William Mitchell McKee, who died on Tuesday afternoon at 5:25, will be held at her home, 223 Tennyson avenue, Schenley Farms, on Friday at 3 p. m. (4) There is a total of 148 prizes in the Sun-Telegraph Movie Lovers contest. The maximum amount to be paid out in prizes is $2,500.00—the smallest amount is $525.00. There will be only one first prize awarded, one second prize, etc. In other words, a contestant submitting the largest and neatest number of correct answers, according to the rules, will receive the first prize regardless of what class he or she is in, but the amount to be paid such prize winner will be determined by the class he or she is in. The same rule applies to each of the 148 prizes. In case of tie, contestant so tied will be paid an equal amount of the prize for which they are tied—subject to the above classification rule.

(5) It is not necessary to buy a copy of the Sun-Telegraph in order to compete for these prizes, but it is absolutely necessary that each contestant shall have on file in the office of the Sun-Telegraph an enrollment or registration blank, form of which may be clipped or copied from the Sun-Telegraph. Please pay particular attention to this stipulation. In the meantime, if you prefer, tracings of the contest pictures will be accepted and for this purpose you may have free access to the files of the Sun-Telegraph at the Sun-Telegraph office or at the leading public libraries.

(6) The Contest Editor's decision on all matters pertaining to this contest is absolutely final and legally binding and this is an express condition accepted by the entrant in filling the enrollment or registration blank.

(7) The contest will close at midnight Friday, August 5, 1932. All sets of pictures and lists of answers must be delivered to the office of the Sun-Telegraph by mail or by hand before midnight Friday, August 12th. Entries received later than this date, governed by the postmark or the time of the hand delivery, will not be considered. Address your entry SUN-TELEGRAPH MOVIE LOVERS CONTEST EDITOR, POSTOFFICE BOX 594, PITTSBURGH, PA.

AN ANSWER TO MANY LETTERS

NOTE: We have received many letters asking when to turn in subscriptions in cases where entrants have elected to qualify in Class B or Class C. It is important to do this at once. Your new subscribers will expect immediate delivery of the Sun-Telegraph and if they have the paper, day by day, they will undoubtedly assist you in finding the correct answers for the contest pictures as they appear. So, don't hold the subscriptions. Send them in at once and then you will be fully enrolled in the classification you select.

STATE DELEGATION IN NEW CLASH ON PROHIBITION; SECOND VOTE SET

adoption of the resolution, and was seconded by Mackrell. It was adopted by a vote of 55 to 17, Charles P. Howe and C. L. Kelly being the Allegheny Countians in the negative. All of Philadelphia voted for the resolution. As a prelude to debate, Martin ordered that only two minutes of discussion be permitted, one minute for each side. Former Senator M. C. Leslie and Mackrell leaped to their feet and resented any effort to gag the delegates. Leslie said:

Mackrell interjected:

"This question has to be fought out, and we might as well fight it out now. The meeting of the convention this morning is only perfunctory, and I insist that we instruct our member of the national resolutions committee to insist upon repeal. I want to make that motion."

ADJOURNMENT MOVED

Senator John J. McClure, Pennsylvania member of the resolutions committee, moved an adjournment while Mackrell was on his feet talking, and Martin closed the meeting. The whole subject will be broken open again this afternoon when the platform as provided by the resolutions committee will probably be ready and will be before the delegates for consideration at another caucus.

Unless that platform contains a direct recommendation for repeal, a number of Pennsylvania delegates will join with other states in a fight on the subject on the floor of the convention, probably tonight. This afternoon's caucus is to be a heated affair, with Mackrell, Kaufmann, James H. Duff and others insisting that the repeal fight shall go on, and demanding that the delegation take a stand for that principle.

Mackrell asserted this morning that he had been denied a promised hearing, but that "though the steam-roller ran over me, I'm not crushed, and we shall have this fight in the open before we get through."

Today's resolution was a face-saving effort of the Pennsylvania leadership to sugar the action of yesterday's morning caucus, which various delegates declared should not have been permitted to act on prohibition, a promise having been made them that the subject would not come up until afternoon. There were charges hurled that today's resolution was a straddle, Safety Director James M. Clark throwing in the teeth of Philadelphia the history of the 1930 gubernatorial fight when Francis Shunk Brown straddled on the prohibition question and was defeated by Gifford Pinchot through a liberal party uprising.

CLARK'S STAND

Clark said:

"I can consistently vote for this resolution. But no man here who voted for resubmission yesterday can. I'm for repeal. I am opposed to every resolution adopted yesterday. I know what prohibition has done. I know the way arrests for drunkenness have leaped in my own city. I am surprised that Philadelphia could vote for such a thing as it did yesterday. Why try to straddle again after what happened to you two years ago?"

Sheriff Richard Weiglein, of Philadelphia, who has been rebellious because of the action of Hazelett yesterday in ordering a vote for resubmission, chimed in with Clark. He said:

"It is true we lost the governorship by straddling the issue in 1930. William S. Vare was elected on an anti-prohibition plank in 1926, when his attitude was a lot less popular than it is now. Senator James J. Davis suffered what might be termed a change of conviction on the subject and was overwhelmingly elected in April. It is no time to straddle, and I am for repeal."

Mackrell demanded of Martin:

"Does this resolution commit our member of the resolutions committee to repeal?"

"No."

Mackrell said:

"Then I'm not satisfied to stop here."

Kaufman cut in:

"Neither am I. We have to say whether we stand for repeal or resubmission. Yesterday the caucus said it was resubmission; today we tell the state committee we are for repeal, but we aren't telling the convention that."

PECULIAR POSITION

Today's resolution, if there is a refusal this afternoon to make a platform declaration for repeal, leaves some of the Pennsylvania delegates in a peculiar position. In statements afterward Mackrell and others said the state committee could ignore the caucus, pointing out that it did not have courage to tell the national party something it was trying to tell the state. On the roll call today Martin declined to vote, saying his position as state chairman required that he take no stand at this time, but that he would abide by the will of the majority.

It is evident that national leaders are fearful that delegates will get out of hand on prohibition, which was the reason Mackrell was gaveled down this morning. While all the anti-prohibitionists in the delegation were satisfied with today's resolution, welcoming an opportunity to declare for repeal, they mean to go ahead with the fight, and the result may be widespread disruption in Pennsylvania politics.

The warfare within the Pennsylvania delegation has attracted national attention, and Allegheny County is holding the center of the stage. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, a delegate from New York, has been in conference with Allegheny countians on a proposition to bring the question of repeal to the floor of the convention, if necessary.

BUTLER CONSULTED

During yesterday's session Butler and Mackrell conferred and the Pittsburgher repeated the pledge that in an open fight a substantial number of Pennsylvanians would stand for complete repeal.

Yesterday afternoon's caucus was a heated affair. It was called after the Allegheny Countians declared Martin had ignored an implied pledge to delay action on prohibition until after adjournment of the first convention session.

Any delegate who wished to attend was invited. Eighteen accepted, including the 10 from Allegheny, Burns, Kaufman, Charles Dorrance, of Scranton, and Mrs. Hanna Durham, alternate-at-large, holding the proxy of National Committeeman Jay Cooke. There were no Philadelphians present, though several had expressed a desire to attend. They remained away on instructions from Hazlett.

Newspaper men representing the nation's press covered the caucus, which was called to order by Mackrell. The Pittsburgher said the absence of Martin made it imperative that he "usurp" the duties of temporary chairman, and he suggested that Bonitz be named to preside, with Harry McWhinney, of the Thirty-fourth District, as secretary.

REPUDIATE CAUCUS

Mackrell declared that the Pittsburghers were meeting at the hour when they had been told the subject of prohibition would be discussed. He declined to recognize the action of the morning caucus as binding on any delegate.

Former Senator Horace Schantz, of Lehigh County, member of the Pennsylvania resolutions committee, a wringing wet who had aided in reporting the resubmission plank ignoring repeal, explained the action of his committee.

Pennsylvania Drys To Keep Up Fight

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League today sent a telegram signed by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, president of the national organization, to the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican national convention, accepting the "challenge" of the anti-drys. The telegram read:

"The Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League accepts the challenge of the wets. We will fight to the last ditch for the preservation of the Eighteenth Amendment. Only constitutional methods should be sanctioned by any party in dealing with proposed constitutional changes."

HEATING GROUP NOMINATES

E. E. Dubry, of Detroit, today was nominated for presidency of the National District Heating Association, at its convention in William Penn Hotel, with the formal election scheduled Friday.

Nominations were announced following reading of committee reports on station operations at the morning session. Other officers nominated without opposition were: First vice president, J. E. Hillemeyer, St. Louis; second vice president, William J. Baldwin, Jr., New York; third vice president F. G. Fitzgerald, Indianapolis, and secretary-treasure, D. L. Gaskill, Greenville, O.

W. W. Stevenson, of Pittsburgh, retiring president, was named for the executive committee with M. D. Engle, Boston, and L. G. Killen, Dayton. The annual golf tournament was being staged this afternoon at the Edgewood Country Club, to be followed by a manufacturers' round table session tonight. The annual banquet will be held tomorrow night.

Independents Elect 14th Ward Chairman

Harry W. Studt was elected chairman of the Fourteenth Ward Independent Republicans at a meeting last night in Wightman School, Solway street. Other officers are Mrs. Mary V. C. Finley, vice chairman; Samuel B. Wright, secretary, and Miss Sarah McClelland, treasurer.

G. O. P. Resubmission Plank Drafted

proval of President Hoover, the full resolutions committee, the larger delegations and the convention itself. It was possible it might be amended at any one of these steps.

At 11 o'clock this morning the sleepy-eyed "committee of sixteen" returned to the conference room in the Congress Hotel to sell their two-way plank to the full resolutions committee. At the very outset they encountered opposition, when the New Jersey delegation sent word it would not accept the plank. The New Jersey group was among the states demanding an outright repeal plank. Then follows Bingham's proposal.

A controversy also developed between Ambassador Edge, of New Jersey, and Secretary of the Treasury Mills over the vote taken by the "committee of sixteen" four hours earlier. Edge insisted the vote had not been unanimous, while Mills said he didn't hear a single objection.

Edge said:

"I voted 'no' and I heard several other 'noes.'"

Mills countered:

"I have good ears, and I didn't detect a single 'no.'"

Under the tentative draft, the Eighteenth Amendment would be resubmitted to state conventions, promptly and specially called under Article V of the Constitution to deal with the prohibition problem.

The substitute plan of control was included so that a "single uniform law"—as suggested in the Pennsylvania plan—would be on the federal statute books should the Eighteenth Amendment be repealed. This control would be lodged in Congress by the same proposed constitutional amendment, necessary to repeal the Eighteenth.

The recommendation for the substitute plan would empower Congress to "regulate the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes in the United States."

The whole change would be merely to strike the "prohibitory clause" from the Constitution and invest in the federal government a "regulatory" power over alcoholic beverages.

If the plank is approved by the convention, it will mean that President Hoover made definite concessions to the drys. The first tentative draft that met his approval carried no alternate plan for controlling the alcoholic liquor traffic in event the Eighteenth Amendment were repealed. The first plank met immediate attack from the drys, who declared a chaotic condition would ensue with no federal control over old king alcohol.

The President was reported as intent upon keeping the support of the drys. This would account for his lieutenants fighting for a two-way plank — submitting the question to repeal but proposing a new system of control in event of repeal.

The compromise plank was completed, along with other parts of the platform, after the platform writers had been in session for eight hours and 30 minutes. During the early morning hours there was plenty of argument in the conference room, some of the speakers shouting so loudly they could be heard out in the adjoining corridors.

At one point, Ambassador Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, shouted:

"It is the duty of the Republican party to let the states that want liquor have it, because we will not force liquor on the states that don't want it."

Edge appeared angered by the dry opposition in the sub-committee, and added:

"If the Republican party declares for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, we will win 3 to 1."

EDGE INTERRUPTED

Another conferee interrupted him to ask:

"What will happen if we repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and let each state adopt its own system of liquor control?"

Then, answering his own question, the speaker added:

"Only chaos will result."

Wirt Franklin, the Oklahoma oil man, who sat as proxy for Secretary of War Hurley, protested against having any phrase in the plank submitting the issue to state conventions. He recited how it had cost Oklahoma $139,000 to stage a primary election in that state last year.

Senator Hastings also opposed the convention idea, which was warmly supported by the anti-drys. He warned:

"There will be real trouble in getting the machinery set up for conventions.

"I don't see why the drys objected to it and I can't understand why the wets propose it. It really gives the drys two chances at defeating repeal. First, the wets must win their point in the legislatures of three-fourths of the states in order to get the legislation necessary to hold the conventions.

"Then, the wets must win in the conventions.

"But I regard it as a silly mistake for either the wets or drys to adopt such a plan for submitting the question to the people."

MILLS PROTESTS

Secretary of the Treasury Mills also protested against including the convention idea in the plank. He said:

"Everybody is looking for a trick in this platform. If you bring out a plank with this (submission to conventions) in it, everybody will say: 'Ah, you see, there's their trick.'"

Another member of the sub-committee protested vigorously against the dual proposition—repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and proposal of a new plan of liquor control. The speaker shouted:

"We ought to recommend one proposition. If we include an alternative, we will never get it ratified. Some states will ratify one part of it; some states will ratify the other. And neither will ever be ratified."

Gov. Fred W. Green, of Michigan, protested against the substitute plan. He insisted it was a subject that should be put up to Congress. Green said:

"This is only a recommendation of the Republican party. Congress is going to consider it and it will vote as it sees fit. If we put up a substitute to Congress, it will do what it pleases."

Finally Chairman Garfield made an impassioned speech to his 15 colleagues, pleading with them to adopt the compromise.

GROUP WARNED

He warned the sub-committee it could not adjourn without agreeing on a prohibition plank. Some other members replied to him briefly, but the interruptions only served to spur him to further appeals for a compromise. Finally the voices died down and the conferees could be seen writing the compromise. Garfield said:

"In my opinion we have reached the solution of a very digicult problem—a solution which is going to be extremely valuable to use in the four months to come."

A little later, the wan-looking debaters filed out of the conference room and started to their hotels for a brief nap before the full committee session began.

The little group of platform writers was hand-picked by the President, so its recommendations will be entirely sympathetic to the administration's wishes.

Aside from the resubmission plank on prohibition, other planks included praise for President Hoover's fiscal policies during the economic crisis, a declaration against cancellation of war debts, a demand for a farm loan bill and for the strengthening of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as measures of unemployment relief. There was a specific protest against federal bond issues for other than self-liquidating construction projects.

The full resolutions committee met first yesterday, holding public hearings for about three hours to hear all platform recommendations. The anti-drys were there to demand an outright repeal plank, while all the various planks, urged by different delegations, were read to the assembly.

GREEN WITNESS

The last "witness" was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. He urged a nation-wide public works program to relieve unemployment, indorsed the five-day week and asked an adjustment of working hours (the furlough plan) to take up unemployment slack. He said the party should recommend that Congress appropriate large sums for public improvements, the building of highways and like projects.

Then the full resolutions committee met briefly to hear the final recommendations from representatives of various delegations. One delegate announced it was "of little use" to pass along his recommendations "since the platform has been written in Washington and will be handed to you, completed, to be approved."

POLITICS

Pa. Group Somersaults On Issue of Repeal

—By MARK SHIELDS—

CHICAGO, June 15—Here is one newspaperman whose trusting confidence in political human nature is completely shattered. Over a period of years this trust often has been severely tried, and there have been occasions when one wondered if there was any dependence at all to be put in the integrity and interpretation of the political word.

Mr. Shields

When you write politics you soon lose the belief there is a Santa Claus.

However, there has never been such a signal illustration of how quickly political leaders can shift ground as occurred among some Pennsylvanians on the subject of prohibition here in Chicago, an issue which the leaders attempt to persuade the delegates can be faced while looking over the left shoulder.

Within 12 hours there was a complete reversal on the part of the Philadelphia organization, a complete repudiation of an attitude expressed by City Chairman James M. Hazlett over his own signature, and purporting to be the militant and irrevocable orders of William S. Vare, the Philadelphia boss.

Perhaps this will be interpreted as an alibi for stories appearing in the morning papers of yesterday, and in the early editions of afternoon newspapers. If it is, then it is an alibi for every newspaperman in Pennsylvania, for all predicted that the delegation would declare for complete repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and modification of the Volstead act.

The basis for this prediction was an unequivocal attitude expressed by Hazlett, after a telephonic conversation with William S. Vare, and a pronouncement by eight members of the Allegheny County delegation that they supported the same principles.

To this was joined the unquestioned fact that there is repeal sentiment in many districts represented by delegates who assert they are spokesmen for their people but who overnight discovered that by some marvelous word-mongering they could adopt a platform of resubmission of the question of the Eighteenth Amendment—without the least expression of antipathy to the law—and make their people believe they were for repeal.

New Kensington Mayor Scores Double-Crossing

No one better summed up the entire situation than Mayor Dan Burns, of New Kensington, at the caucus yesterday afternoon of the Allegheny County delegation. Burns, a pronounced wet, minced no language. He said delegates who refused repeal after the vote of the April primary in favor of U. S. Senator James J. Davis were double-crossing the state.

He shot at the pussyfooting of the national administration by warning that no man was bigger than the Republican party—referring to President Hoover—and voiced suspicions of the speed with which the Pennsylvania comittee on resolutions had acted after promising to delay a verdict.

Burns actually jeered at Philadelphia, with whose leadership he has often been in sympathy and co-operation. He said:

"At night you give newspapermen a statement that you are boldly for repeal and modification, and the next morning you abandon repeal completely."

There are various stories afloat as to why the committee expedited its report, and as to why the caucus—with the majority of Allegheny countians absent—junked repeal yesterday morning. It is a known fact that the state resolutions committee was ready to report Monday night, and would have reported something which the delegates would have turned into a repeal movement.

Decision Delayed After Burke's Appeal

James Francis Burke, acting as White House spokesman, and through contact with State Chairman Martin and Senator John J. McClure, pleaded for delay while the Hoover circle decided what it would do. It was for this reason that the arrangement was made that no action should be taken until late yesterday.

Overnight the Hoover circle made up its mind. Then the strategy changed and Burke and Martin wanted things rushed. They succeeded.

There were no copies of the resolutions offered. Many of the Philadelphia delegates actually believed they were voting for repeal, taking Hazlett's orders to support the recommendations as carrying out his pledge of the night before that Philadelphia was for complete repeal and modification.

They were annoyed when they found they had been sold out and had voted for a meaningless resubmission resolution. Somewhere along the line Hazlett had followed Martin rather than Vare.

Martin and McClure were intensely interested in the reaction to the verdict of the caucus. During the afternoon they attempted to persuade members that "the right thing had been done." While there were complete denials that advantage had been taken of anyone, there was a noticeably furtive air about the conduct of state committee leaders.

They had sucked the eggs, but they weren't sure they had successfully concealed the shells.

20-CENT FARE TO DOWNTOWN PROPOSED

Railways Subsidiary, With 30-Cent Rate, Opposes Application Before P. S. C.

Scores of residents from the Homestead district packed the Public Service Commission rooms today supporting the petition of Bamford Brothers for extension of its certificate of operation so its buses may carry passengers from Homestead, Munhall and adjacent communities into Downtown Pittsburgh.

The petition is being opposed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, claiming the Bamford line would be unfair competition, and charging that it is now violating its state certificate by carrying passengers over the Munhall-Homestead-Pittsburgh route.

The Bamford's original certificate of operation gave them the right to carry passengers from the Munhall-Homestead district to downtown. This was amended by the Public Service Commission last September to its present limitations upon petition of other carrier companies.

Under its present license, the Bamford line can carry passengers only from Munhall to the South Side and from the Becks Run district Downtown.

The Bamford line has a 20-cent fare on both its routes, and it is understood that this will continue as the maximum charge if permission is granted to extend service from Munhall to the Downtown district.

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, operating over a shorter route, charges 30 cents from Homestead to Pittsburgh.

Manufacturers' Men To Picnic Saturday

Mr. Kolb

The Pittsburgh Association of Manufacturers' Representatives will hold their annual picnic at the Pines, Perry highway, Ross Township, Saturday afternoon. C. A. Kolb, of the General Food Sales Corporation, is president of the association, which is composed of representatives of leading food manufacturers. George E. Ander, of the Kellogg Company, is chairman of the picnic entertainment committee.

Traffic Committee To Consider Subway

The Better Traffic Committee will meet at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow to consider the downtown subway, traffic conditions in the Liberty tubes, accident reporting procedure, an accident prevention squad and the formation of a traffic officers' school. Edward Snodgrass, Jr., vice chairman of the committee, will explain the proposed subway.

Brunette Wins Over Blonde in Secretary Tilt

MISS ERMA JEFFREYS

Faculty at Academy Names Dark-Eyed Girl Winner

The ideal secretary isn't a blonde!

At least the faculty of the School of Business, Pittsburgh Academy, so decided in selecting Erma Jeffreys, an attractive brown-eyed miss from among 50 girl graduates of this year's class as a 100 per cent stenographer.

She was held to excel in all points forming the basis of judgment, including business personality, ability, co-operation, dependability, appearance, general intelligence and scholarship.

Miss Jeffreys, who is 18, and resides at 1108 West End avenue, Edgewood, won the $5 gold piece annually awarded by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Pittsburgh.

She and other Academy graduates will receive diplomas at commencement exercises in Carnegie Lecture Hall, tomorrow night. Alfred Booth, of Beechview avenue, and William Schaefer, of Pressley street, won first and second oratorical prizes.

Woman Wills $20,500 To Missions, Kin

Mrs. Ella M. Gilson, of Castle Shannon, by her will, probated yesterday, left the residue of her $20,500 estate to the boards of Home and Foreign Missions and Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church. She provided a bequest of $8,000 to her husband, H. O. Gilson, also given a life estate in the family home, with the remainder to a daughter, Elsie K. Gilson.

DR. KERR RAPS REPEAL STAND OF JOHN D.

Pastor Asks Dry Foes for Substitute Plan in Reply To Letter of Rockefeller

Championing repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment without offering a substitute is "political bankruptcy," the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside Presbyterian Church, speaking as president of the Presbyterian board of Christian Education, declares in reply to the letter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., advocating repeal.

Incidentally, Dr. Kerr, a former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, has as one of his parishoners, Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, now in Chicago demanding a repeal plank in the Republican platform.

ASKS FOR SUBSTITUTE

"The right to work and vote in behalf of the repeal of the amendment is inalienable.

"What those of us who support the amendment ask is, what do you suggest as a constructive substitute?

"To champion repeal without offering something to take the place of the present law, except a return to the old saloon order, is not statesmanship; it is political bankruptcy.

"The Wickersham Commission . . . did not agree, but it voted nine to two against mere repeal. It voted nine to two to conserve the gains which have been made and against returning to pre-prohibition legislation. It voted nine to two that the United States government must not go into the liquor business. The wet press has obscured the findings of the commission.

BLAMES STATES

"It is not difficult to criticise the present condition under the prohibition law. This condition is largely due to lack of co-operation on the part of the states in the enforcement of the present law.

"If after the repeal has been submitted to the people and voted upon, and if it is proved that the country does not wish to repeal the law but stands by the present law, will those who now oppose the law honestly and frankly support it after such resubmission?"

INSPECTING THE WABASH TUNNEL

COUNTY COMMISSIONER W. D. MANSFIELD'S INSPECTION TOUR OF TUNNEL, BRIDGE TODAY

Commissioner Mansfield's visit to the Wabash Railroad bridge and tunnel as the guest of downtown businessmen favoring its county-purchase as a South Hills traffic artery. The gasoline speeder lighted the tunnel as it preceded the locomotive-pushed railroad car. Commissioners McGovern and Barr couldn't attend. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

TUBE EXAMINED BY MANSFIELD

County Commissioner W. D. Mansfield today inspected the Wabash Bridge and tunnel as guest of a committee of downtown business men who favor the purchase of the property as a traffic artery to the South Hills.

Commissioners Charles C. McGovern and C. M. Barr were unable to be present. The special car bearing the party was pushed through the tunnel and was preceded by a gasoline speeder, from which lights were played on the walls.

On the trip were: Commissioner Mansfield; W. T. Rees, chief clerk of the County Commissioners' office; Mortimer B. Lesher of the County Solicitor's office; Walter Rosenbaum, A. H. Burchfield, Sr., and J. P. Finley of the business group; John M. Rice, John Sharp, Dan B. Dougherty and H. H. Temple, chief engineer for the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad.

Body of Drowning Victim Recovered

The body of Peter Barpman, 27, of 1010 Jones avenue, North Braddock, who was drowned Monday while bathing in the Monongahela River at the foot of Eighth street, Braddock, was recovered by police last night.

CLOSED SUNDAY FACES TOWN

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 15.—A war against tobacco stores, ice cream parlors and filling stations that served patrons on Sunday, was promised today by Manager L. T. Houghton, of the Orpheum motion picture theater, who was fined for giving a Sunday movie.

Houghton, with Miss Dorothy McClintock, ticket seller, and Willis Culnac, picture operator, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace G. E McVey, charged with violating the Blue laws. Each pleaded guilty and was fined $4.06 and $3.25 costs.

Franklin authorities have indicated that they will not join in the fight. Council has deferred action until July. County Detective Chester Beatty, who made the informations, said he was acting on information furnished by citizens protesting Sunday pictures.

Radio arguments on the question "Resolved that Pennsylvania's Sunday Law Should Be Repealed," will be presented by Attorney Charles F. C. Arensberg and the Rev. James McQuilkin, pastor of the Carnegie United Presbyterian Church over station WCAE Friday night.

Attorney Arensberg, speaking for the affirmative, will be heard Friday night for a seven-minute period, followed by the Rev. McQuilkin, between 10 and 10:15 p. m. The rebuttal will be over the same station the following night from 8 to 8:15 o'clock, the Rev. McQuilkin speaking first.

Sunday Movies Lose At Wellsburg Polls

WELLSBURG, W. Va., June —(AP.)—Sunday movies were disapproved in a referendum yesterday. The vote was 849 to 740.

Democrats and Republicans split in the election of four members of Council, two candidates of each party being chosen. James Barnes, a Republican, was elected city clerk.

COSTS UNPAID, WOMAN JAILED

Miss Anna O. Cofsky, Smithfield street optometrist, spent last night in the county jail because she would not pay about $100 costs assessed against her recently. In committing her President Judge Elder W. Marshall said:

"The court's information is that Miss Cofsky said she would rot in jail before she would pay these costs. If she wants to rot we will have to let her rot."

She spent 10 days in jail early in May, and was released upon paying $104 commonwealth costs, arranging to pay the remainder through the parole office. The sum to which she objects represents the traveling expenses of her sister-in-law, Bessie Yatkofsky, of New York, to the trial.

Miss Cofsky had prosecuted Mrs. Yatkofsky, charging her with embezzlement of $10,000 from the estate of her brother, Ruben Yatkofsky. The jury found Bessie not guilty and placed the costs on Anna, the prosecutor.

100 Fire Companies To Attend Meeting

Approximately 100 fire companies are expected to take part in the annual convention of Allegheny County firemen to be held in Stowe Township June 18-25. The meeting will be featured by water battles, truck racing and a parade.

Pittsburgher Tells Travel Adventures

Emmill R. Blake, of Pittsburgh, was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. International Club last night. He described exploits in South America on a tour of exploration in which he was shipwrecked.

MORE EVIDENCE TO BE TAKEN BY RIORDAN

Waivers of Immunity to Be Demanded of All Who Seek to Answer Charges

Resting from their work of questioning present and former county employes regarding the use of county labor and materials on private jobs, county investigators today were rounding up more witnesses to be heard tomorrow and Friday. By the first of next week it is hoped that time will be available to hear the explanations of county officials named in the charges made before the investigators.

Leo G. Riordan, chief county investigator, postponed the questioning yesterday after four witnesses had been heard. He announced that many leads are being followed and that more statements will be taken tomorrow and Friday.

Anyone named in statements will be given opportunity to explain or to deny the allegations, Riordan said, although waivers of immunity must be signed by everyone who wishes to be heard.

Regional Meeting For Insurance Men

A joint regional meeting of insurance agents of Allegheny County will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel tomorrow night when Paul L. Hald, president of the Fire Insurance Executives' Association, will be the principal speaker. Arrangements for the meeting are being made by a committee headed by Kenneth H. Bair, president of the Pennsylvania Association of Insurance Agents.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CHICAGO, June 15.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, it's just like I told you yesterday. Poor old Charley Curtis is to be tommyhawked in the back.

Will Rogers

Three months ago they asked him to sit tight with 'em another term, but just like they took the country from the Indians, they won't let this old "Injun" even have a seat.

Charley Dawes will be your Vice President. Now Charley Dawes' own kin folks don't think any more of him than I do. I am and always have been crazy about Dawes. He is able, and incidentally, he has had nothing to do with ambushing of poor "Lo." It's just an old Republican custom. They needed some votes and Dawes can get 'em more than anybody else. So he will be drafted for the job.

So Dawes starts his career all over again, goes to the Vice Presidency, then from there to the Ambassadorship of Great Britain. Then again in the fall of 1937 he will be brought back home to head the "Reconstruction Finance Corporation," to assist the same banks he assisted this year.

So it's Hoover and Dawes. On prohibition it will be a "straddle" . . . resubmitting to the voters. That's a direct straddle, for it's saying:

"We can't make up our minds what to do, so you see if you can make up yours." Yours,

WILL.

Veterans of 80th Called To Join Bonus Forces

A call to Eightieth Division veterans to join the "bonus expeditionary forces" in Washington was issued today on behalf of the national leaders through Raymond A. Klick, of 2039 Sawmill Run boulevard.

Klick returned yesterday after a four-day stay in Washington. The leaders cited the lack of Western Pennsylvania representation in the camps as compared with other sections and requested Klick to issue a call. He said:

"Eightieth Division veterans who are unemployed are asked to add their strength. Urgent action is necessary, so all veterans are requested to assemble tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Old Exposition Park at the north end of the Manchester Bridge. We hope to have trucks to move the bonus supporters to Washington, and to leave the city by noon. Each man should have his discharge papers."

An appeal for trucks also was made to carry men and foodstuffs to Washington. Persons willing to contribute either food or trucks, Klick said, can arrange for the handling of donations by telephoning Hazel 6784-J. This detail will be directed by T. B. Fitzsimmons

A second plea was issued by R. R. Richardson, of Verona, who also returned from Washington. An immediate need for shoes was cited, and persons having cast-off footwear and garments were urged to send them to "W. W. Waters, Commander-inChief, Bonus Expeditionary Forces, Washington, D. C."

Both Klick and Richardson declared illness was not apparent at the makeshift camps. Klick planned to return to Washington today.

NEWS ON FUND CUT AWAITED BY HOSPITALS

No Word on Details of Slash Or Period Covered Under Plan Received From State

Although several weeks have elapsed since Gov. Pinchot served notice that the funds of the $10,000,000 Talbot relief act would be deducted from state appropriations to hospitals, educational institutions and mothers' assistance fund, no official word has been received by the Hospital Conference of Pittsburgh when the hospital cut will be effected.

Accordingly, since the fourth quarter of the biennial period ended for all state-aided institutions, May 31, hospital officials in the Pittsburgh district are in doubt as to the amount of their next appropriation checks, according to Miss Jessie J. Turnbull, president of the Hospital Conference of Pittsburgh.

M. H. Eichenlaub, former state hospital head, who returned yesterday from Harrisburg, where he attended the conference of the directors of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, said no official word had been received from the commonwealth.

The hospital cut has been set at 24.16 per cent. Whether it is retroactive to January 1, 1932, or as far back as June 1, 1931, the beginning of the biennial period, has not been learned.

To some of the larger institutions doing a bulk of free work the cut ranges from $44,000 to $20,000. The total cut for hospitals in the local conference will amount to $186,720.

Latin Instructors To Attend Meeting

Latin teachers in the Pittsburgh district will attend the first annual conference of the Classical Association of Pittsburgh and vicinity, July 15 and 16. Opportunities, aims and methods of graduate study in the classics will be the subject of discussion, Dr. Evan T. Sage, professor of Latin, University of Pittsburgh, announced.

Prof. Berthold Louis Ullman, past president of the association, and visiting professor of Latin at Pitt, will take part.

quarters Martin may have advanced his gubernatorial boom. In others he certainly has lost ground. The issue is sure to be raised in the next gubernatorial primary.

Frankly, it was nauseating to note some loud-mouthed shouters against prohibition attempt to make it appear that what they had done was express a really wet gesture. Contrarily, they had done nothing of the kind, but under the lash of political domination, exercised from a quarter not clear, and upon bargains not yet revealed, had stultified themselves.

Not the least uncertain was Charles A. Dorrance, of Scranton, boasted wet and liberal leader in 1930, who only expressed himself for repeal in the second caucus when pressure from Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell compelled him to take a stand.

But, if this story is a newspaper alibi, is it not a marker to the alibi which must be offered by delegates from some wet districts who weasled.

What about Philadelphia, which insisted that before it would support Jim Davis he must declare flatly for repeal. Surprisingly, Jim appears to have had more courage than the people who made it rise in his bosom.

Sewickley Dog Show Will Open Saturday

Prominent kennels throughout the East will be represented in the fifth annual Sewickley Dog Show at the Allegheny Country Club Saturday. One of the best known fanciers exhibting will be Mrs. Jesse Thornton, of Baltimore. Dr. Mitten, wealthy Philadelphian, whose aggregation is exhibited under the name of the Happy Valley Kennels, will show a number of pointers and setters. Six St. Bernards are entered in this year's show—an unusually large exhibit for this breed, since only two or three entries usually contend for the prize. The biggest entries are in the classes of smaller dogs.

FOUNTAINS FOR PARK BATHERS

Installation of six drinking fountains at Lake Carnegie swimming pool in Highland Park was ordered by City Council today when investigation disclosed that bathers there could quench their thirst only by buying soda pop at refreshment stands.

The motion to install the fountains was made by President John S. Herron. Councilman W. Y. English remarked:

"I guess the reason there haven't been fountains there was that someone wanted to sell refreshments instead."

Council instructed the Public Works Department to have the fountains installed not later than July 1, the date the pool will be opened.

SEMI-NUDISTS BASK ON GARFIELD 'BEACH'

'Vacation' Problem of Jobless Solved in Arid Meadow

Without any money, but with an abundance of good health and good spirits, 50 young men in the Garfield district have solved a vacationless summer by a back-to-nature movement.

Keeping strictly within what they believe to be the laws of good taste and conduct, they have established what they call the Garfield "Beach" Semi-Nudist Colony. A strip of meadowland below the athletic field of the Fort Pitt School at Hillcrest and Winebiddle avenues is the imaginative "beach."

Every day the sun shines is meeting day for these boys who are solving unemployment and the depression in a way all their own. The qualifications for enlistment in the colony are: One must be unemployed, slightly in debt, decent of mind and semi-conventionally clothed.

Robert Folger, of 5362 Rosetta street, is president; Charles Junker, of 5360 Kincaid street, vice president and "Goat" Forker, of 47 Rosefield street, secretary. There is no treasurer, the members explained, because they believe the best things in life—air, sunshine and beauty—are free.

The purpose of the colony is to keep their unemployed selves off the city street corners, and to champion the cause of health. Their motto is "Be healthy and live to see the Twenty-first Century."

"THE GARFIELD BEACH SEMI-NUDIST COLONY" . . . . THEY TAKE OFF HALF THEIR CLOTHES, TAKE COMMUNITY SUN-BATHS

The day's program consists of a vigorous ball game on the Fort Pitt School grounds, with much exercising of lungs and legs and arms. When the heat of day becomes intense, off come the shirts, up go the trouser legs, and they stroll down to their beach for a sun bath. It bothers them not at all that there is not a drop of water in sight along their "beach." These imamigative youths need no actuality. The colony has been in existence nearly two months.

B. & L. Here Gets Charter Renewed

HARRISBURG, June 15.—(AP.)—The State Department has renewed the charter of the Hill Top German Building and Loan Association of Pittsburgh with a capital stock of $3,000,000. The incorporators are George H. Maiz, Urban D. Dishart and Edna L. Binder, all of Pittsburgh.

Bids to Be Asked On Highland Stand

Need of a refreshment stand in Highland Park near the new Lake Carnegie swimming pool was stressed today by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, who, in a letter to Council, said bids could be asked for 10 months at the rate of $41.67 per month.

Mile AFTER Mile AFTER Mile

go with

PEOPLE who try ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH for the first time can scarcely believe so many miles can be packed into every gallon. They fill the tank and go . . . and go . . . and GO! Mile after mile after mile.

Yet this amazing mileage is just one of the outstanding qualities of this great fuel. ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH has the dash and spirit of a race-horse, the tremendous reserve power of a Hercules.

Line up with other cars for a traffic-light getaway, and see how you leap into the lead when the light flashes green! Head for the steepest hills you know, and glide over them like a bird a-wing. Drive along a country road at any speed you want, and note how cool and smooth your motor stays.

Better in a dozen ways

FLASHING PICK-UP
Your car leaps from 4 to 40 like a startled deer.

EXTRA POWER
Less gear-shifting . . . on steep hills and in congested traffic.

MAXIMUM MILEAGE

ALWAYS UNIFORM
Wherever you buy it . . . city or country . . . the same supreme quality.

ALWAYS DEPENDABLE

COOLER PERFORMANCE
No heavy, sluggish substances to overheat your engine.

QUICKER STARTING
A touch of the starter and you're away like a flash.

NO UNPLEASANT ODOR
No sulphurous or other fumes to spoil your motoring-pleasure.

ALL-ROUND ECONOMY

SCIENTIFIC FORMULA

HIGH ANTI-KNOCK RATING
Few motor fuels at any price can equal its high rating.

CRYSTAL CLEAR

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH

The great super-fuel . . . No extra cost

NEW PROGRAMS ON AIR

Sherlock Holmes Back On Two Networks

LOMBARDO, CALLOWAY MUSIC

WCAE Brings Pipe Club, Atwell

Two new features are added to the Wednesday night programs over an NBC network, including WCAE, which present Gladys Rice, soprano, and Nat Shilkret's orchestra in a series of summer concerts.

Miss Rice

Roy Atwell, veteran word-garbling comedian of the musical stage, becomes master of ceremonies, assisted by John S. Young, and the Men About Town Trio, novel harmony wizards well-known to the fans, join the cast. Atwell's genius for muddling things up in a comical manner is well known to theater, radio and motion picture audiences.

The Men About Town are Frank Luther, Jack Parker and Darrell Woodyard. Will Donaldson is pianist and arranger for the group.

The Corn Cob Pipe Club, which has been meeting down in Virginia at the Cross Roads meeting hall and broadcasting from the studios of WRVA for the last five years, makes its debut as a regular network program over WCAE tonight at 10. The broadcast, sponsored by Edgeworth tobacco, brings the barnyard music and rustic humor of mountain residents born and reared in rural Virginia to WCAE listeners each Wednesday night.

Program Pointers

The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes, with Richard Gordon as Sherlock himself and Leigh Lovel as the beloved Dr. Watson, are heard twice a week again beginning tonight at 9 on KDKA. The added broadcast Wednesday replaces the O. Henry stories sponsored by the same company, and the Thursday night programs on WCAE at 9:30 will continue as usual...

Mr. Gordon

The third episode in KDKA's new series of dramatizations, "Sheer Romance," is presented tonight at 8:15. Claude Morris plays the role of Robert Schumann, the schoolmaster, and Helen Wayne, his sweetheart. Louise Frayne, soprano, and Frederick G. Rodgers, as narrator, also participate in the program.

Duke, Gene and Sammy Fuller, trio, open a new series of close harmony programs billed "The Music Box" on KDKA tonight at 10.

Co-operating with the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, WWSW takes its listeners on a trip through the towns and villages of the Allegheny Mountains in a "Tableland Tour" tonight at 9:30.

"Unter der Linden," a new weekly program featuring a German band and soloists, makes its debut on KQV tonight at 8:30.

Ward Wilson impersonates Eddie Cantor on KDKA at 7:15.

Fan Fare

Mildred Bailey was one of the first women singers to be given an audition for radio work and made her debut in Los Angeles . . . When she attended St. Joseph's Academy, she studied piano, but not voice, and first discovered that she could sing "blues" in a class play . . . She listens to the radio for diversion and owns several chow dogs . . . Robert L. "Believe-it-or-not" Ripley was 14 years old when he sold his first comic drawing—a picture of a homely girl turning a clothes wringer and labeled "The Village Belle Was Slowly Ringing"—for $8.

Miss Bailey

Ted Weems demonstrated business acumen in his youth. While a grammar school student in Pittsburgh, he organized a children's band. The teacher offered Ted a penny for each member of the band if they would play whenever the fire drill sounded. He gladly accepted . . . and then charged each boy a cent for the privilege of playing.

Graham McNamee has grown very circumspect in making remarks over the air about cities or communities. He recalls that while broadcasting during a world series game in Pittsburgh, he remarked "This Pittsburgh smoke is playing havoc with my collars," and received hundreds rubber and celluloid collars—none of which fitted—in response to the innocent observation.

Latrobe High Band On WCAE

A program by the Latrobe High School Band is presented during the Sun-Telegraph Family broadcast on WCAE today from 4:45 to 5:15. Miss Jane A. White, assistant curator of education at Carnegie Museum, directs the series.

Betty Petrolle tells about his sensational come-back to the top ranks of pugilism when he broadcasts as guest speaker during the Trained Seals program on WCAE tonight at 6:55. Jack Hurley, his manager, Jack Scarry, coach of the Homestead Library swimming team, and Paul G. Sullivan, secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, also speak. Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, is master of ceremonies.

Louis L. Kaufmann, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, gives the latest news flashes from the editorial rooms at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

A talk of interest to all women is heard during the "Reflections of Madelon's Mirror" broadcast from WCAE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Unusual Washout Week. Costs Yanks $100,000.
Strain on Bucs Later. Second Weissmuller.
MacFayden Flop Seen. Leonard Picks German.

DUAL BILLS MAY AFFECT FLAG RACE

POSTPONED BASEBALL GAMES pile up in the early spring, as a rule, but the number of June cancellations in the National League is unusual. Only four contests were played in the last three days, and three of them were staged by the Phillies and Reds. Four clubs, including the Pirates, were idle three days in succession, and two others, the Cubs and Braves, played only once in that period. The resulting double-headers later will mean a severe strain on the pitching staffs, and may have a bearing on the outcome of the pennant race. Teams well fortified in that department, such as the Cubs, will have an advantage.

George Gibson

On the pitching score, George Gibson will be among the managers hardest pressed, inasmuch as the Pirates have had no fewer than 14 postponements, or more than any other club in either major league except the Giants, who have experienced 19. During the week of July 24 the Bucs will have to play five double-headers in seven days, including three in succession in New York. Out of seven games scheduled between the Pirates and Giants up to date, all but one were washed out.

NOTHING WILL PUT a ball club up in the air more quickly than a well-placed, unexpected bunt. It may demoralize the entire opposing outfit. The minors seemingly continue to use it more frequently than the majors.

The Baltimore International League club recently went so far with it as to lay down three bunts in succession against Newark in the first inning of the first game of a series. The Bears were so upset that they never recovered during the series, losing all four games.

BALTIMORE STANDS OUT prominently in the history of the bunt. Ned Hanlon and his old Orioles made it famous. Jack Dunn and Fritz Maisel kept it up. Roger Pippen relates perhaps the most unusual instance of its success in connection with a city league race there.

The Walberg club of the Interclub League won the deciding game in the pennant race by pulling a double squeeze play with two men out in the ninth inning. Not only did runners score from third and second, but the batsman, as was necessary, beat out the bunt that caught the opposit on completely unawares.

OFTEN WHEN A tailend club has a particularly brilliant individual player, the fans are heard to express regret that he is forced to waste his talents toiling for such a weak outfit and is denied a chance to win glory on a strong team. But sometimes, when a transfer is effected, it doesn't work out in accordance with the expectations of the fans. Some players are brilliant only because they ARE with a tailender. They are carefree, loose, under no strain. It matters little whether the club wins or loses. There is nothing important at stake, and there is no feeling of responsibility. Besides, the opposition may not be bearing down as hard as usual, because the going is softer. But shift these same athletes to a pennant contender, and they may lose much of their luster. Everything counts, there is a constant strain, and some of them are not equal to it.

Mickey Cochrane

THERE HAVE BEEN many examples of this. Two of the latest were Lefty O'Doul and Fresco Thompson. They looked great for the Phils, but never attained the same heights for the Giants or Dodgers. Mickey Cochrane thinks Danny MacFayden will be another addition to the list.

While some of his teammates are mourning the failure of the A's to get MacFayden and picturing him as winning a flock of games for the Yanks, Cochrane advises: "Don't let that guy bother you. Forget the way he looked with the Red Sox. He was free and loose with them. Now he's up where he HAS to win. I don't believe he can come through."

INCIDENTALLY, IT IS reported from a reliable source that the amount of money involved in the deal that swung MacFayden to the Yankees was $100,000. The Yanks originally offered Tony Lazzeri, Sam Byrd and Henry Johnson.

The A's also were hot after the pitcher and offered four players for him. But the Boston owners didn't want players. They wanted money, and they finally got it, with a couple of ordinary pitchers thrown in to make it look like a trade.

THE WORRY OF American Olympic chiefs over the fact that they have no swimmer to replace Johnny Weissmuller in the aquatic sprints is increased by reports of the continued great feats of a Hungarian threat. Stephen Barany, of Budapest, is going to be hard to beat. According to information received by Lewis Burton, he is as fast right now as Weissmuller was at his best and bids fair to succeed the American as the world's fastest swimmer at the sprint distances.

AT AMSTERDAM IN 1928, Barany was right behind Weissmuller when the latter won the 100 meters. Not only has Barany improved since that time, but Weissmuller will not be among those present this year, which leads the dopesters to believe that the Hungarian swimmer is practically a sure winner in that event.

Barany has not yet broken any of Weissmuller's records made in this country, but the difference in pool lengths is offered as the explanation. Hungarian pools are 109 feet long. American pools average only 75 feet. Shorter pools mean more turns, and the more turns a swimmer gets, with a chance to kick off from the end of the pool, the better time he will make. Weissmuller's record for 100 meters in a 75-foot pool is 57 2-5 seconds. Barany did it in a 109-foot pool, with one turn less, in 57 4-5. Even Johnny's great record of 51 seconds for 100 yards may be in danger.

IN ONE BREATH, Benny Leonard predicts a victory for himself over Jimmy McLarnin in a proposed August bout in Long Island City, because, he says, no right-hand puncher ever should whip a good boxer, and in the next breath he picks Max Schmeling to defeat Jack Sharkey.

The former lightweight champion would appear to be rather inconsistent in his views, as his second expression contradicts the first, but he attempts to explain it by saying that Schmeling is not the ordinary right-hand puncher, nor is Sharkey the ordinary good boxer.

Benny Leonard

LEONARD CALLS SCHMELING a big edition of Leach Cross. "While Leach was given little credit as a boxer," Benny said, "he really was entitled to a great deal. Cross had a fighting brain, and was shrewd, cunning, and a puncher. As in the case of Schmeling, it appeared as though he couldn't box a lick, but he kept plugging along, everlastingly sneaking in telling punches somehow and somewhere. The best proof that he was something more than a mauler is that he whipped many of the finest lightweight boxers of his time. He succeeded in doing that because his fighting brain created enough opportunities to get his punch home. Schmeling is like that. He beats good boxers the same way. He takes it and watches for his chance. Sharkey is sometimes referred to as a great boxer, and rightly so. But just sometimes. He is too inconsistent to be regarded as such. He has the stuff, but can't deliver it every time he starts. If Sharkey could be Sharkey for 15 rounds, he probably would trim Schmeling, but the chances are against this. You can go to sleep on what Schmeling has and will do under fire, but you have to keep your eyes open when wagering on Sharkey."

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Herman Perlick vs. Tracey Cox, 10 rounds, Cincinnati.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

This fight game is a funny racket. Yesterday, tonight's Billy Petrolle-Tommy Grogan battle at Greenlee Field was taking the play away from the Johnny Indrisano-Ted Yarosz bout scheduled at the Meyers Bowl last night, after having been postponed from Monday, and today the fans are buzzing more about the cancellation of the Bowl affair after the boxers weighed in during the afternoon and the stage seemed set for a perfect evening.

If there had been half of the interest in the Yarosz-Indrisano bout yesterday that there is today, they would have sold out the Bowl. The reason given for the cancellation was that the postponement, plus the proximity of the Petrolle battle, caused a deluge of cancellations of reservations, leaving the club to hold the bag and face the possibility of a big deficit in the box office.

MANAGERS PROTEST

The managers of Indrisano and Yarosz take issue with this viewpoint. They hold the show would have drawn more than enough to get the club out of the red, and both have lodged a protest with the boxing commission, which granted permission to the Bowl to withdraw. They have been assured that their expenses will be taken care of, but this does not satisfy them. Andy Neidereiter, manager of Indrisano, pointed out Johnny had turned down a lucrative match in Boston, his home town, where he has beaten four world welterweight champions in non-title bouts, to break into Pittsburgh. His man was to receive a guarantee of $1,500. Last Thursday night, he had another of his boxers, Paulie Walker, of New York, against Davy Grove at Hickey Park, Millvale. The night was cold and the attendance sparse, and he suggested that the show be set back to a more propitious time. His boxer was working on a percentage of the receipts of approximately $500, and he had to go through and was held to a draw. Andy thinks the rule should work the same in all cases and that the managers should get the same protection as the promoters.

INDRISANO PHILOSOPHICAL

Neidereiter's boxer, Indrisano, took the matter more philosophically. He is accustomed to bad

FIDEL LA BARBA BEATS PAUL

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—(AP.)—Tommy Paul, of Buffalo, N. Y., is still the National Boxing Association world featherweight champion, but only because he didn't wear his shining new crown into the ring at the Olympic Auditorium here last night.

Fidel La Barba, the same left-handed expert he was in the days when he won the flyweight title, spotted his Buffalo opponent 2½ pounds, and then boxed his way to a comfortable decision in 10 rounds. Both came in overweight.

33-to-1 Shot Wins Feature at Ascot

ASCOT, England, June 15.—(AP.)—Victor Emanuel's American-owned Totaig, a 3-year-old, today won the Royal Hunt cup, feature of the second day of racing at Royal Ascot. J. T. Downing's Eyes Front was second, and G. Lambton's Pricket third. Thirty-one ran.

In the presence of the King and Queen the other members of the royal family, Totaig, an outsider, at 33-to-1, finished the seven furlongs and 155 yards two lengths in front of Eyes Front.

The Aga Khan's Dastur, second in the English derby, accounted for the King Edward VII stakes, a race for 3-year-olds over one and one-half miles, Dastur, quoted at 4 to 9, defeated Wisborough by a length with Sankate third, three lengths back. The victory was worth about $15,000.

Just before the arrival of the royal party, the front of the royal box was blown down by a strong gust of wind. The accident, however, did not prevent the King and Queen from viewing the Royal Hunt Cup from the royal box.

NET PLAY RESUMED

Eliminations in the city high school tennis tournament were resumed yesterday with Wilson, of Carrick, defeating Chiswell, of South Hills, 6-1, 6-4, and Logan, of Allegheny, defeating Dudek, of Vocational, 6-2, 6-1. In the junior competition, Holt, Liberty, defeated Cooper, Herron Hill, 6-2, 6-0, and Callen, Perry, defeated Hartman, Allegheny, 7-5, 6-4.

Glamorous Names Among W. Pa. Tennis Champs

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Inaugural play of the forty-fourth annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships at the Stanton Heights Golf Club next Saturday continues a long, honorable and unbroken line of district titular net events. Beginning on the courts of the old Pittsburgh Tennis Club, near the present junction of Baum boulevard and Craig street, back in 1889, and continuing through halcyon days of the Pittsburgh Cricket—now Field—Club, out Forbes-and-Braddock way, the Pittsburgh Golf Club hard by Schenley Park, and the P. A. A. lot, where at present stands the Cathedral of Learning, the West Penn has missed nary a summer of competition.

G. D. Edwards

Billy Haseltine

Historical statistics recently compiled by the Pittsburgh Tennis Association offer information highly interesting to the student of the annals of the racquet sport in this area. Names of the tennis greats of today and yesteryear parade the record sheet and recall the shades of mighty men long gone, as well as fresh-limned images of performers still active in the spangles. Twenty-one stars have twinkled as possessors of Western Pennsylvania men's single honors, currently symbolized by the David I. McCahill Cup—and each has contributed his bit toward establishment of the West Penn event among the most venerable in tradition in all the land.

CHRISTY FIRST CHAMPION

Marshall A. Christy, prominent Sewickley citizen and lawyer, set original precedent by capturing the crown in '89. The late S. W. B. Moorhead succeeded him in '90, and, in '91, C. A. Buch, P. R. R. official, from Altoona, ascended the throne. Came then the first of the perennial champions, Tom Ewing, Jr., who reigned from '92 to '99, inclusive, save for '94 and '95, when Arthur Pier held scintillant sway.

George D. Edwards, five times victor in West Penn doubles, opened the new century with man-to-man triumph in 1900, after which Clinton Childs and Dr. Tom Stephens alternated at the apex for six seasons until, in 1907, W. L. Myers, Chicago luminary and first outsider to crash the West Penn circle, broke through.

Childs bagged his fourth title in 1908. Thereafter, dazzling Perce Siverd dominated the field for five consecutive campaigns—the lengthiest and most spectacular stretch of individual supremacy in the history of the tournament. Herbert Hahn, of Stanford University, paused in Pittsburgh long enough to snatch the 1914 diadem, and, in 1915, one of the Steel City's national clay court agile Princetonians downed Chisholm Garland in the final.

TILDEN BREAKS IN

Willis Davis, giant Californian, copped here in 1916, and the veteran Sam Hardy breezed through in 1917. 'Twas in 1918, while stationed in Pittsburgh during the war, that William T. Tilden II first landed the West Penn sceptre—and we have it on the authority of Julius Boise, Allegheny County Club "pro," that the success was Big Bill's initial venture in the line of major singles victories. Anyway, the lean Philadelphian repeated in 1919, and again in '23

TARS MAY JOIN RING LEAGUE

By JESS CARVER

You can just about lay the rent on it, the Navy is going to join up with the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Conference and string along with Pitt, Temple, West Virginia, Wash-Jeff, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne.

The Tars announced their ring schedule for next season yesterday, and broadcast the scheduling of a bout with Pitt. The Middies became all hot and bothered over the way the Eastern Intercollegiate League, the rival college ring group, was run two years ago and dropped out after the tournament at Penn State.

MIDDIES INVITED

When the Eastern Conference was formed here last year, at that memorable session at the P. A. A., with Don Harrison, Buddy Overend, John Holohan, Earl Yoemans and Bill Amos and Pete Henry sitting in, New York University, Georgetown and the Navy were invited to join. N. Y. U. and Georgetown decided to give up varsity boxing, but the Navy said it would think matters over. Now that the Panthers have been added to the Tar's punching schedule, it is hair ribbons to oboes that the Sailors are going to come into the organization, lending class and strength to the league.

Navy will meet Pitt on February 25 at Annapolis.

It would not be necessary for the Middies to compete against all members of the conference next year. All they'd have to do would be to join and send a team to the conference tournament.

SHERID GETS O. K.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 15.—(AP.)—Roy Sherid, of Norristown, right-hand pitcher belonging to the New York Yankees, and who was sold to the St. Paul team of the American Association last season, has been reinstated. Sherid failed to report for spring practice this season and was placed on the retired list.

LOUDIN NAMED COACH

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., June 15.—(AP.)—Howard Loudin, Morgantown, a Davis and Elkins College Product, has been named head coach at Rowlesburg High School, succeeding William Barrett, who died recently. He formerly coached at Middlebourne and Mill Creek.

BOSTON, June 15.—Far from Broadway's fickle throng, the Pirates were happy last night when they reached the New England metropolis. George Gibson and his Pittsburgh diamond stars are hopeful they have eluded the rain clouds which hovered about them as they sojourned in New York City. The Frecbooters and Braves are scheduled to open a five-game series at Braves Field this afternoon. Friday is Bunker Hill Day and in honor of the occasion the two clubs will stage a doubleheader for the edification of Boston folks.

The Pirates landed in Boston late last night. For the third day in succession they saw wet weather interfere with play against the Giants on the Polo Grounds. Later in the afternoon they boarded a train for this city and all hands arrived here in good condition aside from the rather rusty feeling that comes from inactivity. Needless to say the Buccos will indulge in plenty of sideshow action this afternoon in an effort to get their muscles back in shape for snappy plays.

BRANDT MAY HURL

If Bill McKechnie, smart pilot of the Tribe, runs true to form he will have a couple of left-handers primed in his attempt to repel the lads from his home town. Bill played this percentage against the Pirates last season with considerable effect. Hence, the Buccos rather expect to look at the slants of Eddie Brandt this afternoon, although it is not Eddie's turn to fling. Manager Gibson will counter with Heinie Meine.

With the deadline only 12 hours away, there was little to indicate today that the Pittsburgh club would complete any deals with rival teams before midnight arrives. All clubs must be down to the player limit of 23 by the midnight hour and when that point is reached the rules of the game prohibit deals with the majors aside from straight waiver transactions.

BUCS HIT LIMIT

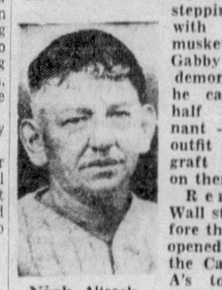
Manager Gibson has need of another lefthand pitcher and he would welcome the chance to land a dependable reserve infielder, but the boss of the Buccos doesn't appear to be unduly worried as to the future. Nevertheless, both Gibson and President William E. Benswanger, who is here with the club, will be a bit disappointed if there are no swaps, and they will be on the alert to bring in athletes of promise from other points.

The Pittsburgh club is right down to the 23-player limit and has been for some time. It would not be surprising were the club directors to dispose of another member of the roster in order to make room for a player that might be brought in by any of the club's scouts.

The makeup of the team is subdivided into nine pitchers, three catchers, six infielders and five outfielders. It would be feasible to move along with eight hurlers and in case a player is disposed of the absence doubtless will be noted in this department.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

DETROIT, June 15.—Those Cardinals were in ambush the first of the season, but they're stepping out with their muskets now, Gabby Street is demonstrating he can trade half a pennant-winning outfit and still graft the flag on them again.



Nick Altrock

Remember Wall street before the season opened picked the Cards and A's to cop again. It now begins to look like the bankers' pool was inflating its pet issues and will have them up at the top by the end of the fiscal year.

I see Judge Landis is investigating those player swaps between St. Louis and Cincinnati. They've been passing the Cards back and forth like they were playing "Old Maid."

VETERANS DISPLACE YANKS' STAR ROOKIES

BROWNS TRIM NATS; PHILLIES, REDS SPLIT

Associated Press.

The Yankees, plowing through the West and building up an imposing lead in the American League, owe very little of their success to the costly lot of new talent turned over to Manager Joe McCarthy this spring.

Except for the pitching staff, the club that today looks like an even bet to race on unchecked to the pennant is the same that finished second a year ago.

VETERANS STAR

Gone are Jack Saltzgaver and Frank Crosetti, the expensive young stars who were suposed to make the Yankees' infield, and in their places are Joe Sewell and Tony Lazzeri, veterans who have proved their worth. Earle Combs is back at his old outfield post, playing some of the greatest ball of his career.

All three played steady ball yesterday to help the leaders make it three out of four from Cleveland, 7 to 6, and give Danny MacFayden his first victory in a Yankee uniform. A triple steal gave the Yanks the winning run in the seventh.

The Athletics made it three out of four over Detroit, 10 to 5, and kept pace with the leaders as Foxx propelled his twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth home runs of the year.

St. Louis Browns' victory over Washington was their seventh in eight engagements this year. George Blaeholder tamed the Senators most of the way while his mates knocked young Monte Weaver from the box and treated his successor roughly to win 17-3.

RED SOX WIN

The Boston Red Sox beat Ted Lyons and the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, in 11 innings.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati supplied all the action in the National League by dividing a double header. The Phillies captured the first, 6 to 5, but the Reds came back behind John Ogden's steady pitching to take the nightcap, 5 to 2.

BELTZHOOVER WINS

Beltzhoover won the city grade school baseball title yesterday by defeating Woolslair, 12 to 5 on the Schenley High School diamond. The score by innings:

									R.	H.	E.
Beltzhoover	3	6	0	0	1	2	*	—	12	14	1

Petrolle and Other Stars On Trained Seals Program

Jack Scarry, Billy Petrolle, Jack Hurley, Paul G. Sullivan

What about Billy Petrolle's great comeback career and his chances in his lightweight championship bout with Tony Canzoneri in New York next month?

What about the Schmeling-Sharkey heavyweight championship fight in the same arena next Tuesday night?

What about the West Penn tennis championship tournament beginning next Saturday?

What about the United States' chances in the swimming events of the Olympic Games?

All of these questions and many others of interest will be answered by authorities during the weekly radio program of the Trained Seals of the sports department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over Station WCAE tonight, beginning at 6:55 o'clock, when Petrolle himself and his manager, Jack Hurley; Paul G. Sullivan, secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, and Jack Scarry, swimming coach of the Homestead Library, appear with the Seals under the direction of Harry Keck, sports editor, acting as master of ceremonies.

Others on the program will include Miss Marian Salmon, pianist; Julius Levin and Bill Sutherland.

Knockouts Mark N. S. Amateur Bouts

The big boys carried the dynamite last night in the amateur boxing show staged by the Twenty-seventh Ward Republican Club at the open-air arena on the North Side, knockouts occurring in the 160-pound and heavyweight classes.

The summary:

112-pound class—Matt Unak, Emerald A. C., defeated Rick Prozzi, Bloomfield A. C., three rounds.

Heavyweight — Buck Krause, Natrona, knocked out Jack Blair, Bloomfield A. C., second round.

A novel doubleheader, for the sake of sweet charity, will be offered at Greenlee Field Sunday afternoon by three of the outstanding local sandlot nines. The affair will be staged as a benefit for the Coleman Home for Negro Boys, with the Crawfords and the Dormont and Book nines of the City League participating.

In the first game, Dormont and the Books will clash, according to present plans, with the victors engaging the Crawfords in a second encounter. The first game will get underway at 2:30 o'clock.

DORMONT FACES TEST

Dormont, as defending champion in the City League, will have to shoot the works in tonight's game with the Reliance Life nine if it hopes to cut the advantage now enjoyed by the Book nine. Book's are idle this evening. Carroll probably will twirl for Dormont with Dutch Spencer on the firing line for Reliance.

Carrick Eagles, battling to overtake the Homestead Aces in the West Penn League, tangle with the Duquesne Republicans at the Steel Works Park. The Eagles are keen to get the Aces' scalp, and must win this game to stay in the race.

In the County League, the Scott Morgans, of Homewood, will make the trip to Carnegie.

CRAWFORDS SPLIT

The Crawfords engage Monessen at Monessen this evening, while the Homestead Grays stack up against Sewickley at Sewickley. Tomorrow the Grays meet Altoona at Altoona.

Yesterday the Crawfords and Cuban Stars divided a doubleheader at Greenlee Field, the Stars winning the first game, 3 to 1, and the locals taking the second, 7-0. In the City League, Dormont failed to gain on the idle Book nine by being held to a 5-to-5 deadlock by Homewood. Reliance Life defeated the Ferris nine, 7 to 5.

The Carrick Eagles downed Turtle Creek, 6 to 3, in the West Penn circuit. Soho McKnights tripped Etna Infies, 9-3, and Books took Grandview, 6-3, in non-league encounters.

STEVE O'MALLEY WINS

CADIZ, O., June 15.—(AP.)—Steve O'Malley, Bellaire lightweight, fractured Jimmy Martin's jaw in scoring a technical knockout over the latter in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round encounter here last night. Both weighed 135.

SHOW FIELD LARGE

A strong field, both in point of class and numbers, will compete Saturday in the annual Allegheny Country Club dog show. Nearly 500 entries have been received to date.

LUTHER VICTOR AT CONNEAUT

CONNEAUT LAKE, June 15.—For the second time in as many years, Ted Luther, pro at the Valley Heights Country Club, of Pittsburgh, traveled extra holes to annex premier honors in the Oakland Beach open golf tournament when he defeated Walter Johnstone, of the Butler Country Club, here yesterday by a single stroke after nine extra holes.

Luther won a year ago by beating Jack Thompson, of Youngstown. Thompson paced the field for the first day of play this year, but yesterday faltered and wound up in third place.

Luther and Johnstone finished the regulation 72 holes all even with 299. In the extra nine, Luther took a 40 and Johnstone a 41.

Thompson was third with 300; Paul (Toots) Erath, of Edgewood, fourth with 301; Monty Onoretta, of Schenley, and Fred Baroni, home club pro, tied for fifth with 304, and Pete O'Hara and Sam Parks, Jr., former Pitt captain and now pro at the Summit Club, of Uniontown, tied for seventh with 306.

VINES IS VICTOR

LONDON, Eng., June 15.—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., American tennis champ and a member of the U. S. Davis Cup team, was forced to show his best form to defeat R. J. Ritchie in the London championships yesterday, 8-6, 6-4, 7-5.

RAINELLE SIGNS BLAKE

WE MADE A MISTAKE

—A STATEMENT BY THE GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR COMPANY

THE Gillette Safety Razor Company feels called upon to make a confession and a statement that are undoubtedly unique in the annals of American business. It is with deep regret and no little embarrassment that we do this in order to tell you frankly what actually happened when we introduced a new Gillette razor and blade.

Soon after this was done, we found that, although the great majority was pleased, some users complained quality was not up to standard.

We learned why. Our equipment had not been equal to the task of producing millions of blades at high speed without a certain variation in quality that affected a small portion of our output. As a result some blades that left the factory were not as good as you had a right to expect. Immediately we directed our principal effort toward the achievement of uniformity. Everything within our power was done to end variation. More than this—impossible as it seemed of accomplishment at the time—we set out to develop or find a better production process, having as a major requirement the elimination of varying quality.

We discovered and purchased for our exclusive use and at the cost of millions of dollars a manufacturing process that was amazingly superior to our own.

By this method, modern and automatic, millions of blades can be made at top speed without variation in quality.

We incorporated refinements of our own invention and installed the new machinery, throwing out all of our old equipment.

Now we announce today's Gillette blades, made by the new management. The usual superlatives have no place in this sincere statement of ours, so we will let the quality of the blades speak for itself. The green Gillette package remains unchanged, but the blades are new in every respect, quality, performance, and method of manufacture.

You can try today's Gillette blades without risking a cent. If you don't agree they are superior, return the package and your dealer will refund your money. Our reputation depends upon the proof of these claims. Being absolutely certain of the quality of these Gillette blades, we do not hesitate to make this statement over our signature.

The Gillette Blue Super-Blade

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production. We offer the Blue Super-Blade as its successor. This sensational blade is far superior to the Kroman and costs considerably less. You pay only a few cents more than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. Its extraordinary shaving performance will convince you that the Blue Blade is the sharpest ever produced. A blue color has been applied to the blade for easy identification. It is contained in a blue package, Cellophane wrapped.

SZWEDKO TOPS PUBLIC LINKS QUALIFIERS

FRANCIS LALLY, KAUFFMANN MAKE GRADE

By TOM BIRKS

Playing brilliant and consistent golf over the 36-hole distance, Andy Szwedko, former caddie at the Pittsburgh Country Club, paced one of the classiest fields ever to compete in a municipal tourney, to score a 62-68—130, two below par, and win the qualifying medal in the public links qualifying test yesterday at the Schenley Park links.

Two shots behind was the great Carl Kaufmann, three times National champion. The sphinx of the Schenley course matched par, just as he has many times before, but par was not good enough this time to beat that tall, blond Szwedko.

LALLY THIRD

One shot back of Kauffmann came Francis Lally, an annual contender for public links honors during the last decade, with a 71-62—133. Lally practically was out of the tourney when the turn was reached in the afternoon round, but one of the greatest nine holes ever shot on the course, a 28, five under par, put him under the wire. Two tried for the fourth place, Dr. Brandom, former Alcoma Country Club champion, now doing his golfing at Schenley, with a 67-67—134, and Earl Wessell, with a 68-66—134. The rules of the tourney permit six members from each city, but a financial lack only allow four to be sent. If this is the case, Dr. Brandom and Wessell will play off for the fourth place.

Walter Phillips, city champion; Sernie McFarland, Pat McDonough and Johnny Pasikowski were among the prominent failing to make the grade.

Mrs. M. K. Garber, of Stanton Heights, was low gross winner in the Highland Country Club one-day invitation tournament yesterday with a 90. Mrs. Boris Dobinoff, of Youghiogheny, was second with a gross 91 and a net 71; Mrs. Clark Gould, of St. Clair, took the prize for the second division with a net 75.

P. C. A. EVENT TODAY

The Pennsylvania Golf Association will hold its second one-day tournament of the season this afternoon at the Pittsburgh Field Club, and a large field is expected.

At Fox Chapel Section I of the women's team matches will compete. At least four teams face the possibility of meeting Westmoreland in the playoffs.

Tomorrow at South Hills, the women will hold an invitation event, and at Edgewood there will be an invitation mixed foresome tourney. Valley Heights members will tender a dinner to Ted Luther, club pro, who led the field in the national open qualifying round.

MUNY QUALIFIERS

CARL F. KAUFFMANN

Leaders in local qualifying round for the National public links golf championship tournament, played over the Schenley Park course. Szwedko topped the field with a 130 for the 36 holes, with Kauffmann, three times National champion, runner-up at 132. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

STARS AMONG W. PA. TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Dave O'Loughlin, then fresh from the juniors, won in '25, the year of his classic windup with Jimmy O'Connor. Dave held on through '26, but went East in '27, whereupon Byron Baur seized sway. Dr. John O'Laughlin dethroned Baur in '28, and Baur reversed the process on John in '29, first year of the Stanton Heights epoch. Then, in 1930, Bill Haseltine, darkest of dark horses, rolled in from Philadelphia to upset the apple cart—and he's kept it upset ever since.

FIVE CHAMPIONS NOW DEAD

And what of the old-timers? Whither gone? George Edwards, banker and financier of today, supplies timely chronicle. Five West Penn victors—Moorehead, Buch, Childs, Stephens and Myers—have passed to their eternal rewards. Doc Stephens, well-loved mentor of Pitt tennis teams, having been the last to go. Christy and Ewing yet rank as lights of the Allegheny County bar. Pier, at last accounts, was living in Boston; he is a well-known author and at one time was associated with the editorial staff of the Youth's Companion.

Perce Siverd remains in Pittsburgh, but golf and squash racquets claim his allegiance in place of tennis. No word of the available, but Bob Schmertz conducts a business here, and, incidentally, bosses the P. T. A. ranking committee. Willis Davis is back on the Coast, while Sam Hardy retains his post of many years with a nationwide sporting goods firm.

Dr. McElroy has risen to the office of vice dean of the Pitt medical school, while Dave O'Loughlin monopolizes the local men's doubles situation. Chuck Garland resides in Chicago, takes keen part in the doings of the U. S. L. T. A., and occasionally dons tourney regalia to show 'em he still boasts the pristine knack of outmaneuvering the tough ones. Dave O'Loughlin—now Dr. Dave—is chief medical resident at the Pittsburgh Hospital; Brother John practices dentistry in the East End; Baur is a youthful barrister of Erie, and Haseltine promises to take a vacation from banking next week to jaunt to Pittsburgh for his last and lucky leg on the McCahill cup. Of all who from battles gone by, have emerged with Western Pennsylvania men's singles championships, only the O'Loughlin, Baur and Haseltine are to be reckoned with in the 1932 trophy chase.

EWING LEADS WINNERS

Summing up, one finds that Tom Ewing, with six wins, heads the all-time West Penn array. Siverd is next with five, while Childs and Tilden garnered four apiece. Dr. Stephens drove to victory thrice, and two notches each adorn the trusty bludgeons of Pier, Garland, Dave O'Loughlin, Baur and Haseltine. The rest—Christy, Moorhead, Buch, Edwards, Myers, Hahn, Schmertz, Davis, Hardy, McElroy and John O'Loughlin—cudgeled through but once. But every one of 'em lent luster to the lofty temple of tennis fame, and, if Western Pennsylvania champions-to-come shall bear the baton in the fashion of their precursors, the future of the pastime here is bright, indeed.

DEAN DESERTS CARDINALS; GOES HOME

Dean caught a train for St. Louis early today, declaring he was through with the world champions because they had not treated him right.

Dean, one of the most eccentric pitchers in the major leagues since the days of Rube Waddell, has kept the St. Louis club on tenterhooks dealing with his pranks all season. Several times before he had threatened to quit.

It was learned from reliable sources that Dean felt that he had not received favors from the Cardinals which he desired and left the city "in a huff." Gabby Street, Cards' manager, said:

"Dean has no real grievances against the Cardinals. He has been treated fairly, but he is a hard proposition to handle."

College Contests Not to Be Tax Free

College sports events are not to be exempt from tax under the new federal revenue law, W. Don Harrison, athletic director at Pitt, was informed by Theodore A. Huntley, secretary to Senator David A. Reed, today. Huntley's message to Harrison from Washington follows:

"Have just learned that as finally enacted the law taxes all athletic contests, including college events. The House conferees refused to accept the Senate amendment, and although Senator Reed held out to the last in an effort to obtain this exemption he was outvoted and the exemption killed. He is sorry, but sees no chance now to amend the law."

Between Rounds

Paul Dazzo, of Chicago, and Mickey Cohen, of Cleveland, will box the semi-final to the Tony Canzoneri-Harry Dublinsky non-title bout in Chicago tomorrow night.

YALE NAMES FARMER NEW SPORT HEAD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 15.—(AP.)—Reorganization of Yale's sports program was continued with the appointment of Malcolm Farmer, Hartford manufacturer and former Eli football player, as director of all the University's athletic activities.

Farmer, who was graduated from Sheffield Scientific School at Yale in 1904, will become chairman of the board of control of the Yale Athletic Association July 1, President James Rowland Angell announced.

HEATHCOTE RELEASED

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—(AP.)—Cliff Heathcote, outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, has been unconditionally released, it was announced here yesterday, bringing the Reds down to the prescribed major league limit of players. Heathcote is from York, Pa., and was for some years with the Chicago Cubs and last year was sold to Cincinnati.

BROGAN BOXES PETROLLE

breaks, and his only kick, when informed that the show last night was off, after he had eaten a big steak following the weighing ceremonies, was that he was not told about it until after he had left the table.

"I could have had some pastry for dessert," he moaned, and proceeded immediately to light up a big black cigar.

The fiasco was a big laugh to Indrisano, who observed:

"Say, this is nothing. When I fought Joe Dundee, I had to take 55 per cent of the gate and guarantee his purse. I gave him a lacing and collected $150 for my end, including my manager's 'cut.' Later, I boxed Tommy Freeman when he was the champion under a similar arrangement and beat him and got $140. Then, when I was all set to capitalize on those two victories over champions, I boxed Clyde Hull and had my jaw broken and was laid up for a year and a half. Then I broke my left hand and was out for nine months. Then I came back and beat two more champions, Jackie Fields and Lou Brouillard, but they got all of the money. Life is just a bowl of cherries, and I get all of the pits."

YAROSZ DISAPPOINTED

Young Ted Yarosz, unbeaten in more than 50 professional battles, was almost heartbroken over the affair. It was his second straight cancellation of a bout against a nationally famous opponent. First he trained three weeks for a bout with Jackie Fields, the champion, at the Bowl, and it was called off when Fields developed eye trouble. Then he was matched with Indrisano and ran into a similar tough break. He has nothing to show for his many weeks of hard training and cannot be blamed if he feels a bit soured on the game and keenly disappointed over the loss of his two great opportunities.

The preliminary boxers have been similarly hit. The preliminary card arranged for the Fields fight was held over for last night. All of the boxers trained diligently for both shows only to find themselves out in the cold without compensation.

MAY RE-SIGN BOUT

Ray Foutts, manager of Yarosz, and Manager Neidereiter, for Indrisano, went into a huddle with Jules Beck, matchmaker for Greenlee Field, this morning with a view to rescheduling their bout for the Hill district arena next Wednesday night. Ray Miller, of Detroit, and Lew Massey, of Philadelphia, both of whom recently scored good victories here, are paired at Greenlee Field a week later. Meanwhile, Scotty Monteith, Detroit promoter, is in town hoping to sign Yarosz to box King Tut at his club within a few weeks. Kid Chocolate, the junior-lightweight champion, is matched with Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, at the Bowl next Monday night. The fate of this bout, also sought by Greenlee Field, remains in doubt, since Chocolate also is to receive a sizeable guarantee.

As a result of last night's fiasco, it is not unlikely that the three local clubs will get together shortly to outline a new working arrangement whereby each club will operate only every third week or agree to three shows every two weeks. The bidding for talent cost all clubs a loss last week. Greenlee Field drew more than $5,000 with its opening show, yet took it on the chin because of the guarantees paid the fighters. The Bowl drew more than $4,000, but came out on the wrong end. This is nothing short of financial suicide.

BIG CARD TONIGHT

The Bowl's loss last night is Greenlee Field's gain tonight. The Petrolle-Grogan show, figured a fine attraction from the start, should go over even bigger than it promised to originally. A good preliminary card backs up the main event, with Mickey Duris, of Johnstown, boxing Prince Saunders, of Duluth, in an eight-round bout following the windup and three six-rounders setting the stage for the feature event. In these, Len Sheppard, of Detroit, will take on Charley Baxter, Jack Snyder will oppose Johnny Riske, both making their professional debuts, and Ray Winbush will tangle with Johnny Curtin in a return engagement. The first bout is scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

Unable to sign an opponent for Johnny Speigal, of Uniontown, in the first bout of its card of four eight-rounders, tomorrow night, Hickey Park has signed Jack Kearns, of Ripley, W. Va., and Frank Novak, of the North Side, heavyweights, for that number. Lee Sala and Anson Greene box the windup, Johnny Cataline and Jackie Wilson the semi-final and Sunny Jim McVey and Tiger Joe West the second event.

TO REDEEM TICKETS

It was announced today that tickets purchased for last night's show at the Bowl may be redeemed for next week's bouts or a cash refund either at the Bowl or at the downtown office of the establishment, 525 Fifth avenue.

TOMMY GROGAN

Gob Scales 205 For Title Battle

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 15.—(INS.)—Jack Sharkey weighed 205 pounds today as he neared the climax of training for his bout against Max Schmeling on June 21.

The challenger was disappointed that Gene Tunney and James J. Corbett failed to visit his camp yesterday, but he went through a brilliant workout against Joe Sekyra and Charley Anderson, sparring partners.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 15.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling planned to rest again today, resuming boxing on Thursday. He will rest Friday and complete his training for defense of his heavyweight title against Jack Sharkey with stiff workouts Saturday and Sunday.

He played golf yesterday.

Guy June Seeks Track Mark Today

Guy June, speedy stallion, will attempt to break his own mark for the mile trot and the season's record in a special exhibition trot today at the weekly meeting of the Schenley Matinee Club at Schenley Oval. Guy June's best time is 2:08¼.

Three events are on the program besides the exhibition.

Fight Results

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks March Up | Local Stocks Quiet

Telephone, Tobacco, Case Advance 2 to 3 Points; Commodity Tone Strong

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP.)—Financial markets pushed quietly but steadily forward in Wall street today, in response to banking advices that the drain upon American gold stocks was virtually at an end.

Stocks registered numerous gains of 1 to 5 points or so, as bonds went ahead under leadership of U. S Governments, and bank stocks were strong over the counter. Principal commodity markets also developed a better tone.

Shares up about 2 to 3 included such issues as American Telephone, American Can, Case, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco "B," Liggett and Myers "B," Santa Fe, Macy, Union Pacific, Eastman, National Biscuit, Public Service of N. J., and others. Peoples Gas and Detroit Edison rose about 4 and 5, and Auburn pushed up several points. Kansas City Southern preferred gained 4.

The midweek business and trade statistics were, if anything, somewhat more encouraging than last week. Electric power production in the week ended June 11 was off 11½ per cent from last year, as against a shrinkage of more than 12 throughout April and May.

Iron Age said steel production was off a point to 19 per cent capacity, but spoke of a possible summer upturn, should political and financial uncertainties be lifted. The weekly petroleum statistics showed a slight gain in crude output, but further shrinkage in gasoline in storage. International banking quarters were not much concerned over the Lausanne Conference, feeling that permanent solution of the debt problem may be postponed to autumn.

Among individual shares, Auburn continued to gyrate rather wildly, despite Prof. Ripley's characterization of the market performance of that isue as "outrageous," before the Senate Committee yesterday, Macy advanced sharply on ordering of the regular dividend, and Kansas City Southern preferred was helped by halving of the common dividend.

DOLLAR WINS GOLD SIEGE

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP.)—The dollar glistened in victory today while the financial metropolis hailed the end of Europe's long drain of American gold.

The Bank of France converted the last of its dollar balance into gold yesterday for eventual lodgment in its own vaults. That meant America had successfully met all foreign demands on its gold supply, bankers said, and that the dollar had emerged a winner from the severest pressure ever imposed on a currency.

Thereupon there occurred in the foreign exchange market the strongest bull movement in dollars seen in many weeks. Bankers expressed satisfaction, seeing the removal of one of the principal factors leading to a lack of confidence in business and financial circles.

The Bank of France's withdrawal from this market yesterday of $55,000,000 balances ended what was described as one of the most remarkable achievements in financial history—the repayment by the United States since 1929 of all but $99,000,000 of the $3,000,000,000 of short-term funds lodged in this market by foreign central banks, governments and private interests.

The heavy efflux started last September when the English pound sterling fell from the gold standard, shocking confidence all over the world. Bankers said the feat of America in disgorging smoothly about $1,100,000,000 in monetary gold since September should rout any uncertainty over the strength of the dollar.

TRADE ANNALS SHOW POLITICS OVERVALUED

Statistics Reveal Neither Party Has Any Monopoly On Good and Bad Times

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 15.—With the Republican National Convention now in session in Chicago and with the Democratic meeting in the offing, there is a current disposition to overemphasize the effect of politics on the course of the business cycle.

After combing the actual annals of American business Col. Leonard P. Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Company, some years ago published statistics indicating that neither the Republican nor the Democratic party had any monopoly on prosperity or depression. In the last presidential campaign, however, the party in power sought to identify prosperity with its own party achievements.

Mr. Rukeyser

CREDIT MISPLACED

When soapbox orators and others this year repeat the old, fallacious assumptions concerning political causes of business movements, keep in mind these sage words of Gustav Cassel, Scandinavian economist, who pointed out:

"A quite naive overevaluation of political power preponderates in the wide field of speculation on the ideal form of organization and institutions of society."

Apropos of the current attempt to look to Mamma Government for economic wisdom and relief, Alvin H. Hansen, economist of the University of Minnesota, in his new volume on "Economic Stabilization in an Unbalanced World," says:

"The man on the street always expects government to perform miracles. For this he is not altogether responsible. Politicians are forever claiming credit for fortunate economic conditions that have often occurred in spite of governmental policies rather than because of them."

VALUES SMASHED

As to the superstition that presidential years are necessarily periods of adverse business, an inspection of the annals of American business since the founding of the republic shows that out of 35 presidential election years, 15 were periods of prosperity, 11 were years of depression, and nine were uncertain, marked by irregularity of conditions. A survey of shorter term movements during presidential years indicates that the peak of hesitation and uncertainty is reached in the middle of the year before the business and financial community is prepared to discount the outcome of the contest among the voters.

Since these are extraordinary times, the regular bankers for the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, which has a note issue of $13,500,000 maturing on August 1, could render a useful public service by announcing now their plans for taking care of the maturity. Obviously, they cannot know so far in advance the precise state of the money market, or the exact nature of the issues which will be best suited to conditions as they then appear. However, instead of permitting the slaughter of values to go on because of uncertainty toward what, in normal times, would be a routine financing operation, it is suggested that the bankers issue a statement embodying their general policy and intentions in the matter.

Standard of Jersey Adopts 5-Day Week

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP.)—Following the example of several other large corporations, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced the adoption of a five-day week for all salaried employes and wage earners. The new program will become effective July 1.

Under the new schedule, which will affect 43,000 workers, salaried employes, including executives and others of the management, will accept pay reductions of one-eleventh of present compensations, the readjustment to affect the entire personnel except those receiving salaries of $100 a month or less.

Wheeling Tin Plant Working Full Time

WHEELING, W. Va., June 15.—(AP.)—Wheeling Steel Corporation officials announced that the Yorkville tin plant will be working at capacity today for the first time in many months.

The plant has been working part time. Twenty-four hot mills have been started.

The plant employs nearly 2,000 men when working on full schedule.

WALL STREET HEARS

That Sears, Roebuck and Company directors, who are scheduled to meet this week, are divided on the advisability of continuing the present dividend rate of $2.50 a year.

That Packard's May sales ran 7 per cent above a year ago, although deliveries to customers were 8 per cent below.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, June 15.—Higher prices were the rule in today's Curb Market. Trading remained quiet, although activity was somewhat larger than yesterday.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Ford Subsidiaries In Marketing Deal

DETROIT, June 15.—An agreement between the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., and the Ford Motor Company, Ltd., of England, has been reached, which will result in approximately $5,000,000 in new business for the two companies.

Under the agreement, Canadian-made Ford V-8 motors and cars will be distributed through the European and Asiatic territories of the English Ford. In return, British-made eight-horsepower Ford cars will be marketed in the export territories of the Canadian Ford which comprises India, Africa, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Malay states and other British territories outside Great Britain.

Rubber Consumption Up 12½% Last Month

NEW YORK, June 15.—Consumption of crude rubber by manufacturers in the United States during May amounted to 29,197 long tons, an increase of 12½ per cent over April, according to Rubber Manufacturers' Association. Imports in May were 32,224 long tons, or a drop of 12.9 per cent from the previous month, but 1.6 per cent above May, 1931.

Total domestic stocks on hand May 31 estimated at 346,231 long tons, is an increase of 1 per cent above the preceding month and 56.8 per cent above stocks of May 31, 1931.

Crude Oil Output Higher for Week

Domestic crude oil output during the week ended June 11 averaged 2,183,450 barrels daily, an increase of 2,200 barrels daily over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Gasoline stocks during the week declined 336,000 barrels to 43,911,000 barrels.

TRADE BALANCE FAVORS U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP.)—The Commerce department announced today that the United States had a favorable foreign trade balance of approximately $20,000,000 during May.

Exports last month, the department said, were approximately $132,000,000 and imports $112,000,000. During the same month in 1931 exports were $203,970,000 and imports, $179,694,000.

The department also announced that exports of cotton during May aggregated 501,000 bales, a decrease of 44,000 bales from April but an increase of 165,000 bales over May, 1931.

Exports of cotton during the first five months of the calendar year aggregated 3,863,000 bales, an increase of 1,564,000 bales over the corresponding five months of 1931.

The value of cotton exported in May aggregated $17,577,000 compared with $20,518,000 in April and $18,825,000 in May, 1931. The

Lynn Prefers a Career and Rejects Tom's Offer Of Marriage

CHAPTER VII.

Lynn had a notebook and a pencil. She set down figures. So much for rent; so much for light and gas. What about food?

"Food," said Jennie, "puts no gray in your bob. Dinner, that is. Not if you know the ropes. Sometimes you snatch a lunch, too."

"Not if someone else pays the check when you're out."

Lynn looked at the figures and decided she could do it. It was not, of course, as cheap as the club. But with less put away for savings later to be invested, it could certainly be managed. And she considered that the advantages far outweighed the expenditure. To be free of the club was in itself an enormous lure—to have a place partly her own to which she might go at night; to which Tom could come.

She decided, "I'll do it, Jennie. When may I come in?"

Any time after Angie's departure, Jennie told her. She was pleased. She liked Lynn. Lynn was a good scout. They wouldn't get in each other's way. Lynn, Jennie judged, would not be interested in Jennie's circle of male acquaintances. She wouldn't, as Angie had done, snatch heavy dates from under Jennie's nose and then marry them.

Lynn gave her notice to the club.

"I hope it's for your good," said the directress, sniffing and hoping, of course, no such thing.

Sarah was frankly disapproving. "My dear child, what will your mother say?" Sarah never had met Jennie, but had heard her discussed.

FIX APARTMENT

Tom was not well pleased, either. "I don't like it; she travels with a funny gang," he said.

"Well, I don't have to travel with them, do I? And oh, Tom, I'm so darned sick of the club!"

He wanted her to be happy, so he gave in gracefully. He grinned. He said, "Well, it has its good points. Can you cook? I'll be up for dinner three times a week while Jennie goes gadding. Poor old Slim," he added, with apparent irrelevance.

Lynn wondered if she could persuade Jennie to get rid of some of the dolls and pillows. She could, it appeared. Most of them belonged to Angie, anyway, and with her departure all but the shabbiest vanished. Lynn drew out some of her savings and scurried about secondhand stores in her spare time.

Mrs. Harding, from Florida, wrote that she was so glad Lynn had settled in her own apartment with a "nice friend." Sarah, it seemed, had held her tongue.

Lynn made the living room into her own. The bed-divan was now hers, and she contributed a cherrywood chest, which served as a bureau, and a slim wall desk. Jennie had offered her the bedroom but it was darker, smaller, more airless than the living room, and besides, Lynn knew that Jennie would be lost without her dressing table.

TOM PERSISTENT

So they settled down for the winter. Jennie was out most of the time. Now and then she threw a party at which Lynn was welcome. But generally Lynn went out and stayed away as late as possible so that on her return the place would be empty of everyone save Jennie.

Yet the apartment did not work out. Oh, as far as Jennie was concerned it did. But when Tom came into it, the apartment was proving dangerous. They were in it alone far too much.

"Tom, please, dear! Jennie will be home any moment."

"Let her come. No, I hope she stays away. Why isn't this our place, Lynn, just yours and mine?"

"Tom!"

"Oh, I won't hold you against your will!" He would loosen his arms and watch her gloomily as she walked away from him. Tom's kisses were no longer boyish. They were a little desperate....

One night he burst out, "Lynn, we've got to get married. I can't stand things this way."

"Tom, we can't. Don't be absurd, darling; you know we can't!"

He crossed the small room in three strides, came and stood behind her, so that she was forced to turn and look up into his face.

"I'll—I'll cut out all the radio business," he said, a little pale.

WANTS TO WORK

This was an authentic sacrifice. No one knew what radio had brought him. To Tom music, lectures, dramas meant nothing. But the things which brought them to their audiences meant much. There was so much more to be discovered, so much more to learn. But it cost money, not alone the lessons, but his own private experiments.

"I'll give it up; I'll save money. We can manage. I'll hit old Gunboat for a raise. There's enough in that trust fund to start us. I know I don't get it till I'm 25, but there must be a way; there has to be a way."

She said, after a moment: "With what I make and what you make, we could manage, I think."

She didn't want to marry, but she must marry him or lose him.

"Manage? Do you think that I'd let my wife keep on working?"

She said, startled, "But Tom, unless I go on working it isn't possible."

"Why not, if you're willing to sacrifice—"

She cried out, wounded, "Oh, I am, you know I am! But look at us—Jennie and me. She gets 40 a week; my salary comes to a little less, not counting the bonus. And we barely manage."

He said sullenly, "I won't always be getting just 50."

"No. No. Of course you won't. But," she cried again, "you haven't thought of me at all—of how much I like my work, how anxious I am to get on with it!"

"Where to?" he demanded.

LEAVES IN ANGER

She said, gray eyes dark with something near to anger, "There's Sarah's job sometime if I fit myself for it. She isn't going to stop, either. Tom, I'm only 22; by the time I'm 30—"

"By the time you're 30, you'll be an old woman," he said absurdly. Then he went down on his knees beside her, awkward, boyish, touching. "I do love you so much—and you love me. You know you love me!"

He pulled her down, close, closer, kissed her with longing, with anger, with frustration. After a long moment during which they both forgot all that had led up to this emotional climax, she drew herself away.

"Tom, please, we're insane, both of us. We can't go on like this. You'll have to stop coming here. We'll go out the way we used to. I wish," she said brokenly, "that I'd never left the club!"

"Then you won't marry me?"

"Oh, Tom, don't be childish! No, I won't marry you and give up my job."

"That's enough, then."

He flung himself out of the door. When Jennie came in half an hour later Lynn was in bed. She was crying. Jennie had her moments of tact. She did not switch on the lights, but walked into her bedroom, instead, and spoke to Lynn from that distance.

"Terrible evening," reported Jennie, with a yawn. "I'm getting fed up with this sort of thing."

Lynn made no answer. She knew Jennie required none. She was grateful to Jennie. She ached all over. It was finished, then? Tom had asked her to marry him and she had refused. Or had she offered to marry Tom and had he repudiated her? Both, she fancied, crying quietly.

She fixed herself some breakfast at home next morning, long before Jennie was out of bed. They did not travel to work together.

But at closing time Tom was waiting by the elevators. He said, tucking her limp arm through his own: "I'm sorry, Lynn, I must have been crazy."

It had not finished, then. It was, as a matter of fact, just beginning.

They resumed their motion pictures, their bus ride. When Tom came to the apartment, he brought Slim, or made sure Jennie would be there. Jennie was incurious. What Lynn did—or did not do—was Lynn's affair.

Then, one spring day, Lynn, coming into the trust officers' room, hesitated, seeing Sarah occupied. A man sat there by the desk.

"Come here, Lynn," said Sarah.

The man at the desk was David Dwight. He rose as Lynn came up and held out his hand. He said, easily, "Miss Dennet and I are old friends. She has told me so much about you."

He was a short man, very well groomed. He had heavy gray hair, battered into sleekness. He had tired eyes and a quirked mouth and the face of a great actor, all the features mobile.

He was a great actor. He was one of the greatest trial lawyers of the generation. He had a low voice. It was an instrument of rescue or destruction, according to which side he was on. He had square, long-fingered hands, not always restrained in gesture. He had that thing called "magnetism."

He was 48 years old, perhaps.

He looked at Lynn and his eyes darkened. He said lightly, "Sarah, I've bored you to death with my business. Why people die and leave their estates in my hands—even partly—is more than I can see. A more improvident and a less trustworthy person never lived."

His eyes lingered on Lynn's face. He thought, vaguely, of spring in the country. His blood quickened.

Synopsis

Young and pretty Lynn Harding is ambitious for a career. She is a clerk in the Seacoast Bank and Trust Company where she meets Tom Shepard, secretary to one of the bank's vice presidents. One day, Jennie Le Grande, a model for a concern in the building is taken ill and Lynn takes her home. Lynn likes Jennie in spite of her sophisticated attitude. Tom objects to Jennie. He professes his love to Lynn but she refuses to take him seriously, although she also loves him. When he gives her a diamond ring at Christmas, Lynn explains that they can't bind each other as they have their careers to make first. She wears the ring on her right hand. Jennie asks Lynn to share her apartment as her room-mate is leaving to be married.

Now Go On

"Then you won't marry me?" asked Tom.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Mother Graham Promises Not to Punish the Boys

I hardly dared to breathe as I awaited my mother-in-law's answer to my appeal against punishment for the disobedience to her orders, of which Roderick and Junior had been technically guilty when I permitted them to go with their father upon the high adventure of investigating the white cloth which had been placed upon the distant pasture fence.

I knew the tenacity with which she clung to her dignity, also her resentment at any interference with her rules when she was left in charge of the children. But I also knew her sympathy with her two younger grandchildren in their resentment against the big-boy superiority of Hank and Bill.

For a long half minute, which seemed an eternity, she waited; then she drew herself up and spoke in her very best manner.

"I am not aware of being so hard-hearted and cruel to little children that you need to plead as if you were the mother in 'East Lynne' asking for a glimpse of her child," she said caustically. "After all, you are the mother of Richard, Second, and he owes you a certain allegiance.

"While I ought to insist upon punishing them for their disobedience," she went on, "I cannot in justice administer it, as long as you not only permitted but urged them to go. I can assure you that I shall say no word to either of them about it; but I must tell you, Margaret, that I am deeply displeased with you. Whenever you put the children into my care, you know that I insist upon all authority being transferred to me. I consider that you have broken a solemn agreement, and I shall not soon forget it."

MADGE AMUSED

I never have had a harder task in my life than to keep my face sufficiently dolorous at her rebuke to convince her of my meekness and repentance under it. But inside I was jubilant.

"Thank you so much, mother," I answered. "I am so sorry to have annoyed you, and I should have had the little boys ask your permission, only I was afraid you might be resting and it would disturb you."

"I don't think you broke your neck trying to find out whether I was resting or not," she retorted caustically, "and in any case, you ought to know that I am never asleep or resting while I am in charge of the baby."

I was glad that my face was turned away from her toward the window as she spoke her mind, for this time I did not keep back the smile which sprang to my lips at her statement, which she probably believed herself. She took most excellent care of the baby, but upon several occasions I had come into the nursery to find Baby Faith peacefully sleeping in her crib and her grandmother in equally sound slumber upon the couch.

A SACRIFICE

Of course, there is no possible reason why she should not take a nap while her small granddaughter is sleeping, but Mother Graham belongs to the generation of women which prides itself upon "never closing an eye" when it has any task of watching or waiting on hand.

There was another reason for the smile I was trying to hide. She had hit the nail squarely upon the head in her assertion that I had not broken my neck trying to find out whether she was resting or not. I was acutely conscious that I had been particularly careful to get the youngsters downstairs before she could discover their absence.

I picked up the field glasses and looked through them again, although I did not need them now.

"It won't be long now, Mother," I said hurriedly, hoping to divert her mind.

"And I suppose you're on tenterhooks to get down there and find out what it's all about," my mother-in-law said caustically, but I know her every inflection so surely that I thrilled to the knowledge that I had appeased her by my apparent meekness, and that she was ready to smoke the pipe of peace. I made the supreme sacrifice.

Purposely, I did not glance at her, but I knew that she was hesitant, wavering, in the face of a temptation which must be shaking her secretly melodramatic soul.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

More than 700 boys and girls, members of the Schenley Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, were entertained Saturday with a program arranged by the new committee on entertainment, which Harry Thomas, the manager, appointed last week.

The children appointed on this committee are: Sol Tobias, Gertrude Forman, Florence Goldhammer, Gloria Apple, Sol Brown and Albert Seigle. For their first program they arranged with the Schenlians, those talented youngsters in the Schenley Komic Club band, to play a group of popular numbers with everyone in the audience singing the choruses. These youngsters then presented a revue from the Dunn School of Dancing, opening with Irene Maloney and Mercedes Brinker singing the club song.

RAINBOW BALLET

Next, the Rainbow Ballet, consisting of 12 little girls—Marion Shad, Dorothy Vogel, Martha Collins, Dolores Jacobs, Roseanna Dugo, Miriam Seyler, Eleanor Collins, Claire Huddy, Ruth Gorman, Doris Shaefer, Jane Junker and Estelle Perstine—all dressed in vividly colored costumes, danced their way right into the hearts of the audience.

Irene Reardon and Jack Creighton sang "The Girl Friend." Irene Tiegel brought rounds of applause with her interpretation of the butterfly dance, which she offered dressed in a cute white ballet costume. Vera Krumm and Marie Dugo followed with a difficult acrobatic dance; Virginia McMeekin, singing "Twinkle Toes," and Mercedes Brinker's interpretation of the French Polka were well liked. Vera Krumm's military toe dance, followed by the entire company in a clever "Coquette" number closed the entertainment.

TO TAKE MOVIES

Remember, boys and girls of East Liberty, if you want to see how you look in the movies, be sure to attend the regular meeting of the Enright Chapter Saturday. Manager Bill Zeilor is going to have a movie cameraman at the meeting and in addition every youngster, besides getting in the movies, will receive a generous dish of ice cream. So be on time for both of these treats. The meeting starts at 11 o'clock.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, send your name and address, name of your parents, school you attend, date and year of your birth, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Belmar—Reve Steinbach, Joseph Donatelli.

Cameraphone—Kenneth MacRae.

Etna-Harris—Peter Zeleznak, Joseph Suserki, Joseph Lees, Jr., Ramond Seibert.

Reduced 30 Pounds Never Felt Better

Safe Way To Lose Fat

Take the case of Miss Madelone Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter:

"I have used Kruschen Salts for one year—when I started I weighed 140 pounds—now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight—as the fat goes you gain in health — skin clears — eyes grow bright—activity replaces indolence.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar of Kruschen that costs but a trifle lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drug store in the world—but for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts.

Party leaders declare that the people as a whole have confidence in the future.

But, we might add, not quite enough confidence in the party.

That's the trouble with party politics—to get along a man has to be a sort of a confidence man.

Perhaps Mr. Benjamin Jacques DeGrout
Knows, more or less, what he's talking about,
But some of us mutter and mumble and sigh
And view with alarm the purposeful guy.
Consider, for instance, the people you meet
Rushing here, rushing there, up alley and street,
So chock full of purpose, it is our belief
That to meet some one aimless is quite a relief.
In fact, we'd amend for Prof. DeGrout
The dogma he purposely bandies about,
And urge far more people (we'll hire a hall!)
To have for a purpose no purpose at all.

Hasten the Session!

It Is Imperative That the State's Program for Unemployment Relief Be Adopted Quickly.

In 55 Philadelphia churches Sunday an appeal was read for men and women to join in a mass meeting today and demand that an extra session of the Legislature be held quickly.

The appeal, sponsored by the American Legion, the Central Labor Union, the Federation of Women's Clubs and numerous other organizations, set forth that the city's relief funds would be exhausted June 25 and that more than 50,000 Philadelphia families were destitute. It continued:

Pittsburgh should join in the call, for the local welfare organizations report that our relief funds, too, will soon be exhausted, and that the approach of summer has brought little or no diminution in the number of families requiring relief.

It is true that Pittsburgh, if need be, can fall back on the bond issue for direct relief authorized by the voters at the primary election. But that will necessitate an increase in the real estate tax. The state must come to the rescue.

Making Good Citizens

Boys' Club of Pittsburgh Has Outstanding Record in Reducing Juvenile Delinquency.

The Boys' Club of Pittsburgh has been doing an excellent job of making good citizens. Statistics made public by James W. Lodge of the organization show outstanding achievement.

Juvenile Court records indicate that in 1923 one out of every eight boys in the Strip district had been before the court. Today the records show that only one in every 23 goes before the court.

But keeping boys out of trouble by giving them interesting and instructive pastimes is not the club's only work. It recognizes the fact that a boy who gets into one scrape may be put back on the right track and salvaged as a useful citizen.

Boys who get into trouble in the district are followed up to the courts and the interest taken in the investigation of their backgrounds makes it possible for the club to save many of them from going to prison.

This is not merely a sentimental gesture obstructing the normal process of justice. Over a period of five years 172 boys have been paroled to the club, some for a period of six years. Of this number, only seven have fallen back into the hands of the law.

The results shown by the Boys' Club with its 4,000 members make the organization deserving of the city's thanks and support.

Thrift Gardens

Council Should Authorize Director Lang to Supply Free Water to Unemployed.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang has appealed to Council for instructions as to its policy in regard to supplying water for the thrift gardens of the unemployed. Scores of requests have been made for free water but Lang has been uncertain whether or not he would be justified in meeting the demands. He has suggested an appropriation of $500 to the Bureau of Water to provide for this special service.

The success of the thrift gardens will be a major factor in reducing the task of welfare organizations during the summer. It would be shortsighted for the city to refuse such an important contribution to the production of good crops in these gardens when the cost of supplying water would be such a small item.

Council should give Lang a free hand to meet any reasonable request for water to save the thrift gardens from the effects of drought.

Dodging the New Tax

There is a tip for the thrifty in this.

By storing commodities or hastening transactions which are shortly to be taxed under the provisions of the new revenue law the impost can be evaded and money saved.

But it would be well first to familiarize oneself with the provisions of the act.

Some local coal dealers have been urging the purchase of coal now to escape the new tax. But they neglect to state the tax is a duty on imported coal.

The Better Business Bureau might investigate.

'Back to the Farm'

The Movement May Not Be as Silly as Secretary McSparran Thinks It is.

John A. McSparran, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture, considers a government-aided "back to the farm" movement of "no value except to make the depression deeper."

He calls it "the silliest proposal that ever I have heard intelligent persons promulgate."

It would be more sensible in his opinion to help Pittsburgh's unemployed to set up a steel mill and have the people work for nothing and then sell steel at a price that will give them daily bread.

McSparran no doubt is right in declaring it is ridiculous to suppose that city folk with no experience in agriculture could make an abandoned farm pay.

But there must be thousands of destitute people in Pittsburgh who came to the city from the country and are not without farming experience.

They came to the city 10, 20 or 30 years ago, attracted by high wages or by the opportunities for entertainment and education. Their parents and grandparents made a living out of the farms which they left. They might not be able to gain much money by returning to their boyhood homes; but with a cow and chickens and fruit trees and a vegetable garden they could provide themselves with food.

They would be no worse off "back on the farm" than they are now, and there is a chance that they would be better off.

First Prime the Pump -:- By Nelson Harding

Why be so stupid, Uncle Sam?
You know you have to "prime"
A pump with water to get more;
So why waste precious time
In wondering how you can get
The well to yield again?
When common sense suggests the way,
Why pump, and pump in vain?

A Joy Ride to Disaster

Governmental Waste Should Be Eliminated Through the Scrapping of Overlapping Bureaus.

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

CONGRESS'S perversity and hesitation on the question of economy are the direct result of MUDDLED thinking on the subject.

Obviously, the pinch of national, state and local governmental expenditures, approaching $15,000,000,000 a year, will be greater in 1932, when the total realized national income may be only $55,000,000,000, than it was in 1929, when the national income exceeded $84,000,000,000.

C. M. Chester, Jr., president of General Foods Corporation, who has joined 20 leading business executives in protesting against the mounting cost of government, has pointed out that the cost has risen 500 per cent since before the war, whereas individual incomes have begun to recede to pre-war levels.

"The cost of government," Mr. Chester declared in a nation-wide radio broadcast, "HAS RISEN SO MUCH THAT ONE-THIRD OF ALL YOUR INCOME NOW GOES FOR TAXES. You may not realize you are paying the taxes, but they are there just the same in the prices of everything you buy. In fact, to present the matter more concretely, everyone engaged in gainful labor has to give all his pay for two days out of every six to the government through direct and indirect taxes. UNLESS THIS TIDE OF EXPENDITURE IS TURNED BACK, WE ARE JOY-RIDING TO CERTAIN DISASTER."

Now that governmental extravagance looms larger than before, business leaders are coming out of their seclusion, and will play a more significant role in public affairs than in the past.

In recent weeks, politicians at Washington have been paying LIP SERVICE TO ECONOMY, but have been reluctant to get down to brass tacks.

The House of Representatives has contented itself with reductions of $50,000,000.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, with a fine sense of realism, stripped the issue of hypocrisy and hooey when he pointed out in a letter to the general manager of the San Francisco Examiner:

"I think that in the interest of economy the loading up of the mails with thousands of pounds of Congressional printed matter and padded Congressional Record promotion, and all waste of that kind with which Congress extravagantly pampers itself, should be eliminated.

"I think, too, that we should save money in actual Congressmen. There is no greater waste of public money than hiring incompetent Congressmen with it.

"There should be fewer and better Congressmen. One Congressman to every 500,000 inhabitants is enough."

As Mr. Hearst indicates, there should be NO SACRED COWS when the pruning knife is applied.

THUS far, there has been too much emphasis on economizing in the valuable social services which the government renders and on salaries to ill paid clerks.

Instead of face saving penny pinching in a few directions, public officials should get ready for a thoroughgoing re-examination of the proper balance between governmental expenditures and the national income.

Economic waste should be eliminated through the scrapping of bureaus which overlap one another, and through application of superior managerial principles. If the inroads of graft could be stopped, the whole program of economy would begin to solve itself.

This problem of keeping governmental expenditures in balance is a long term problem, not a mere emergency issue.

As a matter of fact, the classic time to apply the ax ruthlessly is when private business is normal. It is regrettable that governmental expenditures are allowed to shoot up during booms, aggravating inflation, and need to be tapered off in depressions, intensifying deflationary tendencies.

As a realistic compromise in the present emergency, Congress should cut operating expenses of government to the bone, and offset the deflationary effect of such economies on the general employment situation by embarking on a vast program of useful public works, which will constitute investments, not mere current expenses.

Everybody Needs a Friend

Everybody needs a FRIEND!

We are always meeting people, going places, doing something, seeing new faces—making new contacts. Yet, under all our gaiety and merriment, the great tragedy of life is LONELINESS.

* * *

You have so many charming acquaintances, so many delightful neighbors, so many amusing clubs and associations. You are so popular!

* * *

But—have you a friend? Count them! You will need only a few fingers!

There are just three essential things, three vital requirements, which go to the making of a friend.

First, that he (or she) be honestly FOND of you.

* * *

Second, that he be LOYAL.

* * *

Third, that he never BORE you!

Only three requirements! Yet, if you find one friend who meets all these, cleave unto him with all your might and with all your heart and with all your charity. For you have found life's rarest prize!

* * *

The loneliest people on earth are the great. The famous and the successful!

* * *

When you are down and out, you are surprised to discover how many good friends you have. Hosts of people, whom you never suspected of such generosity, will rush to your rescue, with sympathy and aid. But, alas, how few you will find to rejoice with you, when you are on the up-and-up!

Your best friend is your most enthusiastic cheer-leader! Your truest friend is your greatest press-agent!

He starts the chorus of Hossannahs—and drowns out the "anvil chorus." He is the one who peps up your spirits and gives you heart in private—and sings your praises or defends you in public! He gives you courage to go ON—and then leads the applause! And, when you WIN, and the cheering is still ringing in your ears, he is honestly thrilled—and GLAD!

* * *

When a husband and wife are "friends," first—and lovers, afterward—they are the happiest people in the world. For, what is love but a glorified friendship, sprinkled with a little star-dust?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 15.—Such a revealing epistle as this is not uncommon in a columnist's mail but its ring of sincerity will be more interesting than anything I write. Hence I print it with only slight deletions, including, of course, the name and address.

"So often I read in your articles about moths scorched by the all-consuming flame of the White Way. I wonder why we never read of the girls who were seared but go on fluttering quite happily? I imagine the metaphor is twisted but anyway—

"I am one of them and there are hundreds in every large city. Perhaps such instances might be a comfort to many girls who have gone the pace and gaze longingly into the river. Most of these stories are in trashy magazines and sound phoney.

"My career in New York was the usual sort of the girl from the small town who comes to the city and 'goes gay.' I worked awhile in a show, was a keptee in a W. 72nd street apartment as well as a coop on a barge, dabbled in a bit of rum running and finished 'a cokie.'

"There is not much about the seamy side I do not know. I even supported a race track tout who now, by the way, plays Park Avenue. I was in grammar school when, one recess, I overheard whispers in the cloak room. I had thought my father dead.

"From the whispers I learned I was an illegitimate child. That was why I did not get invited to parties. To get way from it all, I ran off with a rep show, toured the tanks as far as Hutchinson, Kansas, was stranded and went to New York with an actor twice my age.

"Sordid, I know, but it may be helpful to others facing a problem such as mine.

"My story differs from the ordinary run in that not once did I ever meet up with a Prince Charming or hit the trail at a gospel mission. After a number of rebuffs, sinking lower after each, I was picked up near the McAlpin for soliciting. I was not framed, as many are. They got me with the goods. But innocent girls are framed and don't let them fool you.

* * *

"Sentenced to a correction home, I gave my native town as a place I had never visited. When I was released they gave me a ticket to this town and $5, and strangely, or rather because of my confusion, I went there one winter midnight. I got a job as a waitress in a railroad hotel, expecting to remain only long enough to save money enough to return to New York for 'a bat.'

* * *

"At the end of three weeks I found myself liking the quiet of the place. It had a population of about 9,000. My beauty, such as I had, was not entirely gone, and contrary to the usual guff about villages, no one seemed particularly interested in my past. It appears the hotel frequently brought girls from New York and other cities as waitresses. After about six weeks I got a job in a local millinery shop, learning to trim hats and waiting on what we called 'the country trade.' I roomed upstairs in the home of the proprietress.

"I have always liked silks and found myself interested. I suffered at times from a yen for drugs, cut off when I was imprisoned. But the habit was not an old one and I mastered it. Soon in my new work I quit cigarets, chiefly because it was so difficult to smoke them secretly. My talent was recognized by a millinery drummer and eventually he got me a place in a Pittsburgh wholesale house. From there I went back to New York again, solid and respectable, and at a salary of $5,000 a year. I went to Paris twice a year. Then I got a business of my own.

"Today I'm comfortable, fat, middle-aged, many say I suggest Marie Dressler, and have enough out of a sale of my own venture to do as I please. I have never married, never expect to. I am paying for the education of two illegitimate children taken from orphanages. At my death a trust fund will be shared equally by them and no matter what happens they will be taken care of by annuities.

* * *

"I had no long, hard struggle to regain a place in society and to keep it. I'm not a genius. It proves only that all wayward girls do not wind up under a nameless cross in the potter fields."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Remember how mad you used to get when the plumber sent in his bill? And when they told you about the union wages for bricklayers and plasterers, you went right up in smoke, didn't you?

How'd they get that way? Just laborers, weren't they? But to see the way they charged for it, you'd think they were college professors, or grand opera singers! Y-e-a-h? Well, they'd get over their hifalutin' some of these fine days and come down to earth!

Remember saying all that?

And now, sure enough, the plumbers, bricklayers and plasterers are "down to earth" with a vengeance. And are we glad?

No, stranger, we're NOT!

FOR WE'RE DOWN TO EARTH WITH THEM—As we might have known we'd be.

For, in spite of our horrified amazement, the plumber's $12 per day wasn't important just to him. It didn't just benefit the plumber.

IT WAS IMPORTANT TO ALL OF US. IT BENEFITTED ALL OF US.

We thought the plumber was grafting. We thought that business would go to the dogs if he kept it up.

BUSINESS HAS GONE TO THE DOGS; BUT IT WASN'T BECAUSE THE PLUMBER GOT TWELVE DOLLARS PER DAY. IT WAS BECAUSE THE PLUMBER STOPPED GETTING AND STOPPED SPENDING THAT TWELVE DOLLARS PER DAY!

Is it what the Big Fellow saves?

NO; IT'S WHAT THE LITTLE FELLOW SPENDS.

Purchases make profits. Purchases make prosperity. If the Little Fellow can't purchase, the Big Fellow can't profit—and the country can't have prosperity.

Some people say we're suffering from "overproduction." No country can overproduce if it keeps up its ability to consume; and there is no limit to consumption, if people have the wherewithal.

There are 121,000,000 people in this country. Even at our most prosperous times the great majority of these people needed more house room, better education, more play times, nicer clothes, better food, more of everything that makes human life beautiful, and wise, and strong.

We're still needing all those things. We'd still buy them if we had the wherewithal.

And for a little time, back in 1929, it almost looked as if the Little Fellow was beginning to get the wherewithal. Wages were up. The Little Fellow was spending. Fat profits were rolling in. Then what happened?

THE BIG FELLOW GOT TOO GREEDY; WANTED TO GRAB TOO MUCH; BOOSTED PRICES STILL HIGHER, WITHOUT BOOSTING WAGES PROPORTIONATELY.

AND THE LITTLE FELLOW REACHED HIS LIMIT; PASSED HIS LIMIT; HAD TO STOP SPENDING.

THEN, BLOOEY!

Big business is a great thing for a country. We Americans were proud of it. We were too proud; stupidly proud. We didn't see that our real power and real treasure did not lie in big business. THEY LAY IN LITTLE BUSINESS—IN THE PLUMBER'S, THE CARPENTER'S, THE ENGINEER'S AND THE FARMER'S WAGES.

Big business is based on little business.

When Bill Jones has a decent wad in his pocket, Algy Boodlebilt will have a big wad in the bank; but when Bill goes bust, Algy's in the soup.

That's the A-B-C of finance; but it has taken three years of hard times to get that through our dumb heads—and some of us haven't gotten it yet!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

The one who is always nosing around to see what some one else is doing is a very disagreeable companion or neighbor.

The sooner it is understood among your acquaintances that you are not trying to find out their personal matters, the more popular you will be as a friend.

To feel that you can't lay a paper or a letter down without having another pick it up and scan the contents is mighty unpleasant.

It is provoking, no matter how little of a private nature may be contained in the papers you let out of your hands, to have someone on hand to pick up and read or look over.

It is just as annoying to have something in your hand, lay it down for a minute and have someone put it away so that when you turn back to get it, you can't find it.

If your job is setting things to rights, make business of it and get it done, but don't be continually on hand to snatch the out of place article and put it away before it is necessary.

Isn't It So?

Seeing may be believing, but there are occasions when it is safer to pass and risk being bluffed.
